WOMAN KILLED BY POLICEMAN, WHO ENDS LIFE

Shooting Occurs in Cab; Chinese Girl Victim of Bullet.

HACKER FRIGHTENED, VEHICLE HITS POLE

Number of Shots Are Fired; Traffic Officer Dies in Hospital.

Lewis Hale, traffic policeman, and Mildred Lee, a Chinese woman, died at Emergency Hospital late last night from gun wounds inflicted by Hale with his service revolver. The shooting occurred in a taxicab at Ninth and D streets northwest.

According to the story related to police by Arthur N. Williams, driver of the cab, they were driving down Ninth street toward C street when Hale suddenly drew his gun and fired. Thinking that he was going to be shot, Williams lost control of his cab and it crashed into an electric light pole. Although Williams left the car and ran, he said several more shots were fired.

Policeman H. L. Woods, who rushed to the scene of the shooting and crash found the woman slumped in the back seat of the car with a bullet wound in her head, and Hale sitting in an upright posture with a wound below his heart. Apparently Hale emptied his gun, but the other shots only lodged in the rear of the car.

Woman Killed Instantly.

The couple were taken to the hospital in a police emergency car. The woman apparently was killed instantly, but Hale was still alive when they arrived at the hospital.

In a statement to police, Williams, the taxi driver, said Hale told him Tuesday to meet him (Hale) at Tenth and D streets northwest at 9 o'clock last night.

In accordance with that arrangement he drove to that street intersection at the appointed hour. Upon arrival Hale told him to drive to King's Chinese-American Restaurant at Fourteenth street and Columbia road northwest and pick up a girl who would be waiting there. He did so, and upon arrival the Chinese woman and an elderly Chinese man, carrying two heavy suitcases, got into his cab and he drove them to a downtown hotel. The man took the suitcases and entered the hotel, then he took the woman to Tenth and D streets to meet Hale.

Girl Protested.

When Hale got into the car, he told Williams to drive around, and some time was spent in driving through downtown streets. Later Hale told him to drive through the park around Smithsonian Institution. Williams said the girl protested saying she had to get back to the cafe by 11 o'clock. She also accused Hale of drinking, and Hale told her he had taken a drink or so.

Williams also said he heard Hale tell the woman that he wanted to sell his furniture for $50 so he could send his wife to Boston. When the woman again accused Hale of drinking, Williams saw Hale remove something from

English Woman Slain in Harbin

Killed by Bandits as She Tries to Save Children From Kidnaping.

Harbin, Manchuria, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Mrs. C. T. Woodruff, an Englishwoman, was killed today as she attempted to prevent the kidnaping of her three children.

After shooting her the kidnapers fled with the children and seriously injured two Russians who attempted to pursue them, but finally they were forced to give up the children by Chinese police. Two of the bandits were killed by the police and two others escaped.

Acting in behalf of the consular corps, George C. Hanson, American consul general, protested to the authorities of Japan and the new state of Manchukuo, emphasizing the need for greater police protection. Citizens of Harbin, he said, are afraid to venture into the streets. The killing of Mrs. Woodruff, whose husband is chief accountant for the British-American Tobacco Co., took place on one of the principal streets. Bandit raids have been frequent during the last few weeks.

Cross-Continent Flight Is Halted Unexpectedly

Oakland, Calif., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Claire Vance, Oakland mail pilot, who hopped off here this morning on a projected nonstop flight to New York in a new type of plane called a "flying wing," returned unexpectedly this afternoon, landing safely at the point of take-off.

TRADE EMPLOYMENT UPTURN IS REPORTED

Several of Industrial Centers Indicate Situation Is Best in Two Years.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

A notable increase in industrial employment in several of the manufacturing centers of the country during the last eight weeks is reflected in a special Department of Commerce commercial survey made public yesterday by Secretary Roy D. Chapin.

Some 200 trade and industrial organizations, from Maine to California, were canvassed for an up-to-the-minute national cross-section of business activity. In several large centers the general industrial situation was described as the best in two years. A total of 144 trade organizations reported a better state of business as of October 1 than a month earlier.

The Cotton Textile Institute, which includes spinners and weavers in all sections of the United States, reported the largest backlog of unfilled orders in more than two years and the smallest stocks of finished goods in the hands of manufacturers in five years.

"Current production is heavy and doubtless will continue so for several months," President George A. Sloan telegraphed from New York.

"A broad analysis of the facts and opinions thus furnished indicates that some degree of improvement in business has been felt throughout the country, and has been noticeable in the smaller cities as well as in the larger industrial centers," Secretary Chapin said in summarizing the reports. "In view of the important change of public psychology which became evident last summer, it is interesting to note from the information received how well this better feeling has been maintained."

The Associated Industries of Massachusetts reported a general upward trend in manufacturing in New England.

"Gains in excess of seasonal are being recorded," this report said. "Out of 148 concerns, 121 have shown increased orders in September in comparison with August and 84 have re-

Doherty Foresees Revolt Against Social Systems

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 12 (U.P.).—Henry L. Doherty, public utilities magnate, told the American Gas Association convention here today that "if our Government and social systems have been efficiently administered in the last few years, then they are failures, and we may, unless measures are taken, anticipate uprisings similar to those in other countries."

CABINET'S RULE IN REICHSTAG'S PLACE PLEDGED

Von Papen Warns That Ministers Will Reign Undisputedly.

PROMISES TO ALTER REICH CONSTITUTION

Declares Arms Equality Is Essential to German Commerce.

Munich, Germany, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The German state is to be governed hereafter by the cabinet, and not by the Reichstag, Chancellor Franz von Papen declared emphatically in a speech today before the Federation of Bavarian Industry.

Chancellor von Papen, who served a decree of dissolution on the last Parliament when it attempted to defy his government, indicated clearly that if the new Reichstag, which meets in December, attempts to oppose his cabinet, it will meet with the same immediate fate.

Speaking to a nation-wide radio audience, the mild-mannered chancellor displayed the same crisp vigor that characterized his assault on the last Reichstag. His government, he declared, intends to reform the constitution so that the Parliament will be pushed into the background and the cabinet will rule undisputedly.

Power Is Claimed.

The cabinet, he said, is determined to accomplish its task of reshaping Germany's economic life through the "one-year plan."

"We have both the will and the power to do it," Von Papen said.

The draft of the constitution will be ready when the next Reichstag convenes, he declared, indicating that the cabinet will continue its antiparliamentary course if its reforms meet with further opposition.

The government's attitude, he explained, is that "only constructive institutions are worthy to survive."

The chancellor discussed the significance of disarmament in Germany's economic life and emphasized the importance of the government's demand for arms equality.

Ruhr Invasion Cited.

"How can German commerce flourish abroad if the German state does not enjoy the reputation of any other State?" he demanded. "Who will invest money in a country that is defenseless against its neighbors?" This is no theoretical considera-

12 Hurt in Wild Locomotive Crash

Runaway Hits Passenger Train Head-On Near Greenville, Miss.

Greenville, Miss., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Twelve persons were injured today in the crash of a runaway locomotive into an engine pulling southbound passenger train No. 25 on the Yazoo & Mississippi Railroad Riveraide route, 4 miles north of Greenville.

Both locomotives were badly damaged. The injured persons suffered principally minor cuts and bruises. They included the engineer, two express messengers, two mail clerks and seven passengers. A Negro woman received possible internal injuries.

Locomotive No. 1035 broke loose from the Greenville railroad yards and, unmanned, ran wild, heading north until it met the oncoming passenger train.

TWO SAIL SATURDAY TO RETURN INSULL

State's Attorney's Aids to Leave Chicago Today for Voyage to Athens.

Chicago, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—On the eve of an investigation of the $2,000,000,000 Insull utility failure by a United States Senate committee, officers of Cook County packed their brief cases tonight for a trip to Athens to bring Samuel Insull, broken former utilities ruler, back to face trial.

Tomorrow in criminal court the witnesses whose testimony brought indictments of larceny and embezzlement against the erstwhile multi-millionaire utility king will reassemble to give depositions of their testimony.

These depositions will be taken to Greece and also to Ontario, Canada, to support extradition proceedings against Martin Insull.

Charles A. Bellows and Andrew J. Vlachos, assistant State's attorneys, were assigned by Prosecutor John A. Swanson to proceed to Athens to seek custody of Samuel Insull, whom the Greeks declined to hold under arrest.

They will leave probably tomorrow, stopping at Washington to obtain a presidential warrant for Insull and sailing from New York for Cherbourg Saturday. Thence they will go by plane or train to Greece, where the presidential warrant will start the court machinery for extradition, although the extradition treaty with that country has not been formally approved.

State's Attorney Swanson said he did not fear that Insull would leave Greece, for "if he flees, he will be playing right into our hands. He can't find another country from which extradition is so difficult. I am confident he will remain there."

Federal court proceedings in the bankruptcy investigations of the Insull investment companies were in abeyance today, a court holiday. But a new investigation was begun, meanwhile, by James W. Stewart, who arrived from Washington to study the Insull financing in behalf of the Senate banking and currency committee.

Government prosecutors already have in progress inquiries into possible

Barr Freed From Jail In Abduction of Son

William S Barr, former Washington postal clerk, charged with kidnaping his 6-year-old son, Walter, from his divorced wife in Washington, was released from jail yesterday at Oklahoma City, according to the Associated Press. He was freed on parole to the Veterans' Bureau. He will be removed to the Veterans' Hospital at Muskogee, Okla., for treatment of arthritis.

The child will be returned to his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Barr, of 1457 Park road, in a few days. She said she had seen neither her son nor Barr since last Christmas, when the latter came to her home and asked permission to take the child to a theater.

Man Said to Admit Murder of Cleric

Canadian Suspect's Link With South Dakota Slaying Probed.

Sudbury, Ont., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—After two hours of questioning, Theodore Hucal, who is said by police to have admitted he killed the Rev. A. B. Balknot, in Lead, S. Dak., was returned to the district jail late today.

Hucal is held by Sudbury authorities on a charge of forgery. He will appear in court on the charge tomorrow. E. D. Wilkins, crown attorney, refused to make any statement as to the result of the questioning.

Earlier, Chief Constable David Louden announced that Hucal had admitted the killing in the South Dakota city twelve years ago. Police have not yet received an answer to inquiries made to Washington, Philadelphia and South Dakota authorities, Louden said.

CANADIAN MOVE GIVES ENGLAND LOWER TARIFFS

Dominion Reveals List of Preferences to Be British Return.

U. S. EXPORT TRADE SERIOUSLY AFFECTED

Schedules Framed at Recent Conference in Effect at Ottawa at Once.

Ottawa, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The Dominion of Canada adjusted her tariff walls to favor the United Kingdom today and announced simultaneously a list of preferences the mother country will soon give her in return.

This occurred when Prime Minister R. B. Bennett revealed to Parliament late today a trade agreement executed between this dominion and the United Kingdom at the imperial conference in July.

At midnight tonight Canada will place into effect the schedules imposed on her side of the treaty, schedules which were made public simultaneously with the parliamentary appearance of the agreement.

Thus, the first of a series of empire tariff walls, which, figuratively, were measured at the imperial conference, will have been erected tomorrow, and will affect many importations from the United States as well as the rest of the world.

U. S. Disadvantage.

Many American products will enter either Canada or Great Britain, or both, at a disadvantage when the British side of the agreement is carried out, probably later in the month.

For the present, however, the new Canadian schedules will have the effect of permitting British products to enter Canada on a preferred basis, and among these will be various iron and steel products, chemicals and drugs, spirituous liquors, glass, many sorts of manufactured goods, automobiles, tobacco, &c.

In a general way the new tariff schedules indicated that Canada has increased British preference on 223 of the 252 items that make up the tariff schedules, and increased from 80 to 157 the number of items on the free list for the United Kingdom.

Concessions to Canada.

Under the terms of the new trade pact, many Canadian products will soon enter Great Britain under preferences. This will be accomplished either through a better preference

Missouri Candidate For Governor Dies

Francis Wilson, Democrat, Was Hurt in Taxicab Accident.

Kansas City, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Francis N. Wilson, Democratic nominee for Governor of Missouri, died here today. Mr. Wilson had been confined to bed for several weeks by back injury, which prevented his active participation in the campaign. He received the injury when a taxicab he was entering started suddenly.

The 65-year-old candidate's residence is at Platte City, Mo., where he was born. Mr. Wilson had felt so well yesterday that he discharged the nurse who had attended him and made plans to go to Platte City today to start active campaigning.

The Democratic nominee to succeed Mr. Wilson will be selected by the Democratic State committee. The selection will be made within the next twelve days.

Clew in Baker Murder Case Proves Worthless

Lieut. John Fowler, of the Detective Bureau, said last night that the new lead in the Mary Baker murder case which sent him to Hagerstown Tuesday was apparently a "fizzle."

The police lieutenant said he questioned a youth who lives near Hagerstown, whom police of the Maryland town reported had said he knew something about the Baker case. Fowler said his interrogation satisfied him that the youth could shed no light on the mystery.

Two Army Fliers Killed As Plane Burns in Texas

San Antonio, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Two Army fliers, Lieut. Joseph A. Barnes and Private Frederick R. Douglass, were killed when their plane crashed at Brooks Field today and burned.

The officer was attempting to land. The plane struck electric light wires between the hangers and barracks and fell, a mass of flames. Lieut. Barnes is survived by his wife here and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Barnes, of Fort Benton, Mont. Private Douglass is survived by a sister at Wellington, Kans.

HOOVER SCORES FALSE GOVERNMENT POLICIES IN SPEECH TO LAWYERS

Lays Stress On Public's Views.

HEARERS GIVE LONG OVATION

Hughes Will Place Corner Stone Today.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Calling upon lawyers everywhere to promote the cause of "public understanding," President Hoover last night admonished the American Bar Association that this "very form of government is on trial in the eyes of millions of our citizens."

The occasion was the President's formal welcome to the association in Constitution Hall, preliminary to this morning's corner-stone laying exercises for the new Supreme Court structure. Doffing his robes of office, Chief Justice Hughes introduced the President.

The President warned of risks inherent in blaming economic ills on the American governmental system.

"It can be a dangerous thing," he said, "if wise and trusted men fail to explain to the people how often in history the people's interests have been betrayed by false prophets of a millennium, promised through seductive but unworkable and disastrous theories of government.

Lengthy Demonstration.

"The menace is doubled by the fact that these vain allurements are today being offered to our harassed people by men of public reputation in economics, and even by men in public life."

The address was followed by an enthusiastic demonstration lasting several minutes. Twice Mr. Hoover took his seat, but was forced to rise again to acknowledge the prolonged ovation.

Silent through the early part of the speech, bar members broke into applause when simplification of judicial procedure was proposed, and again when the President urged them to "scourge from the temple" lawyers who betray their trust.

Chief Justice Hughes commented on the "warmth and depth" of the President's understanding of bar problems. He shook hands with Mr. and Mrs. Hoover.

Cautioned Also by Thompson.

It was the second time in one day members had been cautioned as to "signs of the times." Earlier, Guy A. Thompson, president of the association, held it "plainly evident that our institutions are beset today by dangers more ominous than have threatened us in the past." He urged the bar to take the lead in reawakening public consciousness.

President Hoover told the lawyers they have the first responsibility in directing the processes of education, moral training and spiritual development.

"Economic stresses of unparalleled magnitude have wracked our people, and in their distress some are tempted to lay the blame for their troubles upon the system of government under which they live," the President said. "No man can foretell to what

5 HELD AFTER BANK ROBBED OF $25,000

Guaranty Company Returns Losses to Woodridge Institution.

Guarded for several weeks last summer when police were "tipped" that a holdup was in the making, the Woodridge-Langdon Savings Bank, 2027 Rhode Island avenue northeast, was robbed of approximately $25,000 in currency yesterday morning by a pair of youthful bandits.

Late yesterday afternoon a representative of the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore handed to E. L. Norris, vice president and cashier of the Rhode Island avenue institution a draft for $24,078.78 to cover the loss sustained at the hands of the robbers.

Twenty picked detectives, told off by Inspector F. S. W. Burke, chief of detectives, immediately began a search for the men, and by nightfall reported considerable progress.

Last night the five employes of the victimized bank picked out one picture from a myriad of photographs of persons once arrested here as strongly resembling one of the robbers. Police immediately began a search for this man, whose home is said to be in New York.

Two Cadillac touring cars were sought by the police, one of which was believed to have been the getaway means of the robbers. A third man, the detectives learned, had waited at the wheel of the machine on Mills avenue northeast some yards to the rear of the victimized financial institution.

It was revealed yesterday that last June 28 Inspector Burke's office received a tip that a robbery of the Rhode Island avenue bank had been planned and that for many days picked sharpshooters of the police and

GRANDMOTHER, GIRL AND MOTHER SLAIN

Beaten Son Says "Mamma Did It," but Police Seek Outsider.

Connellsville, Pa., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—A triple killing—a mother, her daughter and a grandmother—baffled authorities tonight.

The victims are Mrs. Nellie Tressler, 28; her daughter, Sadie, 11, and her mother, Mrs. Amanda Harden, 62. Mrs. Tressler and Mrs. Harden were killed outright, while the girl died several hours after being found in the Tressler home.

Mrs. Tressler's son, Billy, 9, is in a hospital suffering from a fractured skull.

Coroner Samuel A. Baltz, after conducting a post-mortem examination on the bodies of Mrs. Tressler and Mrs. Harden, said the women were slain with a hatchet. The death instrument was found in the Tressler home. He has not determined how the children were attacked.

Mrs. Tressler's body, clad in under garments, was found in the rear yard of her home by a neighbor boy, Orlando Molinero, 10.

Police battered down a door and found Mrs. Harden dead in bed with Billy, deep gashes in his head, beside her. Sadie was on the living room floor. She apparently had been struck down as she fled from the killer.

Reviving in the hospital, Billy told police: "My mamma did it. She hit Sadie first and then me. She hit us with a piece of iron."

Hospital attaches, however, said the boy is not normal, and police are convinced the crime was done by an outsider.

They said Mrs. Tressler could not have possibly inflicted such severe injuries upon herself. Too, they

Program for Rehabilitation Of Liberia Approved by U. S.

Plan Would Give League Virtual Control of Republic; Outcome Depends on Attitude of Firestone Subsidiary, Owed Big Sum by Nation.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The United States has formally approved a plan of economic rehabilitation for Liberia by which the League of Nations takes over virtual control of the republic, it became known here yesterday. Under the terms of the draft agreement the Liberian government accepts the appointment of a chief adviser, who will be responsible to no one but the league itself.

The whole agreement is contingent upon its acceptance by the Finance Corporation of America, a subsidiary of the Firestone Plantations Corporation, the American company which has been developing the rubber trade in Liberia.

It is believed that the outline of general principles made public simultaneously here and in Geneva last night constitutes the only possible hope of preventing Liberia from lapsing back to the darkest days of the slave trade. The report of the international commission of inquiry made public last September revealed a shocking condition of affairs in Liberia. Slavery and analagous practices were shown to be common occurrences and traffic in men and women revealed by that report recalled the tales of cruelty and exploitation that had been discovered in the Belgian Congo before the war. The only difference was that the Firestone company itself was completely innocent of any of these practices and the Negro officials of the country were shown to be the ringleaders in the policy of exploitation.

The Finance Corporation has held an option on Liberian loans since it negotiated a $5,000,000 loan in 1926. Only $2,250,000 of the loan, however,

Two Insurance Men Admit Kidnaping of Broker's Son

Heads of Brooklyn Families Say Urgent Need of Money Drove Them to Capture 7-Year-Old Boy and Demand $25,000.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Two insurance salesmen whose names had never appeared on a police blotter before, but who were desperately in need of money, were held in a Brooklyn police station tonight as perpetrators of a kidnaping that brought almost the entire New York police force into a frantic search a few weeks ago.

Allen W. August, 35, and George T. Clarke, 26, were charged with the kidnaping of 7-year-old Jackie Russell on September 19. Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney said both men had signed confessions.

Both men are married, both have sons, and live in Brooklyn homes. August is still in the insurance business, but said he needed money badly. Clarke has been out of work since June.

Their story, as related by police, was that they evolved a kidnaping plot "to get a lot of money quick," rented an apartment and started looking for a victim. At first they said they had several children in mind, sons and daughters of wealthy Brooklyn parents, but they finally decided to seize young Russell, son of Arthur S. Russell, wealthy stock exchange broker.

They were quoted as saying they took him on his way home from school, one of them holding him in the apartment while the other phoned a demand for $25,000 ransom. When he emerged from their apartment a second time to make another call, August said, he learned that a general alarm had gone out and that nearly all of the officers in New York were looking for the boy.

Deciding "the game was up," they put the boy on a street car and sent him home.

THIRD DEGREE BAN URGED BY LAWYERS

More Scientific Methods Are Favored After Study of Practice.

The American Bar Association yesterday called on law enforcement officers to discard the third degree for more scientific methods of detecting criminals.

Unanimous approval was voted a report of the association's criminal law and criminology section urging this action at an afternoon session at the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Justin Miller, of Durham, N. C., chairman of the section, told newspapermen that members had studied third degree methods generally, but particularly local conditions exposed by The Post through the Henry Harker beating case.

The resolutoin drawn by Miller failed to condemn the third degree, but emphasized the advantage of better methods.

More Modern Methods.

"While recognizing the importance of eliminating reprehensible third-degree methods," he told the association, "we have chosen to stress the need for more modern methods rather than suggest a course that might handicap police in their enforcement of the law."

The resolution read:

"Resolved, That the American Bar Association commends to police and law-enforcement agencies the use, so far as possible within present legal limits, of modern scientific methods such as are being developed by scientific crime detection laboratories, as tending to replace certain methods, sometimes referred to as the third degree."

The resolution was suggested by Sanford Bates, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Mr. Miller said he had in mind studies being made by such crime detection laboratories as that conducted at Northwestern University.

He told the association he was hopeful of improving police administration, chiefly through a cordial working relationship recently established with the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Adoption by States of a uniform antimachine-gun act, to "prevent the criminal from obtaining weapons readily concealed" of high offensive power, was urged by the uniform State law section and approved by the association. Immediate registration of all machine guns would be required under the act.

Uniform Narcotic Act.

The association also approved a uniform State narcotic act aimed to prevent conflict with the Federal law; uniform State legislation fixing financial responsibility and penalties of automobile drivers; a uniform mechanic lien law and amendment of the Federal copyright law to protect art and science.

The report of the criminal law section, blaming spread of gang law on prohibition, was approved by the association. The subsection of mercenary crime which prepared the report will continue its studies.

Judge Kimbrough Stone, of Kansas City, told delegates at the afternoon session they should rebuff any attack on the United States Supreme Court. At this session the number of vice presidents was reduced by vote from 48 to 10.

Democrats Favor Dole, Hurley Says

Delivers Fourth Address of Day in Southern Oklahoma.

McAlester, Okla., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Asserting the "Hoover nonpartisan reconstruction program is fulfilling the purpose for which it was designed," Patrick J. Hurley, Secretary of War, told Pittsburg County citizens here tonight, "Our opponents favor doles and gratuities."

It was the War Secretary's fourth address in southern Oklahoma today. He opened the second day of his Oklahoma swing at Hugo this morning and spoke later at Atoka and Ada, in the heart of Oklahoma's cotton belt.

"The emergency institutions set up under the Hoover program lend money to every line of endeavor, infuse new credit into the whole economic structure," Hurley declared here. He said the money is loaned on good security, is returnable to the Treasury with interest, "and does not become an ultimate burden upon the taxpayer."

The speaker declared the Democrats "have not had, have not now, any constructive program that would infuse credit into our economic system or that would put back to work one man or woman."

Davison States Garner Party's Forgotten Man

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War and Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, issued a statement tonight in which he called Speaker John N. Garner the "forgotten man of the Democratic national ticket."

In his statement Mr. Davison said the Democratic record on prohibition "is one of hypocrisy and insincerity." He said Speaker Garner and his Democratic colleagues in Congress had a chance last summer to demonstrate that they would support their national platform in deeds as well as words, but failed to do so.

Doak Charges Hoover Is Vilified in Campaign

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Secretary of Labor William N. Doak said in an address tonight the Republican party was opposed by "a campaign of villification, misrepresentation, and slander" against Herbert Hoover.

"Never before," Mr. Doak said, according to a copy of his speech released in advance by the Republican national committee, "have I witnessed such a spectacle where, beginning two or three years in advance of the election, there has been so much vicious and malicious slander put into circulation."

20 Dry Leaders Set Prayer Day.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The Rev. William Sheafe Chase announced that twenty prohibition leaders from six States met here today and adopted a resolution setting November 6 as a day for "fasting and prayer" in behalf of their cause.

Text of President's Address Before American Bar Association Members

(Associated Press.)

The text of President Hoover's address delivered last night before the American Bar Association follows:

I bid you a hearty welcome to Washington. You meet here under circumstances which must stir the deepest springs of your professional pride. The Supreme Court of the United States represents the summit of eminence in the legal profession. It likewise stands as an equal with the Congress and the Presidency in the solemn responsibility of exercising the highest powers of government on this earth. And tomorrow you will share in dedicating a new building to house this great tribunal. For the first time in the history of our country the Supreme Court is about to occupy a temple of surpassing beauty, a symbol of its independence and an expression of its equal power in the final will of a great Nation.

I therefore understand your feelings in coming here tonight. I am in tune with them. As a fellow citizen, I share them. For though I am without the technical training of a lawyer, long responsibilities at home and abroad have taught me something of history and something of government. I therefore share the common knowledge of the special blessings which we enjoy in this country, by which men and women are safer in their persons and their liberties and more secure in the peaceful possession of their property in this land today than they are in any other time or place in all history. I assert this with full consciousness of many deficiencies of lawyers and of the law and its execution. In spite of these, the statement holds.

Numerous Lawyers Among Nation's Founders.

This ordered liberty, under law, is the codification of the instincts of our people, and that codification has been largely the work of the legal profession. This freedom of men and women peacefully to pursue their business and the rearing of their families, with scarcely ever a thought of danger or duress, is a monument to the intelligence of our people and to the skill, thought and good conscience of lawyers who have served to formulate it in the legislative bills on the bench, and at the bar. For this they have deserved the gratitude of mankind.

It is also appropriate that this special recognition of the place of the Supreme Court in our Government should be given in this Bicentennial year of commemoration of the birth of George Washington. The men on whom he leaned heavily in the onerous task of erecting an effective Government to replace the weak structure of the confederation were chiefly men trained in the law. Hamilton, Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Marshall, Monroe—the list of Constitution builders is too long to repeat. They represented the genius of our people. They combined the knowledge of history, the knowledge of human nature, and the knowledge of the mechanics of law and government necessary to devise a workable machinery to govern the complex relations of men in an orderly society. And that machinerey has proved by succeeding generations to have had no less than divine inspiration.

Here I wish to interject a word of admonition. These men did not limit themselves to the practice of their highly technical profession, necessary as that practice always must be. Before they were great lawyers they were great citizens. Their interest ran beyond their briefs and their precedents. They took a hearty share in the full life of the day. They felt keenly their responsibility for leadership. Their special gifts, their special training, were needed not only in the courtroom but in the administration of public affairs.

Share of Influence On Public Opinion.

The very ablest of them accepted this duty and took their places in the legislatures, the Congress and the administration, conscious that their full duty as lawyers required them to see that good laws must first be enacted if justice were to be done when those laws arrived in the courts for execution. But their services as citizens did not begin and end in the legislatures where laws are made. Back of legislatures is the life of the people. It is in the consciences of the people that laws are first born.

These great men therefore accepted the duty of developing and guiding public thought itself. They were indefatigable letter writers, they spoke to the people from the platform and in the public halls. They debated the great public issues, contributing their knowledge and ideas and ideals to the formation of the public opinion. Since the press in those days was relatively feeble, it is hardly too much to say that the lawyers and the clergy chiefly molded the early thoughts of this Nation and gave us the institutions under which we have flourished for a century and a half.

Let me, therefore, say to you that the country still needs you to share fully in this task of forming and leading public opinion. You have a powerful new ally today in the press, but I frankly feel that too often the finest representatives of your profession abandon the field to less useful members of your craft and to other agencies which, useful as they are, still lack your special knowledge of the history and art of human relations.

Government Is Now On Trial Before Millions.

There is an especial timeliness in this observation. Today, perhaps as never before, our very form of Government is on trial in the eyes of millions of our citizens. Economic stresses of unparalleled magnitude have wracked our people, and in their distress some are tempted to lay the blame for their troubles upon the system of Government under which they live. It is a not unnatural instinct, however mistaken it may be. It can be a dangerous thing, if wise and trusted men fail to explain to the people how often in history the people's interests have been betrayed by false prophets of a millienium, promised through seductive but unworkable and disastrous theories of government. The menace is doubled by the fact that these vain allurements are today being offered to our harassed people by men of public reputation in economics and even by men in public life.

No man can foretell to what lengths the pressure of public clamor may at any time be brought to bear upon those charged with the processes of Government to yield to changes which you know, before they are tried, would destroy personal liberty and sweep away the security of savings and wages built up by centuries of experience. All progress and and growth is a matter of change, but change must be growth within our social and governmental concepts if it would not destroy them.

You have your duty in this area to expound the history of the painful past through which rights and liberties have been won to warn of repetitions of old and fatal experiments under new and glamorous names, to defend our system of Government against reckless assaults of designing persons. It is your task to prove again what none knows better than you, that the very citadel of the rights of the poor against the oppression or rulers and against the extortions of the rapacious is the judicial system of the country, and that the impregnable apex of that system is the Supreme Court of the United States.

Usurpation Is Prevented By Supreme Court.

It is impregnable because its membership in successive generations down to this moment has comprised the highest character of our land who preserving its great traditions have armored it with the moral support of the people, and thus, without physical power or the need of it, is able to stand equal and alone against legislative encroachment upon the people's rights or executive usurpation of them, and, more precious than either, against private injustice and the enactment of public laws in violation of the fundamental protections of the Constitution.

These deviations from steadfast constitutional limitations, which I have last named, are of paramount significance in these times of growth and change. The last 50 years have witnessed a progress in expansion of business and industry unmatched in any five centuries of previous history. The United States has been in the forefront of this progress. Inventions in transportation, communications and factory production have multiplied the conveniences of life and have widened the fields of human intercourse immeasurably. Economic forces have spread business across State lines and have brought new strains upon our Federal system in its relationships with the State sovereignties. Laws that once were adequate to control private operations affecting the public interest proved unequal to these new conditions. Regulation and control were more than ever necessary.

In the readjustment of Federal laws to State laws required by this situation, the Supreme Court has played a part of incalculable practical value. Without its prestige, without its independence, without its wisdom and power, these delicate alterations could not have been effected except at tremendous costs of injury to our people and of excessive disturbance of political equilibrium. But for the success with which this transition to large Federal regulation over interstate commerce was accomplished, the development of our great system of economic production would have been delayed, individual rights would have been trampled down and our system of State authorities within the union of Federal Government could scarcely have survived, with all its values of local control of local issues.

Calls Legislatures Social Laboratories.

We have long recognized that certain functions in our economic life are affected with public interest, which requires that their activities shall be in some measure controlled by Government, either State or Federal, in protection of the citizens. In that situation we have sought to find a bridge between these controls and the maintenance of that initiative and enterprise which assures the conduct and expansion and perfection of these functions.

One of the great good fortunes of our form of government is that in the 48 States we have 48 laboratories of social and economic experimentation. But, as I have said, many of these activities—particularly those of banking and finance, of transportation, communications, and power—have expanded beyond State borders. It has become necessary during these years to develop gradually increasing burden of Federal control. With growth and experience, these regulatory functions require constant revision: On the one hand, that we may prevent wrongdoing and give justice and equality of opportunity to our people, and on the other that we should not stifle these vital functions and services through the extinction of that enterprise and initiative which must dominate a growing organism.

And here lies also one of the most delicate relations of our republic. We must maintain on the one hand a sense of responsibility in the States. It is the local communities that can best safeguard their liberties. We must, therefore, impose upon the States the maximum responsibility in these regulatory powers over economic functions. It may be even necessary in the long view of the republic that the people of some States whose governments are negligent of the interests of their own people should be inadequately protected rather than destroy the initiative and responsibility of local communities and of all States and undermine the very foundations of local government. On the other hand, we must be courageous in providing for extension of these regulatory powers when they run beyond the capacity of the States to protect their citizens.

Vigilance Is Neglected In Prosperous Times.

In the ebb and flow of economic life our people in times of prosperity and ease naturally tend to neglect the vigilance over their rights. Moreover, wrongdoing is obscured by apparent success in enterprise. Then insidious diseases and wrongdoings grow apace. But we have in the past seen that in times of distress and difficulty wrongdoing and weakness come to the surface, and our people, in their endeavors to correct these wrongs, are tempted to extremes which may destroy rather than build.

In the separation of responsibilities between the Federal and State governments on matters outside of the economic field we have constantly to resist the well-meaning reformer who, witnessing the failure of local communities to discharge responsibilities of government, to extinguish crime, and to set up agencies of government free of corruption, to move apace with the thousand social and other advances which the country sorely needs, constantly advocates and agitates that the powers of the Federal Government be applied, that we may have a rigid uniformity of reform throughout the Nation. Yet even here it is better that we should witness some instances of failure of municipal and State governments to discharge responsibilities in protection and government of their people rather than that we should drive this republic to a centralization which will mean the deadening of its great mainspring of progress, which is the discovery and experimentation and advancement by the local community.

Diversity within unity is the essence of government and progress in our country. If we are to preserve the foundations of liberty in the community and the State, just as is true in the case of the individual, we must have room for self-creation and self-development, for it is the sum of these accomplishments which make the progress of the Nation. We must not believe that by guaranteeing the medium of perfection to all individuals, to all communities, to all municipalities and all States, through the deadening hand of centralization, we will secure progress.

Moral Training Holds Key to End of Crime.

But I wish to revert to the theme which I have mentioned before, which is that the advance in all these directions lies in the advance of public understanding. Fundamentally, our capacity to extinguish criminality and lawlessness lies in the moral training and moral stature of our people. Fundamental advancement in the control of great business and great enterprise lies in the growth of the social instinct and social responsibility of the men who direct these enterprises. In these basic processes of education and moral training, of spiritual development, you, as the organized lawyers and leaders of your community, have a first responsibility in directing the multitude of agencies which can advance this, so fundamental a program.

Parallel with our experience of the last 50 years of economic change and regulation, this Nation has encountered similar new and equally troublesome developments in the management of the problem of crime. Crime is a more personal, a more individual thing, than economics. I have often said that you can not overtake an economic law with a policeman. But the only thing that we can overtake a criminal with is a policeman. The facts of most crimes are localized; they must be investigated at the scene; the pursuit of the criminal must be directed from the community whose peace has been broken, and the evidence for the trial can most effectively and most justly be presented to his neighbors and judges in that community.

Thus, in spite of the fact that crime also has frequently become interstate, the suppression of crime is still most effectively accomplished locally, and fundamentally must remain the responsibility of the State and local governments, and should not be shifted to the Federal Government.

Complexity of Criminal Law Impedes Justice.

In this field, likewise, you gentlemen of the legal profession have a most serious duty. The criminal law has become a complex and often tortuous thing, responding to the growing complexity of modern life. But it is needlessly complicated. Your court procedures are too unwieldly. One of the most disheartening difficulties of zealous officers of Government is the law's delays, during which evidence loses its value, witnesses die and criminals are encouraged to believe that through its maze of technicalities justice can be neither swift nor sure. You have a duty to simplify these procedures, to shorten these processes, to make the administration of law a terror to evildoers by its promptness and certainty.

There is another field of urgent reform in the fields of justice—that is, the laws, the technicalities, the procedure, the cost of civil actions, of management of estates, of bankruptcies and of receiverships. These laws and procedures have failed to keep pace with all the growing complexities of economic and business life, and they must be simplified that their costs and their economic wastes be reduced.

A corollary duty, one that will hasten this end, is that you shall purge your profession of men unworthy of its trust. You occupy a position unlike that of other men, who may honorably pursue only their private gain. You are, besides that, quite specifically officers of government, sworn members of the courts in which you practice, and bound by oath to see not only that justice is done but that the laws are enforced. Too many men have been allowed to take this oath and then be false to it. They use the complexities of law and procedure, not to effect justice but to defeat it. These men you must scourge from the temple which they profane. It is greatly to the credit of the American Bar Association that you have voluntarily accepted this duty, and are in constant process of cleansing the fountains of justice. But I urge a yet greater zeal in this undertaking, not only for the honor of your profession but for the welfare of the State.

Debt of Gratitude Owed by Americans.

To you, gentlemen, Mr. Chief Justice and your honored associates, I extend most hearty congratulations upon the happy occasion which has brought this gathering together tonight. The superb building which you will dedicate tomorrow will visualize to the eyes of the people the majesty of the law upon which our peaceful Nation is securely founded and whose rights and liberties the law protects. It will remind them of the debt of gratitude they owe to the Supreme Court for the statesmanship with which it has guided the course of constitutional interpretation through all the perils of rapid national evolution and growth, preserving the ancient principles and adapting thier application to the changing needs of the times. This building will make more convenient your labors of carrying on this great tradition with the high consecration which has earned for you collectively the admiration of the legal fraternity and the affection of the country.

So long as our form of government shall last, this building will stand as a shining monument to the character of a great people, who wisely put their trust in liberty under law and who guard the ordered preservation of their rights through an instrument of government whose final authority is the people's own moral power.

Mills Confident Hoover Will Carry California

Chicago, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Secretary of the Treasury Mills today telegraphed Republican national headquarters here that "California, always sound in thought and judgment and Republican in character, is for Herbert Hoover."

"The farmers of California do not want Mr. Roosevelt's 'competitive tariff for revenue,'" Mills said. "* * * The farmer, the business man and the wage earner in California see in the reelection of Herbert Hoover the greatest assurance for an uninterrupted recovery from this world-wide depression." Secretary Mills, after campaigning in California, will speak here tomorrow.

DEPRESSION STORM WANES, SAYS MILLS

Avers Election of Democrat Is Great Fear Overhanging Business Horizon.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 12 (U.P.). The "great fear that overhangs the business horizon" is election of a Democratic President next month, Ogden L. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, said tonight.

In a Republican campaign speech at the Minneapolis Auditorium the Secretary cited a long list of "straws which tend to show the wind is veering and the storm abating" in the depression. A change of administration on March 4 and the uncertainty it would bring is holding back business recovery, Mills said.

"There is one thought which I should like to convey to many who, under the awful pressure of this depression, are tempted to cast a vote of protest or recrimination when, as never before, men and women should be steadfast and discerning enough to respond to the Nation's dominant need and should support the President in his effort to lead us steadily back to national well-being," he said.

"The issue is a simple one. On the one hand you have the vague and conflicting promises of the Democratic candidate on scattered issues. On the other hand you have a vigorous and constructive program already in operation and already resulting in business improvement.

"Can the voter afford to exercise his franchise this fall in the last forlorn hope of defeat and despair—the forlorn hope in the magic of mere change—or will he vote to continue the constructive policies which have not only saved us from national disaster, but are already registering the first positive gains against the depression."

St. Paul, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Secretary Mills today credited President Hoover with three "monumental achievements" which, he said, would go down as having changed the tide of the depression. He spoke at luncheon of the St. Paul Association, business men's organization.

Hoover to Pause In 8 Cities on Trip

Will Appear on Rear-Car Platform En Route to Cleveland.

(Associated Press.)

Arrangements were completed yesterday by President Hoover's campaign managers for him to make eight car platform appearances in West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Ohio while en route by train to Cleveland, where he will deliver a campaign address Saturday night.

The President's special train on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will leave the National Capital not long after daybreak Saturday morning, and will arrive in Cleveland only a short time before he is to speak, at 8:30 p. m.

The stops announced yesterday at the White House were Martinsburg, W. Va.; Cumberland, Md.; Connellsville, Pa.; McKeesport, Pa.; Braddock, Pa.; Newcastle, Pa.; Youngstown, Ohio, and Akron, Ohio. Mr. Hoover plans to return to the National Capital almost immediately after he has concluded his address, arriving here Sunday morning.

ALIBI TERMED BASIS OF G.O.P. CAMPAIGN

Josephus Daniels, in Indiana, Ascribes Nation's Woes to Republicans.

Franklin, Ind., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, now on a campaign tour of the Middle West in behalf of the Democratic candidates, declared here tonight that Republican campaign strategists were trying to prove "an alibi" for what he termed the "Hoover panic."

"In their desperation as the campaign reaches the home stretch, the Republican orators, from Calvin Coolidge * * * down to township spellbinders * * * are speaking overtime in the hectic attempt to prove they were not there when the Hoover panic prostrated agriculture, industry and commerce," said Mr. Daniels, in his prepared text.

The former Secretary asserted "voters are asked to believe that this helpless Nation was in the nighttime bound hand and foot by marauding foreigners, who smuggled a foreign panic into this country, in spite of our high tariff walls guaranteed to keep out all ills."

Mr. Daniels charged "some more wanton spellbinders even go so far as to say smugglers were aided by wicked Democrats, who chortle with glee as they stand in the bread line, in the hope the Republican debacle will aid in securing a Democratic victory." He addded, "This panic would not have come to deny employment to 13,000,000 men anxious for jobs, except for the measures of governmental favoritism and immunities of the past eleven years."

B.E.F. Chiefs Here To Call on Hoover

Ten Officials Arrive by Plane to Plead for Veteran Relief.

A group of ten officials of the B. E. F. who came here by plane yesterday from Uniontown, Pa., today will seek an audience with President Hoover to whom they want to present a petition outlining veterans needs for the winter and ending with a protest against the evacuation last July of the bonus marchers.

Hoke Smith, of Florida, a namesake of the late senator from Georgia, and national field commander of the B. E. F., heads the group interviewed last night at the Raleigh Hotel, he declared that the veterans "would make no third party move until after November 9."

Smith said that veterans all over the country applaud mention of the name of Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, head of police here, as the standard bearer of a possible Veterans' party in 1936.

Democratic Criticism Attacked by Jahncke

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Ernest Lee Jahncke, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, said in an address tonight that Democratic leaders "have been so busy blaming the Republican party for the depression that they have not had time to seek for or work out a cure for our troubles."

"In the meantime," he said, "the leadership of the Republican party has provided the cure and today it is in operation."

HOOVER WELCOMES LAWYER DELEGATES TO WASHINGTON

lengths the pressure of public clamor may at any time be brought to bear upon those charged with the processes of government to yield to changes which you know, before they are tried, would destroy personal liberty and sweep away the security of savings and wages built up by centuries of experience."

Comparison of Conditions.

Presenting the President, Chief Justice Hughes compared conditions now to eighteen years ago, when, in the stress of the war, President Wilson last welcomed the bar association to Washington.

"In the midst of the storm, we still steer by the compass," Chief Justice Hughes told the lawyers.

He recalled the introduction the late Chief Justice Taft at that last meeting gave President Wilson.

"We extend the same greeting to his successor, burdened with responsibilities not less," he said.

"As American citizens, regardless of party, as lawyers devoted to the institutions of our Government, we welcome our Chief Magistrate, the embodiment of the law, and we tender to him our fitting assurances of profound respect and deserved esteem."

Reviews Economic Strides.

The President in his address of welcome reviewed economic developments of a half century leading to regulation of functions affecting the public interest. He urged a "bridge between these controls," through a proper balance of Federal and State authority. Emphasis, he said, should be laid on local safeguards.

"We must therefore impose upon the States the maximum responsibility in these regulatory powers over economic functions," he said.

"On the other hand, we must be courageous in providing for extension of these regulatory powers, when they run beyond the capacity of the States to protect their citizens."

The President urged against further Federal centralization of power in the matter of crime prevention, such as might lead to "a rigid uniformity of reform throughout the Nation." Suppression of crime, he declared, is a local responsibility, most effectively met by State and local governments.

Simplification, which Mr. Hoover has effectively urged in industrial fields, was offered last night by the President as a remedy for the problems of the bar. Criminal law, he declared, has become complex and tortuous; court procedures too unwieldy.

Promptness and Certainty.

"You have a duty to simplify these procedures," he said, "to shorten these processes, to make the administration of law a terror to evildoers by its promptness and certainty."

Last, he called on members to "purge" their profession of "men unworthy of its trust," suggesting that they follow the example of the association in "cleansing the fountains of justice."

At the opening session of the association yesterday morning in Constitution Hall delegates were greeted by Frank J. Hogan, president of the District Bar. Frank E. Atwood, chief justice of the Missouri State Supreme Court, replied to the welcome.

President Thompson in his opening address deplored "colossal tax burdens" carried by the people. He urged further cuts in Federal expenditures, which, he said, approximate $5,000,000,000 a year. Assailing unrestricted taxation, he said:

"If our Government is to be killed, it is here that the mortal thrust will be given. Here is the Achilles heel of the Constitution."

Following President Hoover's address last night, the association elected its general conference and adjourned to a reception at the Mayflower Hotel. G. M. Morris was elected to represent the District of Columbia on the general council, which will meet this morning to elect a chairman. Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Hoover will receive members of the association and the Supreme Court bench at a White House reception.

Photo Honoring Taft To Be in Corner Stone

With President Hoover and Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes taking a leading part in the ceremony, the corner stone of the new United States Supreme Court Building will be laid at 10 o'clock this morning.

President Hoover will lay the stone, a block of Vermont marble, while Mr. Justice Hughes will make an address on behalf of the Supreme Court in response to one from John W. Davis, on behalf of the Bar of the Supreme Court.

Music will be played by the Marine Band. Guy A. Thompson, president of the American Bar Association, will preside.

Objects to be placed in the corner stone include a ceramic photograph of the present Supreme Court, a ceramic photograph of former Chief Justice Taft, who was largely instrumental in bringing about erection of the new building; a photograph of the model of the new building, and the addresses of the Chief Justice and Mr. Davis.

BORAH WOULD FAVOR BUDGET CUT IN HALF

Denounces Increase in War Veteran Expenditures; Hit Land Banks.

Malad, Idaho, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Senator William E. Borah (Republican), of Idaho, declared in a campaign address here tonight the States and the Nation would be just as well off if governmental expenses were "cut 50 per cent."

A serious condition will result, he said, if taxes and public expenditures increase in the next 25 years as they have in the last quarter of a century.

He denounced the increase in expenditures for war veterans.

Answering the question of a member of his audience, Senator Borah explained the position of his colleague, Senator John Thomas, on the power tax. He said Senator Thomas first voted to oppose placing a 3 per cent tax on the consumer, and voted instead to lay it upon the power company. He added the House amended the bill to tax the consumer, and Thomas agreed to this when the bill was submitted to conference.

"That tax was put on the consumer by the House," he said, "not by the Senate."

Senator Borah said the farm debt on paper is $12,000,000,000, but in terms of present commodity prices it is double this.

He asserted the policy carried out by the Federal Land Banks is not in the interests of the American farmer. He added the bill introduced called for $25,000,000 to liberalize Land Bank credit, but he said he was unable to see any liberalization.

Although not mentioning President Hoover, he took up the President's argument for an "honest dollar" by declaring it is not an honest dollar which takes three times as much produce to buy as it did three years ago.

He asserted adjustment of the money system and of international problems is necessary to national and world recovery. He declared the Nation was operating on $1,500,000,000 in circulation, while $3,500,000,000 is in hoarding.

Garner May Reply To Coolidge Speech

Speaker Is Noncommittal; Pays Visit to Roosevelt at Albany.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Democratic leaders looked tonight to Speaker John N. Garner to reply to Calvin Coolidge on financial legislation.

While the nominee for Vice President was noncommittal, James A. Farley, the chairman of the national committee, said "Garner is the logical man."

This was the view of others at the national headquarters. Like Mr. Farley, they predicated their belief on that part of Mr. Coolidge's Madison Square Garden address last night that said "* * * assurances that the pending Democratic raids on the Treasury would be defeated by a Republican victory in November would no doubt have the * * * effect of reviving all kinds of business."

The Speaker's only comment was: "I'm picking my own speaking dates and tours. And I'm not ready to say right at this time who I'm going to reply to." Mr. Garner returned early today from an overnight visit in Albany with Gov. Franklin Roosevelt. He expects to leave tomorrow for his office in Washington.

PLANS FOR NEW TRIP MADE BY ROOSEVELT

Three Major Talks Slated on 3,000-Mile Tour Into Sixteen States.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt will leave here Tuesday for an eight-day campaign trip of 3,000 miles through the Middle West, the border States and into the South.

Mr. Roosevelt will make three major speeches on the trip, at Pittsburgh on October 19; St. Louis on October 21, and Baltimore on October 25. Important addresses will be made at Indianapolis, Springfield, Louisville and perhaps other stops on the trip.

Four yeas ago three States of the old Suoth voted with President Hoover and against Alfred E. Smith. The border States, West Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri also were in Hoover's column.

Speaks on Air Tonight.

Mr. Roosevelt will cross Ohio, in the mid-West battle zone, five days after President Hoover makes a campaign speech at Cleveland. The Democratic nominee likely will not make an appearance in the Buckeye State as his schedule calls for a night run across that State. He has twice before appeared in Ohio, first when he opened his campaign in Columbus on August 20 and again at the beginning of the Western swing last month.

Mr. Roosevelt devoted a large part of today to the radio speech he will make tomorrow night on his views of the extent to which the Federal Government should enter into local relief work.

The "Roosevelt special," which on October 3 completed a trip of 8,900 miles through 21 States, will on the next swing cover 3,000 miles in sixteen States and the District of Columbia. For nine of the States, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and Delaware, as well as the National Capital, it will be the first visit of Mr. Roosevelt since his nomination on July 1.

Stops Scheduled.

Leaving Albany next Tuesday morning, the train will take him across New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, the District of Columbia, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey. An automobile trip from Pittsburgh will take him into West Virginia.

The stops that so far have been listed on the trip are: October 18, Rochester and Buffalo; October 19, Pittsburgh and Wheeling, W. Va.; October 20, Indianapolis; October 21, Springfield, Ill., and St. Louis; October 22, Louisville; October 23 and 24, Atlanta; October 25, Raleigh, Richmond and Baltimore, arriving at New York at 8 a. m. October 26.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had not had time to read former President Coolidge's address at New York last night.

"Last night the Speaker (John N. Garner, vice presidential candidate) and I were too busy talking to turn on the radio when Mr. Coolidge spoke," the governor said.

Hebert Says Coolidge Talk Means Hoover's Reelection

Other Leaders Strongly Praise Former President's Madison Square Garden Speech as "Vote Getter;" Democratic Chief Sees Play on Class Prejudice.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Senator Felix Hebert of Rhode Island, Eastern Republican campaign manager, predicted in a statement today that former President Calvin Coolidge's speech in Madison Square Garden last night "will reelect President Hoover."

"There has been so much quackery in this campaign," he said in support of his prediction, "that it needed a former President to bring us to our senses.

"Mr. Coolidge completely demolished the vague proposals of the Democratic party for a tariff which would be destructive to American labor."

Other comment on the Coolidge speech issued from the headquarters of the Eastern division of the Republican national committee follows:

Henry W. Taft, brother of the late Chief Justice and President: "It was a great speech. It was most persuasive and should have enormous influence throughout the country."

George Z. Medalie, Republican candidate for the United States Senate from New York: "It was one of the greatest speeches I ever heard in any political campaign. Its message to the American people should provide the solution on election day."

Wickersham's Statement.

Discussing the Coolidge address, George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission and former Attorney General, said:

"It was the application of the old counsel of 'look before you leap.'

"Certainly every Republican, and every independent Democrat, will say 'Amen.'"

Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley asserted today that former President Calvin Coolidge's speech last night was "another attempt to raise class distinction, something that the Republicans have been supposedly fighting against."

"I think it was rather significant," Farley continued, "that Mr. Coolidge talked about everything under the sun but prohibition, the one thing the people of the Nation are very much interested in."

Chicago, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Leading Republicans expressed in statements released through national campaign headquarters the view that Calvin Coolidge's speech last night was one of the most effective arguments voiced in the Hoover-Curtis campaign. Some of their comments follow:

Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas—"His summary of Herbert Hoover's work in saving the economic structure is an indorsement that should carry weight with every thinking and patriotic citizen."

Other Comment.

Silas Strawn, of Chicago, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce—"It was a concise statement of facts that should be persuasive to every thoughtful voter."

Henry Field, Republican senatorial nominee from Iowa—"Calvin Coolidge, private citizen, casts one vote for Hoover and as goes Coolidge so goes every sound thinking, patriotic American without regard to political party."

Representative Will R. Wood, of Indiana—"His speech will be most effective because he again has spoken to the American people on a topic of vital importance with practical common sense and the sound realism of irrefutable logic."

ROOSEVELT TERMED "COWARD" BY PHILP

Raps His Failure to State Bonus Position Before G. O. P. Club.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was called "a coward" by John W. Philp, Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, who addressed the National Capital Republican Club at its club rooms on Scott Circle last night. He also declared that the Democratic nominee for President was a "bum politician" for his failure to state his position on the "bonus question."

The speaker likewise accused Gov. Roosevelt of dealing with generalities in his campaign speeches, and declared: "If he were honest and sincere he would state his stand on the Garner bill, the tax bill, and the Goldsboro inflation bill."

Mrs. Harry K. Daugherty, chairman of the women's division of the Hoover-Curtis Clubs, told the meeting that the women elected President Hoover in 1928 and would do so again this year. She declared the Republican party had never been defeated on issues, all defeats since the election of President Lincoln being the result of dissension within the party. Several other guest speakers also addressed the club.

Thomas P. Littlepage, vice president of the National Capital Republican Club, presided.

In an address before a dinner meeting last night of the Young Republican Club of the District, George Olmstead, national director, declared the Young Republican movement "is spreading like wildfire." A total of 1,225,000 young Republicans have already been enlisted in the movement, he said.

Short addresses were delivered at the dinner meeting by Samuel J. Prescott, chairman of the District organization, and Mrs. Virginia White Speel, vice president. William Green, State director for New Jersey, and Prof. James Robinson, of the University of Indiana, were guest speakers. About 40 members of the District organization were present.

DEMOCRATS SCORE PROMISES OF G.O.P.

Opening of Travel Bureau to Aid Absentee Voters Is Announced at Rally.

False promises which have won successes for the Republican party in the past are being advanced again by Republican campaigners. Democrats were warned by speakers at a Democratic rally last night in the headquarters of the Democratic central committee of the District at 1320 G street northwest.

The administration was charged with attempting to take all credit for whatever was good in legislation enacted by the last session of Congress, but to place on the Democratic-controlled House all the onus which should belong on preceding Republican Congresses, speakers said.

Reports received from all over the country, they said, showed the farmers and others were no longer deceived and would not support the Republican party at the polls in November. Among the speakers were Rice Hooe, Washington attorney; Jo V. Morgan, secretary of the Roosevelt-Garner League; Jay Nelson, Washington financier, and Mrs. Eleanor C. Wagner, past national officer of the American War Mothers. Ralph Cusick, president of the Democratic Veterans Club, presided.

Establishment of a "travel bureau," under direction of Mrs. Helen Griffin, to aid absentee voters to get information about the voting requirements in their home States, as well as about bus and train schedules and fares, was announced by the committee yesterday. The bureau will list persons who are willing to transport others all or part of the way home to vote.

Results of a survey of national sentiment on the eighteenth amendment, made by the voluntary committee of lawyers, will be discussed by Henry Allen Johnston, of New York, a member of the lawyers committee, at a meeting in the committee headquarters at 8:30 tonight. Nathan B. Williams, chairman of the speakers' bureau, will preside.

Wagner Attacks Hoover; Cites 1928 Mart Claims

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Senator Robert Wagner, of New York, author of unemployment and relief legislation in the last Congress, said tonight President Hoover "organized a paper offensive to rout the panic by psychology."

Inaugurating the Democratic Forum, the senator said: "Back in 1928, while I was calling attention to the increasing load of relief * * * as a sign of danger, the Republican leaders cried politics and pointed with glowing pride at a hysterical stock market."

PAPEN SAYS CABINET WILL RULE GERMANY

tion, Von Papen went on, as shown by the Ruhr invasion "which plunged German currency to a billionth part of its present value."

The chancellor said that under his government's reforms, he foresees the establishment of a Senate to "counterbalance the Reichstag, which is influenced by party interests."

He indicated that a Senate might be established through reconstruction of the Federal Council, thus offering the federal states more influence in the new governmental institution. The constitutional reform, he explained, would abolish the dualism which exists between the Reich and Prussia, but would leave the status of the other states unchanged.

1,200 MINE STRIKERS ARRESTED IN ILLINOIS

Tear Gas Disperses Parade Marking Anniversary of Virden Massacre.

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The annual commemoration of the anniversary of the "Virden mine massacre" of 1898 was turned into a rout today by National Guard troops, who arrested more than 1,200 striking miners and released most of them only after they promised to leave town.

Tear gas was used late in the day to disperse a parade of men and women from memorial exercises at the grave of one of the Virden victims, but no injuries were reported. More than 20 men were killed in the Virden riot, which resulted from an attempt to organize the first mine union in the State.

Thousands of miners, accompanied by their womenfolk and children and riding in automobiles and trucks, converged upon Taylorville this morning to participate in the exercises, an annual event in the coal mining region.

600 Taken at Meeting.

They found four National Guard companies patrolling the streets and later in the day two more companies were brought hastily from Canton, 60 miles away.

The guardsmen raided a meeting hall during the forenoon and seized approximately 600 men. Those arrested were taken to the Christian County Courthouse and held under guard. A short time later, a crowd of 600 more men marched upon the courthouse and demanded also to be arrested. They were accommodated.

The courthouse offices and courtrooms were turned into temporary prisons as officials quit work for the day.

While the miners were imprisoned, their wives, daughters and sisters, all dressed in white, formed a parade and advanced upon the courthouse, singing hymns and shouting exhortations. Troops at first halted their march, but later allowed them to parade about the square while the imprisoned men cheered.

GAINS IN INDUSTRIAL EMPLOYMENT SHOWN

corded consecutive gains for the last two months. * * * The total orders of these concerns indicate 45 per cent increase over that of July and 15 per cent better than August. Most encouraging are orders being received for industrial goods, such as machinery and equipment, although practically all lines of industry seem to have participated in the recent expansion."

Cities Showing Gains.

"The general upturn in employment and pay rolls was reported in such centers as New Haven, Philadelphia, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Dallas.

"For the first time in more than a year Chicago manufacturers and distributors seem convinced that the recently sustained business upturn is more than a flurry," the Chicago Association of Commerce reported.

The Illinois Manufacturers Association reported: "Employment and total pay rolls throughout the State showed improvement in August and still greater improvement in September and the first week in October."

From Philadelphia, Philip H. Gadsden, president of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, reported: "A very real confidence in business for the first time in a long period."

Employment Increases.

"Employment has increased each day since the start of September. In many lines of industry the employment schedules have lengthened, and old workers are being returned to their jobs in a number of basic industries."

Typical of the main body of the reports are the following quotations representing sentiment in various sections of the country:

Dallas Chamber of Commerce—"Practically all lines enjoying excellent retail demand—the best experienced in over a year—and most concerns running full time with increased forces. General feeling much better."

Seattle Chamber of Commerce: "Generally speaking, the outlook is much brighter than a month ago. Small indices virtually everywhere point to a sustained upturn. This is reflected in greater optimism. A local airplane plant, the largest single industrial establishment in Seattle, has more business on hand than at any time in the past two years."

Georgia Manufacturers Association: "Conditions in manufacturing plants in Georgia started to show improvement in August. Since then we have noticed an appreciable advancement in textile production and also in the lumber and woodworking trades. At the present time many plants are calling back their old employes. * * * We look for a good winter, as compared with 1931 and 1930, and for a strong upward movement in 1933."

Wholesale Trade Advances.

San Francisco Chamber of Commerce: "Increases have been registered in wholesale trade and in both manufacturing and construction employment as well as in the volume of trading on the stock exchange and the cargo tonnage on the San Francisco water front. Increases also are developing in retail sales of the department stores and in new motor car business."

Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce: "September building permits increased 60 per cent over August. For the first time in more than 2½ years the Chamber of Commerce index of industrial employment has exceeded the figure for the corresponding month of the previous year. The current index is the highest since January, 1931. The improvement may be traced to a general spread of increased employment; it is not due to unusual activity in any one line."

Death on Battleship Off Annapolis Probed

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 12.—A board of officers from the battleship Wyoming, riding at anchor in Chesapeake Bay off Annapolis, is investigating the death of Frank Fletcher, bluejacket, who was found aboard the warship late yesterday afternoon with his throat slashed.

Capt. Benjamin Dutton, commanding officer, expressed the belief that Fletcher took his own life. Fletcher was the water tender.

TROOPS STOP FRESH RIOTING IN BELFAST

Police Declare Reds Incited Disorders as Wholesale Arrests Continue.

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—British troops were hurried into Belfast today to cope with new unemployment riots following in the wake of yesterday's outburst of violence in which one man was killed and more than 30 persons seriously wounded.

A unit of the Inniskillin Fusiliers was brought in from the barracks at Holywood. The King's Royal Rifles, it was announced, will arrive Friday.

This afternoon, after there had been considerable shooting in the western part of the city bringing armored police cars into action, the authorities announced they had the situation well in hand.

Numerous arrests were made. In one street alone the police took 39 prisoners.

The police announced that curfew restrictions would become effective at 8 o'clock tonight in the area of the most serious disorders. Last night every one was ordered off the streets by 11 o'clock.

The lord mayor and representatives of the workers met to discuss methods of relief for the jobless. Thirty prisoners were arraigned in court on charges of unlawful assembly and rioting. They were remanded in custody until Tuesday. Most of them were heavily bandaged.

2 Democratic Groups To Hold Joint Session

STROLL IN ATHENS ENJOYED BY INSULL

Former Utilities Head Visits Police Chief to Thank Him for Kindnesses.

Athens, Greece, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Much pleased with the Greeks and the country they live in, Samuel Insull spent today enjoying the ancient charm of Athens while officials of the American Government awaited a warrant necessary for the inauguration of extradition proceedings to bring about his return to Chicago to face an indictment growing out of the collapse of his utilities interests.

Early today Mr. Insull was out for a stroll in the streets. Last night, while a pale moon cast pleasant ghostly shadows across the Acropolis, he took a motor ride.

He visited the chief of police to express his thanks for the treatment accorded him while he was held in custody.

"We considered you as a guest, not as a prisoner," the chief told him.

Again today Premier Venizelos made inquiries at the ministry of interior about the details of the arrest. Some of the Athens newspapers attacked the police for what they said was excessive zeal. These journalistic critics asserted that without a warrant the police had no right to detain the Chicagoan even for a few hours.

The minister of interior issued a statement in which he said the American Government still could ask for the arrest of Mr. Insull and his extradition, despite the fact that the formalities in connection with the Greco-American treaty of extradition have not been completed.

The statement explained that documentary evidence would be necessary to support any such application, and that the request would be considered by the Athens court of appeals, which would decide whether extradition was justified.

Conference Is Closed By Scout Executives

The four-day conference of scout executives of Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia was brought to a close yesterday at the Shoreham Hotel, with an address by Dr. George F. Fisher, chief scout executive, on the future of scouting in this country.

Roy E. Seymour, regional executive, and A. A. Schuck, national director of operations, also spoke at the concluding meeting. Reports were received on financial and council growth, and on the White House conference on financing social agencies. Andy Benson presided.

Optimist Club Donates 150 Gym Suits to Boys

The Optimist Club of Washington has donated 150 gym suits to the Boys Club of Washington, Charles Fyfe, director of the Boys Club, announced last night. Equipment for the organization of a harmonica band of 25 also was given by the Optimists.

Fyfe said the Optimist Club had made arrangements for medical and dental attention for needy boys.

criminality in the Insull investment issues. Stewart indicated he would adopt the role of observer at the various investigations here in search especially of information that would aid the Senate in formulating legislation to regulate public utility financing.

A demand that the three utility operating companies in Chicago tell the public whether they intend to continue paying a pension to Insull, their former chairman, was made in an open statement signed by Harold L. Ickes, an attorney and civic leader; Prof. Paul H. Douglas, of the University of Chicago, and Prof. A. R. Hatton, of Northwestern University, officers of the Utility Consumers and Investors League of Illinois.

Puzzled by Statement.

They professed to be published by a statement of James Simpson, Insull's successor as chairman of the Commonwealth Edison Co., Peoples Gas & Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois, concerning the pension arrangements.

"Mr. Simpson now advises the public," the statement of Ickes, Douglas & Hatton said, "that in June of this year these three operating companies and certain affiliates provided annual pensions for Mr. Insull in the aggregate sum of $50,000 per year. Subsequently, he states, because of 'recent developments,' the boards of directors of these companies have reduced the pension to $21,000 a year."

(Associated Press.)

The United States Government moved yesterday to isolate Samuel Insull, sr., in Greece by withdrawing his passport.

Instructions were sent by the State Department to the American Legation at Athens to take up Insull's passport.

If Insull refuses to surrender the passport, which is believed by officials to be unlikely, it can be invalidated by the State Department through notification to American legations and consulates. They would, in turn, advise officials of the governments to which they are accredited.

Without a passport, or with one which has been officially nullified, Insull's movements would be reatricted to Greece. In case he wished to leave the country it would be necessary for him to apply to Greek officials and have his passport stamped.

Liquor Violation Is Charged.

Arrested after a raid on a still near his home at Waldorf, Md., James L. Nutwell was yesterday held for action of the Federal grand jury in bond of $1,000. He is charged with manufacture, possession, possession of articles for the manufacture of liquor and maintaining a nuisance.

VICTIMS OF BANK HOLDUP

detective force were planted at strategic points near the bank.

As weeks went on, said Inspector Burke, the guard was gradually reduced as the men were needed for other duties. Finally it was decided to relinquish the vigilance.

The bandits had evidently carefully planned yesterday's robbery. Realizing the police vigilance of last summer, they had apparently risked all on a rear attack, counting on the "breaks" to carry them through. Veteran detectives were at a loss to explain why some one had not noticed something unusual at the bank from the outside and notified police.

Five men were under arrest at police headquarters last night as suspects in the robbery, but police were doubtful that they would prove of any importance in the investigation. The group was picked up after they had ridden past the bank shortly after the robbery yesterday morning. They said they were all salesmen from New York. Their stories are being checked.

The pair of robbers apparently gained entrance to the bank by unfastening the latch on a rear window. Police believed they had done this before dawn and had awaited the appearance of Waverly Newell, bank janitor. Newell was forced into the basement by one of the men just as he started down the stairs to start the fire for the day.

Description of Robbers.

An hour later, about 7:30 a. m., Edmund Baldwin, friend of Newell, appeared at the bank and was unceremoniously thrust down the stairs at pistol point. Both were guarded there by the other man.

Both of the men were deliberate and calm, even courteous, police were told. Both were about 25 and of medium size. One wore a pair of dark-colored glasses, while the other had a handkerchief over part of his face.

Next to arrive were Miss Alice Richmond and Norman Bell, bookkeepers. This pair was hustled into the cellar with the first prisoners there.

Just before 9 o'clock Mr. Norris appeared and, noticing nothing amiss, proceeded to open the bank vault. As he swung back the door he felt a gun jabbed in his back and he was forced into the vault.

A moment later Charles Weckerly, 22-year-old teller, came into the bank and also saw nothing amiss. He walked over near the open vault door, which he said he thought had been opened for the business of an early customer.

Teller Also Imprisoned.

One of the robbers then called to Weckerly to come nearer and then he said Norris called to him to "come in here, quick." When he stepped into the vault he was confronted with a gun.

The men scooped up the money into a satchel and then herded Norris and Weckerly into the basement with the other prisoners. The pair of bandits then departed, saying they would set the door to the basement to open in ten minutes.

Norris, in about five minutes, decided to try the door and finding it unlocked, dashed to a telephone and gave the alarm.

All of the bank employes were at headquarters last night examining photos of known criminals who might be involved in the robbery. It was later planned to have them view the five men held.

Threats of Convict Described on Stand

Cleric-Missionary Witness for Defense in Sweat-Box Case.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 12 (U.P.).—The defense paraded convicts, doctors and a preacher missionary to the stand today to tell of alleged suicide threats made by young Arthur Maillefert, a convict who the State charges was tortured to death by two guards, G. W. Courson and Solomon Higginbotham.

"I've got nine years to spend here, and I'd rather spend it in hell," the Rev. Isaac Moore, Baptist preacher missionary said Maillefert told him in April. He said Courson, captain of the guards, had asked him to talk to Maillefert (called "Jersey" at the camp), and attempt to get him to lead a Christian life.

On cross-examination, Mr. Moore could not remember what Maillefert looked like, what his sermon topic had been at the camp, where he preached to the convicts, or what the other prisoners said to him.

The defense has tried to show that Maillefert tried several times to take his life, and that he killed himself when he was placed in a "sweat box" after an unsuccessful attempt to flee the camp. He was put in the box, his feet in stocks that held him upright and made it impossible to shift his position. Investigation of his death showed that a chain was fastened about his neck.

The defense has produced convict witnesses to show that Maillefert caused himself to be choked by the chain, and most of today's witnesses were produced to follow up that theory.

C. U. Talk Scheduled By Italian Educator

The Rev. P. A. Walz, professor of church history of the Collegio Angelico at Rome, will speak on "St. Albert the Great and Our Times" at McMahon Hall auditorium at Catholic University tonight at 8:15.

Father Walz is making a tour of the United States and is visiting the leading educational institutions before he returns to Italy next month.

Cardinal Dougherty in New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Denis Cardinal Dougherty, archbishop of Philadelphia, arrived here today and inspected the newly erected first unit of Xavier College for Negroes, preparatory to its dedication.

BLACKSHIRT VICTIMS MAY VIEW SUSPECTS

St. Marys Official Holds Belief Two Are Not Linked in Depredations.

Notification of the arrest of two suspects here in connection with the recent series of highway robberies throughout St. Marys County, Md., yesterday halted momentarily the search by Maryland authorities, and it is expected the sheriff's office at Leonardtown will act at once toward aiding identification of the pair held.

Although expressing belief that the wave of depredations by a gang of masked and armed bandits was inspired by persons residing in the county, police officials indicated victims of the gang would be given a chance to view the suspects.

Belief that the two, John H. Harris, 18, of Alexandria, Va., and Frank D. Rominger, 22, of 7 Ninth street southeast, are in no way connected with the robberies was expressed by State's Attorney John H. T. Briscoe, of St. Marys County.

His belief was upheld by Sheriff Richard T. Hammett, who said it was on that angle only that they were working.

"We believe the gang of so-called 'Black Shirts' are strictly local men," he said. "Whoever they are have a well-defined knowledge of St. Marys County and its residents."

Fear that lack of police activity in the case might prompt outsiders, perhaps from some large city, to descend on the county for robbery and plunder prompted authorities to act quickly in attempting to clear all angles of the baffling case.

Continued patrol of highways by State and county police last night failed to bring results. Two days have elapsed since the last holdup, making a total of eight, was reported.

No warrants have been issued for the arrest of any suspects, authorities declared, and so far no tangible clews have offered themselves.

found evidence that her body had been dragged across two rooms and thrown from a kitchen window into the yard.

Police questioned a man who says he is Philip Renda, 50. They identified him as a suitor of Mrs. Tressler. The man said he visited at the Tressler home last night until shortly after midnight. He said that before he left, Mrs. Harden and the two children retired, but that Mrs. Harden was still awake.

RACE HORSE OWNER DIES BY GANG GUNS

Companion Tells Police Killers Accused Chicagoan of Double-Crossing.

Chicago, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Louis L. Howell, 53, unemployed bond salesman, told police his companion, Carl H. Reese, race horse trainer and owner, was slain near Libertyville today by four gunmen, who then forced Howell to aid in disposition of the body.

Lake County authorities discovered Reese's bullet-spattered body in a ditch while Howell was telling his story to Chicago police.

Howell said he met Reese in a downtown hotel this morning and drove him toward Waukegan, where Reese was to see a wealthy man about some bets. About 5 miles north of Libertyville, he said, an automobile caught up with them and four men ordered Howell out of the car.

"They told me to stand aside," Howell said, "and two of them fired at Reese. They fired seven or eight times. They made me get back into the car beside Reese's body. Two of the gunmen got in with me."

Howell said the men forced him to drive south while the gunmen's car followed. Finally, he said, he was told to stop and ordered to toss Reese's body into a ditch.

The men then ordered him to drive back to Chicago and at Touhy and Caldwell avenues Howell said he was told to "duck" and warned not to notify police.

Howell rushed home and told his wife the story. She called police and Howell gave his version of the slaying. He said he had known Reese for three or four years and agreed to make the trip simply as a favor.

Girl Four Years Old Adopted by Lupe Velez

Beverly Hills, Calif., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Lupe Velez, screen actress, assumed today the real life role of a mother. Her new daughter, Joan, 4 years old, arrived from Mexico City, having been a niece until adoption papers were recently signed in the Mexico capital.

The child was brought here by Mrs. Josephine Valez, mother of the actress. Joan's first day's outing here with her new mother was a visit to the studios to see how movies are made.

Idle Coal Mine Reopens.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—W. B. Phillips, president of the South Hills Coal Co., said tonight the company's Baldwin Township Mine, idle for seven months, has reopened with 75 men employed. Phillips said the mine has a capacity of 500 tons a day.

CANADA SLASHES TARIFFS UNDER TREATY WITH BRITAIN

rate for Canadian products or additions to the free entry list for Canada on the part of the United Kingdom.

Thus Canadian wheat will enter the United Kingdom duty free, against the general tariff of 3 pence per bushel (4.32 American cents) on wheat from other countries. Other Canadian products to be favored will include a large variety of manufactures, fish products, mineral products, certain pork products, butter, cheese, apples, canned tomatoes, milk products, &c.

Technically, Canada adjusted her tariff walls in several ways, using all of the three tariff bases already in the schedule. These bases are the British preferential tariff reserved for goods produced in the British Empire, the lowest rate; the intermediate rate applicable to imports from foreign countries with which Canada has negotiated trade agreements, the next lowest rate, and the general tariff, applicable to goods imported from all other countries, including the United States, the highest rate.

Preference Action.

The methods of widening the preference were set forth in the following table:

1. In 81 items the only change was a reduction in the British preferential rate.
2. In 89 items the change was an increase in the intermediate or general rate, or in both.
3. In 49 items the change was by reduction in the British preferential rate and increase in other rates.
4. In two items the change was by reduction in all rates.
5. In one item the change was by increase in all rates.
6. In one item the change was by reduction in the British preferential and intermediate rates.

Of especial interest to American steel manufacturers were the tariff changes on iron and steel, which, in common with the other schedules, became immediately effective.

The basis of width division for duty purposes in steel plate was increased from 60 to 66 inches, and the preference was increased by raising the intermediate and general rates on both wide and narrow plate.

General and intermediate rates were increased on black sheets and galvanized sheets, and on tinned sheets of a class not made in Canada. Tinned sheets, not otherwise provided, are made free under the British preferential tariff, with increased rates under the intermediate and general tariffs, while steel sheets imported to be tinned are similarly treated.

Other Steel Rates.

The intermediate and general tariff rates are increased on sheets imported for galvanizing. Intermediate and general tariffs are increased on hot or cold rolled hoop and strip steels.

Duties under the British preferential tariffs are removed entirely on poundage steel in bars, large bars for shafting, casement sections, rust and heat resisting steels, silicon sheets for electrical use, cooperate steel, tramway rails, heavy structural shapes and sections, hollow forgings, power equipment for carrying purposes, automobile engines of heavy rating, telephone and radio apparatus and special type storage batteries.

Rates are imposed, under the intermediate and general tariffs on barbed wire and galvanized fencing wire. On steel tires, railway axles, wire products, steel chains, certain machinery, cutlery and small tools, the preferential margins are widened.

Automobiles, motor trucks and motorcycles are embraced in the iron and steel schedule and these are made free of duty under the British preferential tariffs, but without any changes under other tariffs in the case of automobiles and motor trucks.

Typewriters are made free under the British preferential tariff. Increases are made in the intermediate and general rates on printing and lithographing presses.

In the cotton schedules, the items embraced within the general reduction of one-third on goods coming into Canada from the United Kingdom are singles yarns, twines and cords, fabrics in the gray, and bleached and colored fabrics; embroideries, laces, nettings, fringes and tassles, all cotton clothing, and all articles manufactured from cotton fabrics.

Under the British preferential tariff, the specific duties on woolen goods—from yarns to clothing—are reduced by one-fourth for every item on which at present specific duties are operative, including ordinary woolen and worsted yarns, pressed felt, gray fabrics imported for dyeing and finishing; ordinary woolen and worsted cloths and all clothing, apparel and articles manufactured from fabrics containing wool.

On blankets and carpets the specific duty under the British preferential tariff is cut in half. Hair yarns, lusters and linings, gray fabrics not over 4 ounces in weight and billiard cloth are granted entirely free entry under the British preferential.

Balance of Program.

Linen thread and all linen fabrics are made free of duty under the British preferential rate as well as certain jute fabrics. Leather schedules are revised, increasing the preference on belting and sole leather and numerous other items.

Duties ranging from 10 to 25 per cent were imposed under the intermediate and general tariffs on scores of chemicals and chemical compounds most of which formerly entered free under all tariffs. This made a wide margin of preference for Empire products.

London, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The Ottawa agreements mean new burdens for the British public, Lord Snowden, who was chancellor of the exchequer in the former Labor government and recently resigned from the present national ministry, will say in an article in tomorrow's Financial News.

"In every case concessions made by Britain mean an increase in the prices of commodities—mainly necessary foodstuffs," Lord Snowden writes.

Sees Loss in Trade.

"The existing duties on food and several other articles were changed from a general 10 per cent ad valorem rate to a weight duty. It is calculated that the ad valorem duty of 40 per cent has been raised to about 15 per cent.

"Considering the concessions, one important difference between the dominions' and ours must be noted. In the case of Great Britain every concession involves additional burdens on the British people. In the case of the dominions all changes give relief to dominion traders and consumers.

"I have it on very reliable authority that expert examination of this schedule revealed the fact that instead of giving Great Britain an advantage there will be an actual loss in the present trade with Canada."

4 Policemen 'Kidnap' Man In Death Quiz

Elmira, N. Y., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Four armed policemen from Madison, Wis., marched without warning into Chemung County Court this afternoon, slipped handcuffs on a prisoner before the bar and wordlessly removed him to an automobile in which they sped away.

The prisoner was Joseph Gelosi, wanted in connection with an investigation at Madison into the murder of Andrew Presti, who was slain July 5.

The court looked on in astonishment as Gelosi, who had just been denied a writ of habeas corpus by County Judge Bertram L. Newman, was removed by the police, who acted on extradition warrants. No one interfered. The prisoner's wife ran after him to say good-by, but was forbidden to embrace him and broke down, sobbing.

Gelosi's attorney, Thomas F. Rogers, said he would appeal the habeas corpus decision and seek to have Gelosi returned from Wisconsin if the appeal is successful. District Attorney Sheldon F. Roe said he approved of the action of the Wisconsin authorities.

Orphans' Illness Termed "Mild Food Poisoning"

Xenia, Ohio, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Serious illness of 148 children at the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home was diagnosed tonight by State investigators as "a mild case of food poisoning."

They said it was impossible definitely to determine the source of the attacks of vomiting and diarrhea, but agreed that green liver sausage, served Sunday night, might have been the cause. Forty of the children were discharged from the hospital today. Attendants said the others should be able to leave the hospital within a few days.

Radcliffe President Praises Hoover.

Boston, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—President Ada L. Comstock, of Radcliffe College, today wired President Hoover that if education and child welfare organizations survived the present period unimpaired, it would be largely because of his efforts to sustain them.

RETIRED POLICEMAN TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Shoots Himself Following Attack on Wife With Blackjack.

Cecil E. Showalter, 49-year-old retired policeman, yesterday committed suicide after attacking his wife with a blackjack in the bedroom of their home at 3606 Brothers place southeast. Both were taken to Casualty Hospital, where the former policeman was pronounced dead and Mrs. Showalter was reported to be recovering from the effects of the blackjack blows.

The tragic altercation climaxed a long series of domestic quarrels, police learned. Last Saturday night Mrs. Showalter called for police help in getting her clothes from the house, but a reconciliation was effected later in the evening between the pair.

Mrs. Showalter, who is 42, only Monday resigned a position at the Bureau of Engraving at her husband's insistence, she told police. She said her husband suddenly attacked her yesterday morning and struck her half a dozen times with the weapon before she could escape and seek aid.

When Policeman C. R. Syndor, of the Eleventh Precinct, arrived, Showalter was found lying in a pool of blood in the bedroom, a .32-caliber revolver by his side.

Showalter served on the police force from 1907 to 1931, retiring because of bad eyesight.

2 Federal Dry Agents Are Shot in Oklahoma

Stillwell, Okla., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Howard B. Ousler, Federal prohibition agent of Muskogee, and Elmer Philpotts, working with him, were wounded in a pistol fight here today with Ed Dudley, whom they sought for questioning in connection with alleged sale of whisky.

Ousler's condition was pronounced critical. Philpotts was wounded in one leg. Posses of officers from Adair and adjoining counties began a search for Dudley, who escaped.

PLACES HARD TO HEAT
the GASTEAM Radiator

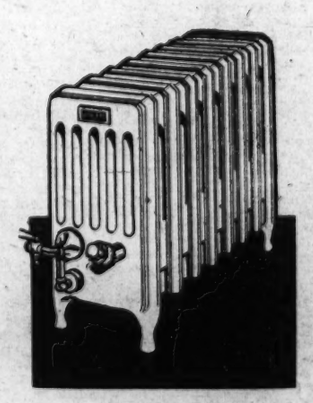
Looks like a radiator—actually is a self-contained automatic gas heating plant. This modern marvel of engineering can be set up anywhere, at any time. Its steam heat is ample to warm stores, churches, and small buildings. It operates automatically, maintaining just the steam pressure needed to keep the temperature you want.



Now there is no longer any need to suffer with "frigid zones"—places that have always been hard to heat. The Clow gasteam radiator will keep them warm in any weather. It is the perfect auxiliary to your present heating system or is ample when used alone to heat small buildings.

Call DIstrict 8500 or any heating contractor for an estimate of installation and operating cost. You'll be pleased at the economy of the gasteam radiator. There are no boilers needed, no complicated piping, but there IS plenty of heat.

WAR THREAT SEEN BY LLOYD GEORGE

Allied Powers Are Accused of Insincerity Toward Germany.

London, Oct. 12 (U.P.).—The nations of the world are quarreling more today than at any time in world history, and there is imminent danger of a new World War, David Lloyd George, dynamic little British statesman, said today in an address before the International Peace Society.

His speech—one of the most eloquent he has made in recent years—decried the present plight of Germany and accused the allied powers of insincerity in their attitude toward Berlin.

As one of the "big three" who framed the treaty of Versailles, Lloyd George bluntly declared that the majority of the signatories of that pact signed with no intention of carrying out its provisions.

"There are more serious misunderstandings, of the kind that make war, at this moment on every continent, than I can recall in the whole of my life," declared the pugnacious little man who served as British premier during the critical years of the war.

"In 1914," he continued, "nobody wanted war. I am now writing the story of the war and, in contemplation, I have come to the definite conclusion that no ruler of any country wanted war. * * * There was a statesman in Austria who said he intended to exterminate what he called a nest of bandits in Serbia. 'Nest of bandits' is an ominous phrase—the same phrase that is being used now in Manchuria."

Lloyd George said that wars are due firstly to quarrels, and secondly to the existence of huge armaments.

Longshoremen's Wage Agreement Is Signed

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The new wage agreement between the International Longshoremen's Association and the New York Shipping Association, affecting some 30,000 pier workers from Maine to Virginia, was signed today.

Under the new agreement, which will be in effect until October 1, 1933, the longshoremen accept a reduction of 10 cents an hour on both day and overtime rates. The new wage scale is 75 cents an hour for a 44-hour week and $1.10 an hour for overtime.

LIBERIAN PROGRAM APPROVED BY U. S.

was actually paid and in 1930, after the Liberian government had made no provisions for the establishment of a sinking fund to amortize the loan, the other payments were stopped.

The present plan of rehabilitation has been carefully worked out by a commission appointed by the League of Nations under the direction of Viscount Cecil. The commission included one Liberian and an American, Samuel D. Reber, jr.

The first draft of the commission was drawn up last year and forwarded to the government at Monrovia, with the formal demurrer of the United States. The Liberian government then agreed to the extension of powers of the chief adviser and bound itself to accept his advice and recommendations. This was the objective of the United States and as the present draft agreement vests the necessary amount of authority in the league's adviser, it has been accepted by this Government.

The position of chief adviser has not yet been definitely fixed by the league's commission, but it is confidently expected that the league will appoint an American.

Firm's Decision in Doubt.

The decision of the American Finance Corporation is still in doubt. The corporation in its letter to the Department of State agreed to send a representative to the next meeting of the commission in Geneva, but withheld formal approval of the draft convention as it stands. In its letter to the department, the corporation stated:

"The general principles are receiving our careful study and although we are not satisfied that the general principles are as yet in form to afford a solution, we are willing to send a representative to Geneva to explore in negotiation the possibility of agreement on a plan mutually acceptable and that will be of practical benefit to Liberia and her people."

The present plan calls for an outlay of aproximately $300,000, which the American company is expected to furnish. Of course, the league itself or the United States might furnish the money, but it is not believed likely that Congress would agree to the appropriation of any money for use in Liberia which might cause the cry of imperialistic designs by the United States in Africa to be raised.

The league itself is in no position to make further disbursements when its own financial position is so very precarious. For this reason the sole hope of a successful working out of the plan rests with the decision of the Firestone subsidiary.

Would Make Three Provinces.

Under the proposed plan, Liberia would be divided into three provinces. The Liberian government would engage three foreign experts as commissioners of the provinces subject to the recommendation of the League of Nations. The chief advisor would be in reality the head of the state as appeals from his decisions would be made only to the World Court in matters of a juridical nature and to the council of the league for all other claims. It is still further provided that the council's decision on such matters be unanimous, but Liberia's vote shall not count.

What may correspond to an armed force is provided in the agreement under the heading of "messengers." They are in reality a frontier force and are to be under the orders of the various commissioners.

The present sanitary conditions of the country are exceedingly primitive, and one American minister has already died of yellow fever there. The posts in Liberia are so hazardous that it is regarded as highly courageous for any diplomatic officer to go there. Henry Litchfield West, a prominent Washingtonian, has long been an expert in Liberian affairs and is at the present time in Monrovia. He was one time head of an organization which provided for the repatriation of American Negroes who wanted to go back to Liberia.

Foreign News in Brief

Paris, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The cabinet today fixed October 25 as the date for reopening of parliament. This session will be devoted chiefly to a report on the disarmament negotiations at Geneva by Joseph Paul-Boncour.

Paris, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—A report that Andre Francois-Poncet was soon to resign as French Ambassador to Germany was officially denied today. The Ambassador was in Paris yesterday, and had a long talk with Premier Herriot. It was said in informed quarters that he is eager to return here, but was persuaded to remain at Berlin.

Guenzburg, Bavaria, Oct. 12 (A.P.). Adolf Hitler began his campaign today for the Reichstag elections on November 6 with a speech violently condemning Chancellor von Papen's economic program. He said it was sheer impudence to expect him to cooperate with the present cabinet, and he swore he would play second fiddle to nobody on earth. He is to make 60 speeches in the next three weeks, traveling from place to place by automobile and airplane.

Berlin, Oct. 12, (A.P.).—Ignatius Timothy Trebitsch-Lincoln, notorious adventurer known to the police of a dozen countries, turned up today in the garb of a Buddhist monk under the name of Chao Kung, and said he intended to lecture here on Buddhism.

Mexico City, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Dr. Alexander Alekhine, of Paris, and Isac Kashdan, of New York, gained further victories in the fifth round of the International Chess Masters Tournament last night. The former now leads with five straight wins, and the latter is second with four straight.

Lwow, Poland, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—A fruitless attack by a group of men on the sentries of an ammunition store led police today to search the home of an Ukrainian student, where they found a secret printing press, for which, they said, they had been looking for months.

Berlin, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—A National Socialist meeting which was scheduled at the Sportspalast at 8 p. m., today was forbidden by the police. They charged that the Nazis, since the beginning of the present political campaign, have been most active in breaking up the meetings of their opponents.

Asuncion, Paraguay, Oct. 12 (A.P.). A bulletin issued today by the ministry of war said the Paraguayan army had captured Fort Lara and Fort Cabacastillo from the Bolivians in the Gran Chaco.

Malmo, Sweden, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The Prince of Wales and Prince George, who have been visiting Sweden, left today by airplane for Hamburg.

Blast Kills Hero Of Bombing Plot

Man Who Balked Explosion in Oklahoma in 1915 Is Victim.

Sapulpa, Okla., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Oscar Bond, 45, hero of an attempted newspaper bombing here 17 years ago, died today in the explosion of a nitroglycerin magazine. In 1915, when vandals threatened to destroy the plant of the Sapulpa Herald because of scathing editorials attacking civic conditions, Bond entered the darkened building and carefully carried out a 35-foot length of rubber hose which had been filled with nitroglycerin and wrapped around the printing press. A faulty fuse and cap had prevented its explosion.

Six hundred quarts of nitroglycerin blew up the magazine of Bond's Torpedo Co. while he was at work there today. County officers said Bond might have dropped a container while loading his motor car for oil field jobs.

The car was scattered piecemeal for half a mile. Nearby trees 12 inches thick were snapped and shrubbery over an area of three acres was leveled by the explosion.

Japan Is Declared Set in Manchuria

U. S. Publisher of Tokyo Paper Says Force Only Will Oust Nation.

Honolulu, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—B. W. Fleisher, American publisher of the Japan Advertiser, Tokyo, in an interview published today expressed the opinion the only thing that will drive Japan out of Manchuria will be a superior military force, and no nation is going to apply that to save a treaty.

Fleisher, a passenger on the steamer President Coolidge, is en route to the United States.

"The League of Nations cannot apply force," he said. "Neither the United States nor any other nation will."

Plane Propeller Kills Passenger at Airport

Pittsburgh, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Fred Howe, 32, of Brooklyn, N. Y., passenger on a transport plane that arrived at the county airport today from Newark, N. J., was killed when he walked into the ship's whirring propeller. Seven other passengers saw the accident.

The pilot of the ship, operated by Transcontinental & Western Air, and others yelled at the man as he walked toward the propeller, heal bent against the wind, but he failed to heed their warnings.

Sugar Plants Reopen; Workers Called Back

Salt Lake City, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The West Jordan Sugar Factory of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Co. opened a three-months run today, giving employment to 350 men.

Another plant owned by the company, at Spanish Fork, Utah, opened Monday with approximately 300 men going to work, while a third—at Garland, Utah—will open Thursday with about 300 men on the pay roll.

Two Guilty in Murder Of Wife in Michigan

Detroit, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Alex Wysocki, 38-year-old retail meat dealer, and Ira Sams, 23, were convicted today of first degree murder for the death of Wysocki's wife, Mary, in what the prosecution termed a plot inspired by the merchant's affection for another woman.

Sentences of life imprisonment will be imposed October 20.

Quiz in Death of Film Director Is Tomorrow

Los Angeles, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—An inquest will be held Friday into the death of George Davidson, 32-year-old director of screen tests for Fox Film studio, found shot to death yesterday in his apartment, apparently a suicide.

Deputy sheriffs expressed belief that a tangle of love and finances impelled Davidson to kill himself.

WIDE PLOT TO OUST STALIN IS REVEALED

24 Caught in Trade Scheme; U. S. Party Told to Seek Equality for Negroes.

Moscow, Oct. 12 (U.P.).—A dramatic story of how certain leaders within the Communist party plotted the overthrow of Josef Stalin and his immediate associates was disclosed in the Soviet capital today after 24 prominent Communists had been expelled from the party.

The aim of the conspirators, it was said, was primarily to revise the economic policies of the Soviet regime. The disclosures were made in a speech by Lazar Kaganowitch, one of Stalin's closest associates and a member of the political bureau, and in an editorial carried by the Soviet newspaper Pravda.

Dissolution of the collective farms—one of Soviet Russia's most ambitious undertakings—was planned by the conspirators, who likewise intended to invite foreign capital to assume control of Soviet industries.

It was said that Gregory Zinoviev, once president of the Communist International and one of those expelled, did not actually participate in the plot. They were accused, however, of knowing that it existed without notifying the government.

Among the others expelled with Zinoviev were Lev Kamenev, former Ambassador to Italy; Nicholas Uglanov, former commissar of labor; Paul Petrovsky, son of Gregory Petrovsky, president of the Ukrainian republic, and Prof. Yat Sten, noted philosopher.

Love Falters, Money Rises In Worry Poll

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Student worries about love, social affairs and religion appear to have dropped during the depression, says a survey made public at Purdue University today.

This survey compares the things which worried students sufficiently to interfere with their studies in 1929 and in the present year. It was made among students of elementary psychology by Dr. G. C. Brandenburg and his staff.

The big worry both times has been "school work," and the percentage of worriers was 56 for both years. The only increase in worry has been over financial affairs, a sizable jump from 40 per cent in 1928 to 55 in 1932.

Worry over love affairs decreased from 12 per cent to 10; social affairs from 17 to 12; religious matters from 5 per cent to 4; family affairs from 21 per cent to 19.

Balancing total decreases against the one increase, worries have risen a net of 5 per cent.

Salvage Crew Believes Sunken Gold Accursed

Lewes, Del., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The crew of the salvage ship Cape, grounded on Pea Patch Island Dyke, were about ready today to concede that some sort of curse must hang over the Spanish gold that went down with the British sloop Debraak in 1798.

The Cape, sister ship of the salvage vessel Katie Durm, which burned and sank two weeks ago, went aground and was wrecked last night, with the loss of valuable diving apparatus, and the crew was picked up by a Government boat and landed at New Castle, Del.

MUSIC TO REPLACE ADDRESS AT G. W. U.

National Symphony Orchestra Will Honor Haydn at Convocation Tonight.

Establishing a precedent in the history of academic assemblies in this country, a symphony concert will replace an address at a convocation of George Washington University tonight at Constitution Hall.

The 168 students who will be graduated will be bidden an inspirational farewell from their alma mater in the form of a symphony played by the National Symphony Orchestra. The occasion will mark the university's official observance of the 200th anniversary of the birth of Haydn, the Austrian composer, the first great modern composer in the history of music.

Hans Kindler, conductor of the orchestra, will be honored with the degree of doctor of music. Members of the Diplomatic Corps and academic and music circles will attend the convocation.

The ceremonies will be opened with a preliminary program of organ music played by John Russell Mason, associate librarian of the university. At 8:45 p. m. the academic procession will enter the hall, led by the university marshal, Dr. Elmer Louis Keyser. The Rev. Dr. William S. Abernethy, of the Calvary Baptist Church, will offer the invocation.

The National Symphony Orchestra will play Haydn's Symphony in D Major and the overture, "Die Meistersinger." The orchestra will be presented by Dr. William Allen Wilbur, provost of the university. Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, the president, will confer the degrees.

TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES

Newark, Ohio, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Two men, neighbors of Perry Fowler, 62-year-old farmer who was tortured last night when he refused to reveal the hiding place of his money, were arrested here today. The men, Henry Rowe and his son, Ralph, were accused by Fowler in an affidavit of being the men who tortured him in his farm home near Johnstown.

Cleveland, Oct. 12 (U.P.).—The dream of railroad builders seeking a shorter route to the Pacific Coast was a step nearer realization tonight after final organization of the Denver & Salt Lake Western Railroad Co. with authority to proceed with construction of the Dotsero cut-off.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Two champions of prohibition repeal—Alfred E. Smith and Republican Senator Hiram Bingham—will address the testimonial banquet of the women's organization for prohibition reform in honor of Mrs. Charles Sabin, October 26. The dinner will be a nonpartisan affair.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Louis Henry Perlman, who built a fortune from a fit of irritation, is dead. During an automobile trip in 1900, he had to change four tires and inflate each with a hand pump. The experience so disgusted him that he invented the demountable rim for auto wheels. Mr. Perlman, who was 70, died Monday in Flushing, where he had a home. He also had a dwelling at Montrose, N. Y.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The Rev. Thomas M. Huston, of Whitinsville, Mass., today is the moderator of the New York Synod of the United Presbyterian Church, now in annual session here. He was elected last night as the meeting got under way with 150 delegates from New England, New York, eastern Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia in attendance.

THE INDIAN RAID
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the celebrated artist, Fred Madan . . . inspired by that wild, bloody scramble of covered wagons in the Colorado Gold Rush (1858), as described in the National Geographic Magazine. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

Copr., 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

THE BAR ASSOCIATION.

This year's meeting of the American Bar Association will be long remembered, on account of its coincidence with the laying of the cornerstone of the Supreme Court building. The assembling of the leading lawyers of the country at Washington is in itself a notable and welcome event, and the discussions now going on are contributing to the public welfare in many directions. The welcoming address by President Hoover last night fittingly expressed the people's appreciation of the public-spirited work of jurists and lawyers past and present.

If law is a rule laid down by an authority capable of enforcing it, which means in this country a rule laid down by the people in the public interest, a good lawyer is an expert who strives to interpret and give effect to the people's will. No more valuable work could be performed by an American citizen. It is statesmanship in everyday work—the building of the nation.

President Hoover reminds the country that lawyers framed the Constitution and are potent in the "art of human relations." He paid a splendid tribute to the United States Supreme Court, which comes with especial grace from a President's lips. He asks lawyers of this generation to take their rightful part in forming public opinion, when economic distress tempts the thoughtless to blame the system of government under which they live. The President suggests to the wise and trusted men of the law that they should "explain to the people how often in history the people's interests have been betrayed by false prophets of a millennium, promised through seductive but unworkable and disastrous theories of government." This menace is facing the people today. Mr. Hoover says:

> The menace is doubled by the fact that these vain allurements are today being offered to our harassed people by men of public reputation in economics and even by men in public life.

It is President Hoover's aim to meet the national economic emergency by extraordinary measures which alone can succeed, and yet to make sure that the extraordinary measures shall not undermine or weaken established institutions; and that after the emergency has passed the measures adopted to master it shall pass also, leaving American institutions intact and unimpaired. The program which has been worked out by the aid of men of all parties is now being executed by nonpartisan officials. Against this program it is proposed to adopt new, strange, and untried experiments in government, some of them antagonistic to the American spirit.

No body of men can more accurately gauge the nature and effect of these panaceas than the members of the American Bar Association. They know the nature of the American system of institutions, and by this knowledge they can estimate the effect which some of the currently proposed "reforms" would have upon these institutions.

The question whether Federal control of enterprise shall be extended, under the guise of extended regulation or directly by avowed belief in the efficacy of socialistic methods, is one primarily for lawyers to consider. The complication resulting from two governments, one Federal and one State, has given rise to a multitude of problems which have been solved successfully by lawyers. Under rulings of great jurists the States remain indestructible so far as their rights are concerned; but not even the Supreme Court can prevent the States from failing to exercise their powers. Mr. Hoover asks the lawyers of the country to help in forming the intelligent public opinion which will hold the States and the Federal Government in their true orbits. They can be more effective than other citizens, also, in inculcating fundamental respect for law.

The presence of members of the bar from all parts of the Union will contribute to the historic importance of the ceremony today, when Chief Justice Hughes will lay the cornerstone of the building which is to be the repository of the liberty of the American citizen, safeguarded by just law.

DEPRECIATED CURRENCY.

In an address at Elmira, N. Y., Commissioner of Customs Eble directed special attention to the effect of depreciated currency upon American foreign trade. This factor has not been sufficiently emphasized in the controversy over tariff revision. Commissioner Eble's remarks should serve to emphasize the argument against tinkering with the tariff under present conditions.

The gold standard has been suspended by 21 nations, and 20 others have failed to maintain their currencies at par. Many of the United States' best customers are included in this list, such as Great Britain, Canada and Japan. The currency of Spain has fallen 58 per cent in value and that of Japan 50 per cent. These countries find it difficult to buy from the United States because it requires twice as much of their money to buy an American product as it did when they were on the gold standard. At the same time it is easy for them to sell to this country, because they pay 50 per cent less for labor and raw materials. This situation is undoubtedly a large factor in the sharp decline of exports and the relatively small decline of imports.

In some instances the advantages acquired by foreign manufacturers result in disaster for American enterprises. Japan is shipping large quantities of china, porcelain, earthenware, sport shoes, rubber goods, rugs, trinkets, canned fish and various other products into the United States at prices far below the American cost of production. Even Germany is able to sell many articles here at a fraction of American prices. Commissioner Eble showed his audience two pocket knives, one imported from Germany at a landed cost of 70 cents per dozen, and the other made in this country at a cost of $2.63 per dozen. They are comparable in quality. The German knife pays a duty amounting to nearly 100 per cent ad valorem. Yet it can be sold in this country, duty paid, for a little more than one-fourth the cost of producing the American knife.

Obviously the chief difference in these costs is labor. The importation of large volumes of cheap foreign merchandise from countries off the gold standard is a direct blow to American workingmen. In view of the Democratic demand for lower duties in the face of this situation, Commissioner Eble insists that the plank promising shorter hours and less work for labor is the most honest part of the Democratic platform.

With industry in a prostrate condition, Commissioner Eble says that increased foreign competition would be equivalent to assaulting a sick man. Unfortunately, the public does not know the extent to which cheap foreign merchandise has displaced American goods, thus adding to unemployment in this country in a most critical period. The data gathered by Commissioner Eble ought to be broadcast throughout the country, so that the people will not vote for more intense foreign competition in ignorance of what it means.

BORAH'S PATENT REMEDY.

The net effect of Senator Borah's program of economic recovery is to make the public thankful that he speaks only for himself. Only one of the four points on which the senator's program is based has any significance so far as the present campaign is concerned, and that is safely non-partisan. He demands reduction of governmental expenditures. Both major parties favor rigid economy. It is surprising that Senator Borah would advocate any reform on which there is such general agreement.

Senator Borah's first point—a demand for settlement of post-war problems—is too nebulous for concrete analysis. Presumably he means reduction of the war debts, disarmament and revision of the treaty of Versailles. Senator Borah is a recent convert to debt revision. No one has more forcefully proved that cancellation of the debts would not restore prosperity than has the senator himself in addresses to the Senate. The American Government is now doing all in its power to bring about disarmament. Europe and not the United States is holding up this obvious aid to recovery. Unless Senator Borah has some magic formula by which he can induce European nations to do what they have steadfastly refused to do ever since the war, this part of his scheme is not worth much as a basis for recovery. Revision of the post-war European treaties is another factor quite beyond the jurisdiction of the United States.

Point number two in the Borah program involves what President Hoover has called the rubber dollar. The senator is still dreaming of expanding the currency to give the farmer more money. One would expect him to be disillusioned by the failure of the inflation scheme he forced through Congress last spring as a rider to the Home Loan Bank bill. He might also note that the volume of currency now outstanding is far larger than it was during the prosperous times of 1929. But facts do not interest the Idahoan when he sets out to cure the world of its ills.

Finally, Senator Borah wants debts adjusted. It is true that debts have grown to larger proportion with the decline of security values, commodity prices and the value of property. This is indeed a serious problem. But what does Senator Borah propose to do about it? Private debts are fixed by private contract. The Government could not intervene in the private business of its citizens without violating rights that it was established to protect. This situation is being handled by the extension of credit and stimulation of economic recovery so that debts may once more resume their normal relationship to incomes and property values.

Senator Borah proposes to take the sick world by the throat and shake it into good health. Even he should not be surprised that the great majority of people fear his patent remedy more than they fear the depression.

Senator Glass says the United States could not possibly have been in danger of going off the gold standard because he knew nothing about it.

The melancholy days are here, when trees and politicians turn yellow and roorbacks are ripening.

Eradication of the starlings would help some, but there would still be the lame ducks.

CHINA'S CASE

By SAO-KE ALFRED SZE, Chinese Minister, on the Anniversary of the Founding of the Republic of China.

When, at times, I have felt some dissatisfaction with the manner in which China has been faring I have immediately overcome this threatened discouragement by considering the fundamental respects in which undoubted progress is to be noted. Perhaps the chief of these reasons for encouragement in the steady growth of nationalism and true patriotism among the great body of the Chinese people.

The Chinese people have long had a just pride in, and loyalty to, their own culture—a culture which is indigenous to them, which has been handed down to them for so many centuries, and which, in its essential qualities, is homogeneous throughout all China. However, it is only recently that this national self-respect and loyalty has taken on a decisively political aspect, that is to say, one that demands that China's sovereignty and territorial and administrative integrity shall be respected by the other nations of the world.

A further significance of this rise of political nationalism among the Chinese is the fact that it carries with it an increasing recognition upon their part that, in the last resort, the manner in which, and the speed with which, the national regeneration of China is to be realized will depend, in very large measure, upon the Chinese themselves.

Thinking Chinese of the present day know that the Chinese must work out their own political and social salvation, but they are concerned that other nations, by unrighteous and essentially hostile acts, should not place obstacles in the way of such a realization, and especially they are concerned that, for the maintenance of China's sovereign rights and territorial and administrative integrity, the Chinese people shall not be compelled to employ means or methods which are not in consonance with their inherited ideals. Especially is it hoped that in order to protect herself China will not find herself obliged to develop along militaristic lines.

Perhaps you may wish me to say some words regarding the present Sino-Japanese situation, and especially with regard to the recommendations made by the Lytton report for the peaceful and permanent settlement of the fundamental issues between China and Japan. Comments upon these proposals, whether by way of acceptance, modification or rejection, can most properly come from the government at Nanking. However, it will not, I think, be improper for me to point out that in its findings of fact the commission supports the fundamental propositions asserted by China since the beginning of the controversy in its acute form in September of last year.

The report is a unanimous one and based upon careful investigations upon the spot. It finds that the acts of the Japanese military in Manchuria have had no valid justification upon grounds of self-defense, and that the establishment of the so-called state of Manchukuo was not the spontaneous act of the people of Manchuria, but, upon the contrary, was brought about and made possible only by the presence of Japanese troops in Manchuria and with their active aid.

From these two fundamental propositions it follows, of necessity, that, judicially speaking, there can be no denial that Japan has violated her obligations as a member of the League of Nations and as a signatory of the Washington Nine-Power Treaty of 1922, for the only argument which Japan has advanced and could advance to escape from the charge that she has acted in violation of the covenant of the league has been that she had acted in self-defense; and the only way in which she could seek to free herself from the indictment that she has repudiated her solemn promise in the Nine-Power Treaty "to respect the sovereignty, the independence and the territorial and administrative integrity of China" has been that she was not responsible for the creation of the so-called state of Manchukuo.

It is believed that outside of Japan the world will accept with unanimity these two findings of fact by the Lytton Commission to which I have referred. Based upon these premises, China looks forward in confidence to the support of the other powers in her determination to free herself from the forms of political control which Japan is seeking to impose upon her.

Fire Prevention Week!

POST HASTE.

Mr. Coolidge speaks the unvarnished truth—no calsomine from Cal.

"Things are worse elsewhere; they could be a great deal worse here; they would have been worse but for the vision, courage and leadership of President Hoover." A multum in parvo Coolidgeism.

Sulking political mavericks at this stage of the game deserve no future consideration.

Al Smith is trying to get back on the range, but Senator Borah asks the parties to join him in boosting his individual four-point platform.

With his juvenile conception of monetary matters Senator Borah apparently does not know that it is not the amount of circulating medium available, but the pace at which it circulates, which gauges prosperity.

Huey Long is the last of the radicals, eager to enter the Democratic campaign, to visit New York headquarters and Albany and come away with wilted enthusiasm.

Senators Borah and Norris may be such unconscionable egotists that they think they can continue to flout their party, its principles and its candidates, and still hold its important Senate chairmanships, but it will be a humiliating exhibition if they are permitted to do so after this campaign.

If the lawyers have discovered that criminals are being financed by profits from illicit liquor, that must make it unanimous.

Greece spotted Insull quickly enough, but the idea of keeping him on same seems to be all American to Athens.

"Pu-Yi would regain Chinese dynasty." Henry had better not monkey with Japan's plans; dynasty has a sinister sound.

The trade sharks who match statistics say the present seasonal business increase has special significance because of the contrast with the declining trends of the same period of the last two years. This relieves you of any comment this week on the increasing car loadings.

JUST FOLKS

SELF-IMPORTANCE.

The man was very serious and pompous and imperious
A most important citizen beyond the slightest doubt;
For grown-ups always bowed to him, and flatterers kow-towed to him
While seekers after favors used to follow him about.

One day the wind his hat blew off and with it down the street flew off.
It bowled it over curb and track, as if it didn't know,
Or knowing didn't care at all that great men cannot bear at all
To have their shining hats removed by all the winds that blow.

But even more disturbing was the fact that on the curbing was
A little boy of seven or eight who dared to laugh aloud,
A little chap supremely bright, who thought it was a funny sight
To see a hat being chased by one so very stiff and proud.

Big man, remember any day the wind can blow your hat away
And set you running after it, as commoners must do;
And though in deference to your pride, their mirth the grown-up flatterers hide,
Not caring who or what you are a child will laugh at you.

A Volcano Never Seems Dreadful to Those Who Live in Its Shadow

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE cobra of India is the most deadly of all reptiles. Its venom is five times more virulent than that of the rattlesnake. Victims die quickly and their number seldom falls below 8,000 a month.

The cobra survives because it is sacred. The peculiar mark on the back of its neck is accepted by the natives as proof of the legend that it once spread its hood to shield Allah from the sun. That service makes it immune and none will lift a hand against it.

If a similar menace threatened Americans, every child would be taught to hate it. No parent would rest until his children were made to realize the danger and to arm themselves against it.

Is that an unreasonable supposition?

Perhaps it is, for in America there is a menace equally dreadful and the people are so accustomed to it and so indifferent to its threat that no more than casual effort is made to overcome it.

If people realized the magnitude of its toll, their fight against it would be desperate and unceasing. Press and pulpit and school would unite in unremitting warfare to destroy it.

If that war had been waged for half a century, zealously and intelligently, there would be no present need of jails.

There would be no depression, for there would have been no offering of worthless stocks and bonds, no risking of other people's property, no duping of the unwary, no exaggeration of values.

No banker would have loaned himself the money of his depositors; no official would have ridden or distorted facts to win a personal gain; none would have betrayed his countrymen for the sake of a commission.

Now you recognize the menace and you smile. It is so common, so ordinary, so simple. A thing so usual doesn't seem very alarming.

But dishonesty and untruth have brought our nation to its knees, filled it with suffering, and made it the butt of the world's scorn.

There isn't an economic or social problem or a fault or harmful thing in our national life but has its roots in dishonor and deceit.

Perhaps the cobra would be regarded as an unfortunate but inevitable development of our civilization if we were accustomed to seeing it on our best lawns.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Hoover on the Stump.

Detroit News.

President Hoover's Des Moines speech, being his answer to Gov. Roosevelt's Western speeches upon agriculture and finance, elicits the political interpretation first. We think the appeal the familiar one. Why change horses while crossing a stream? Especially when the stream is a turbulent river in flood, with the ford difficult and dangerous? And more especially when the change would occur as the present horses and he, the driver, together have drawn and guided the country through the worst and should be best qualified to reach the safe shore soon?

An interesting dramatization fortifies the tried and strong argument. Vivid indeed is the picturization of the economic cataclysm amidst which Mr. Hoover has struggled and wrought. They are fascinating contributions which he makes to the history of that crucial hour when our Treasury faced early abandonment of the gold standard. His "humanization" of the fight to save the Nation's banking system possesses graphic effectiveness. Readers and audiences could realize full well the shallowness of contention that the good effects of preserving a going fiscal system and the fundamentals of business life—banks, insurance companies, railroads, bond values—do not spread into all walks of life.

Better than before, we see Mr. Hoover, in the seething ferment of a crashing world meeting emergency on emergency with resolute and dauntless competency.

A Question, Mr. Roosevelt.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Throughout his campaign thus far Gov. Roosevelt has been admirably frank and thorough. Taking up the chief issues of the year in logical order, he has discussed them fully and intelligently. There has been no evidence of pussy-footing. But on one question the silence of the Democratic nominee has been oppressive. That question is the so-called bonus to veterans of the World War.

President Hoover has shown by his official acts and his forthright campaign statements that he is unalterably opposed to the immediate cash payment of adjusted service certificates. His positive and final stand on this troublesome question has gone far to relieve the minds of citizens fearful of another raid on the Treasury. Though he needs the soldier vote as badly as does his opponent, the President has been completely candid.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Carolina Democrat Shocked by Flirtation of Miss Democracy With Republican Deserters While She Slays Her Defenders Down South.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A recent cartoon showing Miss Democracy in fond embrace of certain recalcitrants and rebellious senators and other officeholders of the Republican faith, such as Senator Norris, of Nebraska, and Senator Johnson, of California, indicates that the purpose of Gov. Roosevelt's visit to the West was to woo those inharmonious personalities. The Democratic press universally hails the effort with praise, and that brings me to contrast the liberality of the Democratic attitude, North and West, with its intolerant and deadly attitude in the South.

The head of the ticket has made a flirtatious round of the circle encouraging rebellion among Republican politicians and welcoming them into the folds of Democracy by deserting the trusts imposed by Republican electorates; and so approving is the Democratic attitude that the cartoon in quesion has been brought out showing Miss Democracy engaged in a regular "necking" spree with the Republican deserters. But Miss Democracy is not so "sweet" down South. The new-made political grave of Hon. Fernifold M. Simmons, of North Carolina, greatest supporter of President Wilson in the wartime Senate and Democracy's most sensible authority on the tariff for several decades, evidences the deadly vengeance which Miss Democracy exercises in her most natural environment. The gay Old Lady may drop the handkerchief for the gallant Senators Norris and Johnson, but her ancient snuffbox is filled with pepper and bitter aloes, and among her tools of the vanity case she carries a deadly stiletto.

There are other political graves among her former followers in the South, but the old dame never heaves a sigh; she thinks not of the past, but is busily engaged in flirting with the prospects of the present and hopes of the future.

CAROLINA DEMOCRAT.

Charlotte, N. C.

"New Deal" Is Socialism, Says Correspondent, Who Warns Against Government Despotism.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The most vital issue in the present campaign is power in Government. The basic principle of American liberty is that Government shall have power to regulate and control only to prevent injury to the body politic. The "new concept," now enforced in many instances by usurpation of power, is that Government shall have power to regulate, control and even own and dictate, provided some governmental agency in its divine wisdom decides that such regulation, control, ownership or dictation is essential to the public welfare. This "new concept" is fast destroying our constitutional republic, and is the chief cause of our present economic depression and governmental chaos.

President Hoover is now fighting to preserve the principles of American liberty, which are always in danger in time of war or domestic distress. His program is for temporary governmental aid within the underlying principles of our Government. Many of his relief organizations are loaded with dynamite. They could easily result in wholesale governmental ownership of business unless properly controlled and abolished when the depression ends.

Will the voters now place in charge of this necessary but dangerous relief machinery Gov. Roosevelt, who is an open advocate of governmental ownership of business, and whose visionary "new concept," "new deal," is nothing more than the age-old concept of despotism that ever leads to bloodshed and destruction? Roosevelt's policies contain the brand of socialism that requires despotic power to enforce it. A vote for Hoover is a vote to preserve American principles. A vote for Roosevelt is a vote for Russian or Italian despotism basking in the iridescent light of visionary Socialism, which is impossible without such despotism.

ALFRED D. RADLEY.

Thinks Al Smith Will Swing Nation to Roosevelt.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As Al goes, so goes the Nation.

Undoubtedly Al Smith was and still is of the opinion that the Democratic party did not nominate the most able candidate available. After months of careful study he has obviously concluded the choice within is better than the choice without. In other words, he believes that Roosevelt rather than Hoover should extricate this country from the conditions which have caused so much misery and suffering.

In 1928 there was a protest vote against the greatest American of our time. This year a protest vote against the immediate beneficiary of that protest vote will be recorded in November.

As Al goes, so goes the Nation.

B. V. D.

Strange Campaign, Everybody Polite, Bouquets Exchanged by Parties.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: This is indeed an amazing campaign. Republican editors admit unabashed that Mr. Roosevelt is a gentleman and has given New York a passable administration as Governor. Democratic editors hardly feel a scruple over the admission that President Hoover is a great executive with a kind heart and a keen sense of his responsibilities. Neither side believes the opposition is wholly selfish, or its platform entirely lacking in merit. And Republican and Democratic office-holders still have the temerity to shake hands publicly. These are strange times indeed!

for the more formal season

What are you going to do about your hair? Play-days are over. It is time to give thought to the onset of social functions that require more formal attire and coiffures. As the gay 90's inspire the new fashions—so they inspire the new coiffures, for there is a close relationship between one's hair and clothes. But there is nothing of a Godey-print look about them—there is a charm that is distinctly 1932. Try the new pompadour moderne or have your hair thinned and curled in ringlets and see how much smarter your hat or frock is—how much lovelier you look.

EVENTS IN CAPITAL SOCIETY

Mrs. Hoover Honor Guest of Newspaper Women's Club.

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. HOOVER attended the meeting of the American Bar Association last evening, the President addressing the meeting.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Hoover was the guest of honor at a tea given by the members of the Newspaper Women's Club of Washington at the National Press Club. Mrs. Hoover was accompanied by her three secretaries, Miss Mildred Hall, Miss Doris Goss and Mrs. Ferederick Butler. The First Lady was met by the executive officers of the club and escorted to the tea room where she was received by the president of the club, Mrs. Hobart Brooks, who presented her to the members.

The room was decorated with red dahlias and palms, which were sent through the courtesy of Mr. George W. Hess, director of the Botannic Gardens, in compliment to Mrs. Hoover.

Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, one of the associate members of the club who was present, presiden at the tea table for a time, alternating with the officers of the club.

The Charge d'Affaires of Chile, Senor Don Emilio Edwards Bello, who is also Chilean Minister to Cuba and Venezuela, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given yesterday by the Minister of Venezuela and Senora de Arcaya.

The other guests were the Charge d'Affaires of Costa Rica, Senor Don Manuel Gonzalez-Zaledon; the Charge d'Affaires of Paraguay and Senora de Ynsfran; Dr. Leo S. Rowe, Director General of the Pan-American Union; Dr. and Mrs. Bolivar Lloyd, and the Counselor of the Venezuelan legation, Senor Don Luis Churion.

The Governor of the Territory of Hawaii, Lawrence M. Judd, who has been at the Willard for the last ten days, entertained at luncheon in the Presidential Suite of the Willard yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert D. Brown were the guests in whose honor Mr. and Mrs. M. Doyle Marks entertained on Sunday evening at a large supper party at their home in Elmira, N. Y. Mr. Brown was invited to address the company on the subject of government organization problems and Mrs. Brown was invited to speak about her book, "Grandmother Brown's Hundred Years."

Douglas Robinson To Wed Miss Louise Miller.

Former Gov. and Mrs. Nathan L. Miller, of New York and Oyster Bay, Long Island, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Louise Miller, to Mr. Douglas Robinson, son of the former Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Theodore Douglas Robinson. Mr. Robinson is the brother of Miss Alida Robinson, Mrs. John Arthur Hinckley, and Mrs. Jacques Blaise de Sibour, of Washington. He was graduated from St. Paul's School and later attended Harvard University.

Miss Miller is one of the seven daughters of former Gov. and Mrs. Miller, and the twin sister of Miss Eleanor Miller. She attended the Brearley School, in New York, and Mme. Payen's School in Paris. She is a member of the Junior League.

Mr. Robinson is a grandson of Mrs. Douglas Robinson and the late Mr. Robinson and a grandnephew of President Theodore Roosevelt. On the maternal side—his mother is the former Miss Helen R. Roosevelt—he is a grandson of the late James Roosevelt, and a great-grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Astor. His Grandfather Roosevelt was a half-brother of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and his father is a first cousin of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Governor of the Philippines, is another cousin.

REAL ESTATE BOARD ELECTS H. C. BANGS

New Chief Executive Brings Wide Experience to His New Post.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Election of H. Clifford Bangs to the presidency of the Washington Real Estate Board brings to the chief executive's chair in that organization a man of wide experience in business leasing and in the activities of both the local and national associations.

During the present year Mr. Bangs, who has served on important committees and divisions of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, was named Washington representative of Realty Brokers, Inc., of New York, a Nation-wide organization specializing in store leases, property management, sales and general real estate service.

J. F. M. Bowie, retiring president of the board, is vice president of the H. L. Rust Co. At the time of his election to the presidency, the Washington Realtor, local board publication, stated his 30 years' service with the Rust Co. paralleled his service with the board. Fidelity to his work for the Rust Co. since 1901, when he started in a modest position in its rent department, resulted in his rise to the vice presidency of that firm.

For a number of years he served the board as chairman of the property management committee and by reason of his research and close study of its problems, he was of invaluable aid to the board and became recognized as an outstanding authority in this branch of real estate.

With his unusual skill and extensive experience, he has been a leading factor in the preparation of rules and in standardizing ethics and practices dealing with property management. He approached the presidency through service, respectively, as second and first vice presidents.

James P. Schick, president National Mortgage & Investment Corporation, elected first vice president of the board, succeeds Claud Livingston, president of William H. Saunders Co., Inc., and John T. Meany, president of Stone & Fairfax, follows William J. Flather, jr., of Glover & Flather, as second vice president. Both Messrs. Livingston and Flather have been elected to the board's directorate.

PRESIDENT

Bachrach.

H. CLIFFORD BANGS,
newly elected president of the Washington Real Estate Board.

British Exports Get Free Entry

$8,000,000 of Goods Go to Canada With No Duty Levy.

London, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Under the terms of imperial commerce agreements on British exports to Canada, as summarized today in an authoritative quarter, 40 per cent of British exports will enjoy immediately the advantage of customs duties lower than those previously in force.

British goods to the value of $8,000,000 will have free entry to the Dominion market.

The complete schedule of all agreements, issued this afternoon, provides for immediate modification by Canada of import duties on 215 items. In 132 cases duties on British goods are reduced and in 79 additional cases British goods will enter Canada duty free for the first time.

Cuba Sugar Production For 1933 Will Be Less

Havana, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Cuba's sugar production in 1933 probably will be restricted to 2,000,000 tons—perhaps less. A decree fixing the size of the crop will be given President Machado for signature as soon as the Dutch government ratifies export figures allotted at the recent conference at Brussels.

Javanese producers already have agreed to Cuba's demand that she be allowed to export 1,000,000 tons to Europe next year, but their accord must be approved by the Dutch government.

Production this year was about 2,700,000 tons.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The New York Stock Exchange and other principal security and commodity exchanges in the United States were closed today in observance of Columbus Day. Banks and many business offices were also closed.

An issue of $1,200,000 of first refunding mortgage gold bonds, bearing a coupon rate of 4½ per cent, of the Rockland Light & Power Co., are slated for public offering by a banking syndicate tomorrow. The bonds will be priced at 93½ and accrued interest.

Herbert F. Boynton, of F. S. Moseley & Co., chairman of the Moffat Tunnel supplemental bondholders' protective committee, said in a statement today that the controversy over the validity of the bonds "has proceeded a long way toward a successful conclusion." He pointed to the refusal of the United States Supreme Court to review the decision of the circuit court of appeals in upholding the bonds, and explained the matter is still pending before the supreme court of Colorado, but in the event of an adverse opinion by that court, the conflict with the Federal and State courts would have to be reconciled. About $8,700,000 of the bonds are outstanding.

The machinery of Wall street rested today, in observance of Columbus Day. The New York Stock Exchange and other security and commodity exchanges, as well as the banks and principal corporation offices, were closed for the day. Business will be resumed as usual tomorrow. Abroad, the principal markets were open as usual.

The pick-up in general business activity in the past few months has spread to the air express business, said LaMotte T. Cohu, president of American Airways, Inc., in a statement today. He said jobbers and manufacturers had used this speedy form of transportation "to supply urgently needed goods for depleted retailers' stocks."

Dierks Lumber Firm Placed in Receivership

Kansas City, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The Dierks Lumber & Coal Co. and its principal subsidiaries, the Choctaw Lumber Co. and the Pipe Valley Lumber Co., operating in Arkansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma, were placed in receivership today by order of Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves.

The company, organized in 1886, and its subsidiaries operate pine lumber manufacturing plants at Dierks, Ark.; Mountain Pine, Ark.; Wright City, Okla.; Broken Bow, Okla., and Pine Valley, Okla. A subsidiary operates a chain of sixteen retail lumber yards in Nebraska.

More Oil Buyers To Raise Prices

Empire, Shell and Sun Companies to Follow Increases.

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—More crude oil buyers fell in line today with the midcontinent's upward price swing. The Empire Oil & Refining Co. and the Shell Oil Corporation announced they would meet the current advances Saturday.

Empire will follow the 10 and 12 cents per barrel increases of the Sinclair-Prairie Oil Marketing Co. It buys throughout the area, except in Panhandle Texas. Shell will pay a $1.10 top in east Texas, as will the Sun Oil Co., first to announce higher prices.

The Oklahoma top will be $1.12 per barrel.

Illinois Central Turns Corner in Profit Fight

Memphis, Oct. 12 (U.P.).—The Illinois Central Railroad has turned the corner and for the past month has written its balance in black ink instead of red, Charles C. Cameron, vice president in charge of traffic, said today.

"After we have finished paying our September bills we will have some net. For many months previously our balances were written in red," he said. "We also expect to make a profit in October."

British Exports Drop Lowest in Many Years

London, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—British exports for the month of September were valued at £26,228,666 (about $95,000,000), the lowest total recorded for many years, according to trade figures announced by the board of trade today.

This amount is a reduction of £2,323,120 under August. Imports for the month increased £953,838 over those of August and reached a total of £54,266,652, a decrease of £14,027,347 under September, 1931.

MONEY MARKETS

London, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Money, ½@1 per cent. Discount rates, short bills, 1-16@15-16 per cent; three-month bills, 12-16@15-16 per cent. Bar silver, firm, 1-16 higher, at 17¾d.

Paris, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Three per cent rentes, 82 francs 75 centimes; 5 per cent loan, 100 francs 82 centimes.

Exchange on London, 87 francs 76 centimes. The dollar was quoted at 25 francs 48¼ centimes.

CRUDE OIL AVERAGES.

Oil City, Pa., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Credit balance, $1,67; runs, 36,203; average runs, 23,439; shipments, 69,036; average shipments, 51,315.

VIRGINIAN RAILWAY DIVIDEND REGULAR

Wheeling & Lake Erie Road Declares 7 Per Cent on Prior Lien Stock.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Directors of the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad today declared a 7 per cent per annum dividend on prior lien stock covering the period from August 1, 1926, to April 30, 1927.

The dividend is payable October 19 to stock of record October 17. The prior lien stock elects a majority of the board as long as dividends for five consecutive years are in default. Since the Nickel Plate Railroad owns a majority of the prier lien stock of the Wheeling it will receive approximately $800,000 cash payment.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Directors of the Virginian Railway today declared a regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on the preferred stock, payable November 1 to stock of record October 15. Action on the common dividend was recently deferred.

Combined net earnings after taxes of the Marine Midland Corporation and its constituent banks, trust companies and security affiliates for the quarter ended September 30, adjusted to September 30 minority interests, as reported to the New York Stock Exchange, were $1,550,159.

Combined net earnings for the first nine months of 1932 were $4,808,315.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Stockholders of the Southern Railway Co. were told at their annual meeting today that operating revenues for the first seven months of the year were 29.2 per cent less than for the corresponding period of 1931.

At the same time operating expenses were reported to have dropped 23.87 per cent. Operating income showed a decrease of 92.95 per cent, or $399,511, as compared with $5,663,541 last year.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Gilteedged securities were again a strong feature on the stock exchange. British funds advanced under general buying and better Paris and overnight Wall street reports. Other sections also improved and the market closed firm.

Paris—Prices hardened on the bourse due to better news from abroad and buying for the October 15 settlement date. Rentes and international issues improved and the closing was well sustained.

Berlin—Tradine was cheerful on the boerse throughout the session and prices advanced about a point. The closing was firm.

Moderate Steel Increase Follows Business Upturn

Ingot Production Reaches 19 Per Cent Capacity; Orders Increase.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—A further moderate increase in steel production was reported today by Iron Age, which sums up the situation with the view that "business is gaining slowly, but confidence still exists that there will be an extension of the gradual improvement of recent weeks."

The publication stated that ingot production for the entire country is now estimated at about 19 per cent of capacity, compared with a little above 18 per cent last week, and September output of 17.34 per cent. September production, it was added, was the largest since last May.

It was pointed out that while the gain of 15,495 tons in unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation for last month was smaller than expected, it nevertheless "has some favorable significance in that it is the second small increase following sixteen months of decline."

The major consuming industries that must provide a good deal of the tonnage necessary to place the steel industry upon a substantially better basis of production, Iron Age explains, are moving slowly in plans to bring about a better business and employment situation.

North Carolina Tobacco Sells Two Cents Higher

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—North Carolina tobacco growers in September got $2 more per hundred pounds for golden weed sold in the State than was received for tobacco during the same month last year.

The monthly report of the Federal State crop reporting service showed there were 66,600,614 pounds of tobacco sold during September at an average of $11.57 per 100 pounds, compared with sales of 96,259,217 pounds at an average of $9.56 last year in September.

U.S. TREASURY TOPS FAVORITE LOAN LIST

3 Per Cent Note Applications Take $450,000,000 18 Times Over.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—While public utility and industrial corporations are finding it difficult to obtain money through publicly selling bond issues, and the railroads are not even making an effort, there is one creditor which, it was clearly demonstrated this week, stands in unusually high favor.

This favored creditor is the United States Treasury. An offering of $450,000,000 of 4½-year 3 per cent Treasury notes this week was oversubscribed 18 times. Applications for the notes reached the huge total of $8,368,000,000.

While the investment market is still cool to long-term bond issues, even for Government account, the growing surplus of bank reserves has created an enormous investment appetite for choice short-term and medium-term securities. A short-term security is one which matures within a year; a medium-term security one that comes due in 2 to 5 years, and a long-term security is one that may run for 20, 30 or, in some unusual cases, 100 years before maturity date.

The latest statement, dated October 5, of resources and liabilities of the twelve Federal Reserve Banks, showed that they held $1,851,000,000 of Government securities against $738,000,000 the year previous, a gain of $1,113,000,000 in a year, or 151 per cent. However, in the case of the reserve banks, a primary reason for this increase in Government bond-holdings has been to relax credit.

The commercial banks have also shown at pronounced liking for Government securities. The weekly condition statement based on consolidated figures furnished by the weekly reporting member banks of the reserve system, showed on October 10 that the member banks had total investments of $8,245,000,000. This consisted of $5,003,000,000, or 61 per cent, in Government paper and $3,242,000,000 in other securities.

One year ago the reporting member banks had total investments of $7,631,000,000, of which $4,194,000,000, or 54 per cent, was in Government securities and $3,637,000,000 in other securities.

While normally the banks prefer to keep a substantial portion of their resources invested in Government securities, the proportion so invested now is extraordinarily large.

Long-Bell Receivership Petition Is Up to Court

Kansas City, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—A petition for a receivership for the Long-Bell Lumber Co. was placed in the hands of Judge Merrill E. Otis for a decision at conclusion of six hours of argument by attorneys in Federal District Court here today.

Judge Otis said he probably would give his decision this week.

A minority group of bondholders petitioned for the receivership, contending formation of the Long-Bell Lumber Sales Corporation, a subsidiary, in 1930, led to the company's financial difficulties. It also charged the company had been mismanaged.

90,000 Phones Lost.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The net loss of telephones in the Bell system last month was slightly less than 90,000 compared with declines of 201,000 in August and 268,000 in July, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. announced today. The September showing, compared with the previous month, represented a larger than seasonal recovery.

Store Sales Increase.

Chicago, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Department store sales showed an increase from August to September greater than the estimated seasonal amount, the Federal Reserve Board announced today. The report is based on 497 stores in 221 cities.

Animated Demand in Wool.

London, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—There was an animated demand at the wool auction sale today at firm prices.

CAPITAL MAN BUYS ANNAPOLIS BONDS

L. E. Smoot Gets Sewerage Issue at 104.46 in Lot of $100,000.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 12.—L. E. Smoot, of Washington, today purchased $100,000 bonds offered by the Annapolis Metropolitan Sewerage Commission at a bid of $104.46. The bonds bear interest at 4¾ per cent and mature in 30 years. The only other bid received was that of Gillett & Co., of Baltimore, whose offer was 95.75.

In announcing the sale, W. Thomas Williams, chairman of the sewerage commission, expressed gratification at the high price received.

Sale of the bonds was authorized by an act of the Legislature of two years ago, which created the idea of constructing a sewage-disposal plant to take care of the city and its environs, including the Naval Academy.

The system will cost approximately $535,000, and it is expected that the Federal and State governments will provide material aid in the project. The commission has already expended about $25,000 in completing the necessary preliminary surveys.

Fourth Area Home Loan Bank to Open

Business Begins Saturday, With Julian Price as President.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Directors of the Fourth District Federal Home Loan Bank held their first meeting today, confirmed the election of Julian Price, of Greensboro, N. C., as president and decided to open the bank Saturday. The Fourth District is composed of the States of Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and the District of Columbia.

The directors heard details of operation plans from Nathan Adams, of Dallas, Tex., member of the central board of directors with headquarters in Washington, and Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, of Williamsburg, Va., chairman of the Fourth District Board.

The directors held a second session this afternoon and Mr. Price said two others likely would be held tomorrow. C. F. Benbow, of Winston-Salem, who is in charge of arrangements for the sale of bank stock in North Carolina, said more than $100,000 had already been subscribed and he had "assurance of over $200,000." He said "without a doubt the result of our campaign will grow to $500,000 or more within the next 30 days. These figures apply only to North Carolina, no report having been received from other States."

Ship Passenger Fares May Be Revised Soon

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—An upward revision of first-class passenger fares in the transatlantic service is expected to be considered by the North Atlantic conference which meets this month.

The general reduction put into effect last April, it is said, resulted in stimulating travel, but, notwithstanding, gross income was also reduced, according to a survey by Fitch Publishing Co.

Associated Gas Makes Highest Power Output

Chicago, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The highest net output of electric power since last March 5 was reported by the Associated Gas & Electric System for the week ended October 1.

The output totaled 50,016,603 kilowatt hours. Gas output rose to 32,096,000 cubic feet, the highest since the week of last April 16.

Flour Prices Reduced.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Most qualities of flour have been reduced at other 5 cents a barrel, because of unsettlement in wheat markets.

ELECTRICITY OUTPUT IS SLIGHTLY HIGHER

Total Is Still 8.9 Per Cent Under Same Week in October, 1931.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The production of electricity in the United States showed a further slight gain in the week ended October 8, the weekly report of the National Electric Light Association today showed.

Production amounted to 1,506,219,000 kilowatt hours, against 1,499,459,000 in the preceding week. The total was 8.9 per cent under the like week of last year, or in exactly the same ratio to last year as was the preceding week. The like weeks of 1931 and 1930 had also shown fair gains, although in 1929, production declined.

Of the major geographic regions, the only one to narrow the divergence from last year was the central industrial region, which has been primarily responsible for the shrinkage in the aggregate power consumption. This region was 10.8 per cent under last year, as against 11.1 per cent in the previous week. New England, which was off only 1.6 per cent in the week ended October 1, was off 2.4 per cent in the period ended October 8. The Atlantic Seaboard as a whole was off 4.4 per cent in the latest week, against 4.2 in the preceding week. The Pacific Coast was off 10.1 per cent, against 8.6 per cent in the period ended October 1.

New Refinancing Plan Is Ratified by Frisco

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Stockholders of the St. Louis-San Fransico Railroad at a special meeting today ratified all steps which they were asked to take by the company in connection with the proposed readjustment plan, it was announced by J. M. Kurn, president of the road.

The action taken included authorization of the new mortgage contemplated by the plan and reduction of the par value of the stock to $10 a share.

Coffee Prices Steady On Trade's Buying

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Coffee was steady today on covering and trade buying promoted by the better inquiry in the spot market as well as continued uncertainty over the resumption of coffee shipments through the Port of Santos.

No. 7 contracts opened 2 points higher and closed 5 to 7 higher. Sales, 2,000. Santos opened 3 to 6 higher and closed 9 higher to 2 lower. Sales 13,000.

Catholics Give Banquet and Dance on Columbus Day; Street to Be Paved.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Columbus Day was observed yesterday by Fitzgerald Council, No. 459, Knights of Columbus, and Court Kavanaugh No. 54, Catholic Daughters of America, with a banquet in the George Mason Hotel, Alexandria, at which the principal speaker was the Rev. Fulton J. Sheen, D. D., of the Catholic University of America.

An address of welcome was delivered by the Very Rev. Thomas A. Rankin, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, and other speakers were Daniel J. Callahan, supreme treasurer of the Knights of Columbus; William G. Feely, past State deputy of the District of Columbia; Miss Mary C. Boland, district deputy, Catholic Daughters of America, and the invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Hugh J. McFadden, chaplain of Court Kavanaugh.

The entertainment program included a tenor solo by Bernard T. Fitzgerald, of Washington, and a soprano solo by Mrs. Francis X. Nugent. Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Julius O. Schmidhauser, chaplain of Fitzgerald Council.

Francis H. Fannon acted as toastmaster. The banquet was followed by dancing.

The prize coach built by Thomas E. Mills, jr., who for two consecutive years has won the Virginia State prize for this work, was exhibited at the weekly luncheon of the Alexandria Rotary Club yesterday. This is a model of the coach in which Napoleon rode to his coronation, and is true in every detail of proportion to the original. The interior is decorated with tapestry similar to that used in the original and the four golden eagles surmounting the top of the coach were carved by young Mills.

The Rotary Club has appointed a committee consisting of the Rev. Pierce S. Ellis, R. H. Bogle, Henry Moncure and Francis H. Fannon, to arrange for a display of the model coach in a window to be furnished by Everett Swan, treasurer of the club.

D. C. Book, president of the Alexandria Kiwanis Club, will have charge of the program at the weekly luncheon of the club today in the George Mason Hotel. The club is making arrangements for its annual ladies' night entertainment which will be held November 17.

The trolley tracks on one square of Columbus street, between King and Cameron streets, Alexandria; on Cameron street from Columbus to a point between West and Harvard streets, and on King street from this point to the western end of that street, will be removed and the paving of the streets restored, in accordance with the charter of the original Washington, Alexandria & Mount Vernon Electric Railway.

This line was abandoned several months ago, and the matter of the removal of the tracks and restoration of the streets has been before the city council which has been handling the matter with R. L. May, owner of the abandoned line.

Patricia Ann Davis, 4 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Davis, of 257 West Bellefonte avenue, Alexandria, was struck and slightly injured yesterday on the 600 block Mount Vernon avenue by a truck driven by Milton Thompson, of 133 Wolfolk avenue, Mount Ida. Thompson took the child to the Alexandria Hospital, where she was treated for cuts and abrasions, after which she was taken to her home.

Funeral services for Henry A. Simmons, 71 years old, who died Tuesday at his home, 707 South Lee street, Alexandria, will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the residence by the Rev. Percy Foster Hall, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, and interment will be in Bethel Cemetery. Mr. Simmons is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sallie J. Simmons, and several children.

Funeral services for Mrs. Virginia Talbot Bailey, who died Tuesday in Washington, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Cunningham funeral home, Alexandria, and burial will be in Ivy Hill Cemetery. She was the widow of William Bailey and is survived by three children.

Prince Georges Reports Fewer Cases of Typhoid

Typhoid fever cases in Prince Georges County have been held to less than a third of what they were last year, according to the report of the county health officer which has just been made public. Last year during the summer months when the disease was most prevalent, 47 cases were reported, in contrast to only 14 cases this summer.

Three causes are given for fewer cases this year. One is that patients procured medical attention before the disease spread to others, another that persons near sources of infection were inoculated against it last year, and the third that where patients were in close contact with others they were sent to hospitals, thus preventing the spread. There have been few cases of communicable diseases in general, the report says.

Judgment Today In Thomas Case

Judge to Confer First on Plans to Aid Mother of Abandoned Boy.

Judgment in the case of Ethel Thomas, tried in Hyattsville Police Court yesterday on charges of willfully neglecting her minor child, was postponed until today, when Judge J. Chew Sheriff will confer with officials of an orphanage who have offered to give the woman employment.

The woman was arrested last week after a 7-year-old child had been found in a shack near Berwyn, Md. She was formerly employed at a nearby orphanage where the child lived, but left several months ago, taking the little boy with her. She and Constable Howard Slater, who found the child, were the only witnesses to testify yesterday.

Two persons were fined in Police Court yesterday on charges of possession of liquor. Alice Richardson, of Brentwood, paid $50 for possession of a small quantity of contraband, while Harry Katkowsky, of Baltimore, was fined $150 for having 20 cans of alleged alcohol in his auto.

Redistricting Act Invalid, Both Parties Plan Drives

Special Meetings of Committees to Be Held in Arlington County; Fire at Clarendon Forces Out Employes of Service Corporation.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Following decision of the State supreme court declaring the 1932 redistricting act unconstitutional, both Republican and Democratic leaders in Arlington County yesterday planned special meetings of their respective committees to formulate plans for the campaign which the decision has brought about, causing candidates for Congress to run at large.

Representative Howard W. Smith, of Alexandria, the Democratic nominee for reelection, lost no time, and communicated with newspapers in those sections where there is to be an election for members of Congress, and asked for their united support. It is understood that J. E. Spaulding, the Republican nominee, not having filed as a candidate at large, his name will not appear upon the ballot.

William L. Bragg, county Democratic chairman, announced last night he has called a special meeting of the county committee for Saturday night at the headquarters in Clarendon.

Fire caused from the burning of a can of wax in the basement of the Spaulding Building at Clarendon yesterday afternoon filled the building with smoke, causing all employes in the office of the Virginia Service Corporation on the first floor to rush from the building. Damage was alight.

Speaking at the luncheon meeting given by the Arlington County Woman's Democratic Club in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon yesterday, John Paul Jones, of Washington, declared that "the affairs of our Government have been in the hands of the Republican party since 1920, and today we are in the midst of the greatest depression the country has ever known." He said: "The people want a change and on November 8 there will be a change with the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Mrs. Lester Pollock, founder of the National Educational Council of the National Democratic Committee, spoke on the need of an educational campaign throughout the country. Mrs. Catherine M. Rogers presided.

Robert Simpson was elected president of the senior class of Washington-Lee High School, Arlington County, at the election yesterday. Other officers are Gordon Singhas, vice president; Eloise Sunderman, secretary; Ruth Yates, treasurer; J. T. Wallace, sergeant at arms, and Smith Rucker, representative from the executive council.

The Young Democrats of Arlington County will meet tonight in the headquarters at Clarendon. Plans will be completed for the card party to be held at quarters tomorrow night and also the dance to be given the evening of October 20 at Ashton Heights Woman's Clubhouse.

THREE ARE INDICTED IN CHICKEN THEFTS

Other Prince Georges True Bills Include Nonsupport and Murder.

Nine indictments charging George Rutter, his wife Margaret, and Frank Dufour with theft of chickens were among the first lot of true bills to be returned by the Prince Georges County grand jury. Among those listed as complainants against the trio are Edgar P. Hamilton, Garland S. Arnold, Edward M. Kolbe, Gail B. Harrison and Arthur C. Waesche, jr.

The three were arrested by Sheriff W. C. Hopkins several months ago after a series of chicken thefts in the vicinity of Bowie. In the same list of indictments was one charging Lawrence Snowden, a prisoner at the House of Reformation at Cheltenham, with setting fire to the broom factory at the institution. George Ferrell, Russell Jones and Peggy McCauley were indicted for robbery and assault with intent to rob Joseph Schwaline, who was held up and $9 taken at his home near Largo.

Other indictments were Earle Lewis, larceny and receiving stolen goods; George Colbert, murder; C. L. Simmons and Charles "Chick" Grantham, larceny and receiving stolen goods; Roosevelt Jackson, larceny and receiving stolen goods; Clarence Sutton, one indictment charging larceny and receiving stolen goods and another containing these two charges and an additional one of housebreaking; John Smallwood, assault with intent to kill and assault and battery on Gladys Washington.

Peter York, two indictments charging larceny and receiving stolen goods; Francis M. Richards, nonsupport of wife and child; James Johnson, larceny and receiving stolen goods; Cornelius Franklin and Leroy Jackson, larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Presbytery Raps Repeal Proposals

Opposes Vote if Substitute Plan Is Not Provided in Session Stand.

Holding that "mere repeal would bring back the saloon," the Presbytery of Washington City, meeting in Riverdale, Md., Tuesday, opposed "a vote on repeal which provides no constructive substitute."

"We are opposed to the Government's going into the liquor business, refusing to endure the sight of the American flag foating over the legalized liquor traffic," the resolution went on. The Rev. Henry B. Wooding, moderator of the Presbytery, presided over the meetings during the two-day session.

The Rev. W. T. Schell, secretary of the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian Church, said that during the years of the depression the church had not recalled a missionary or surrendered any mission point. The Rev. T. C. Clark resigned as stated clerk of the Presbytery because of illness, and the Rev. Freeley Rohrer was appointed in his stead.

Illness Postpones Action In Military Drill Fight

Because four members of the board of regents of the University of Maryland are ill, action on a request by two students that they be excused from military training has been indefinitely postponed. Last week's meeting of the board was not held due to the inability of several members to be present, and this week's gathering has also been put off.

Wayne Lees of 3430 Mount Pleasant street northwest, and Ennis Coale, of Bel Air, Md., were suspended after they refused to take military drill. They filed briefs in support of their stand with Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the university, to be presented to the board.

Two Arlington Sisters Hurt as Car Overturns

Iowa City, Iowa, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Mrs. Z. L. Belue and Mrs. E. J. Whitehead, of Arlington, Va., were in a hospital suffering from injuries received when their car overturned near West Liberty early today. Others in the car were Mr. and Mrs. David Cruze, of Ballston, Va. The two injured women are sisters of Mrs. Cruze.

Mrs. Whitehead suffered severe scalp lacerations and fractured right arm. Mrs. Belue suffered a fractured collarbone and possible internal injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Cruze had minor cuts.

FAIRFAX RED CROSS PICKS DRIVE LEADER

Mrs. Echols, of Vienna, to Head 1932 Roll Call in November.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

The executive committee of the Fairfax County Chapter, American Red Cross, has selected Mrs. Katrina Hine Echols, of Vienna, Va., as chairman of the 1932 Red Cross roll call in the county. The drive will start this year around November 1, and the quota has been set at 1,200 members again this year. Mrs. Russell A. Lynn, county chairman, reported that the Fairfax County Chapter ranked seventh in Virginia in proportion of members to population in the 1931 drive, according to figures announced by the National Red Cross Headquarters in Washington.

Mrs. Echols will be assisted in the drive by the following local chairmen: Mrs. Jennie Moore, Fairfax; Mrs. U. S. Walters and Mrs. J. Hunter Mack, McLean; Mrs. George R. Bready, Herndon; Mrs. A. J. Robey, Centerville; Mrs. D. F. Hannah, Falls Church District; Mrs. William Cleveland, Seminary; Mrs. C. W. Oliver, Baileys Crossroads; Mrs. Milton Hartley, Masonville; Mrs. C. R. Moran, Merrifield; Mrs. George West, Mount Vernon District; Mrs. M. M. Barnard, Lorton; Mrs. J. B. Davis, Burke; Mrs. Marvin Sanders, Forestville; Miss Nancy Merchant, Clifton, and Chaplain Wright, of Fort Humphreys.

Plans are being made for a fall garden tour of Fairfax County gardens during the chrysanthemum season for the benefit of the Fairfax County Red Cross.

The county chairmen reported that more than 3,200 yards of Federal aid cloth has been received by the county chapter and as soon as it can be made into garments it will be distributed to the needy this winter.

Charles Douglas, former president of the District of Columbia Bar Association, will be the principal speaker tonight at a meeting of Fairfax County Young Democrats Club to be held in the auditorium of the high school at Herndon, Va. The Fairfax County Club will hold a joint meeting with the Arlington County Club Tuesday night in the auditorium of the Madison School on Washington street in Falls Church, Va.

Rockville Host Tonight To Young Republicans

The Young Republicans Club of Montgomery County, Md., will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at Rockville Country Club. Walter W. Dawson, county delegate to the Maryland House of Delegates, who is chairman, will preside.

A constitution and by-laws will be adopted and a discussion will be held on ways and means of aiding the Republican party in the election, registration laws and other election matters. All registered Republicans and those who shortly will become of age are invited to attend.

Man Seeks New Trial In Attack on His Wife

James B. Hammond, of Brentwood, Md., convicted in Prince Georges County circuit court yesterday on charges of assault and battery on his wife, Frances, was released on bond when his attorneys asked for a new trial on the ground that the verdict was contrary to the facts.

Hammond, when arraigned in police court on the charge, asked for a jury trial, which was held yesterday. He is represented by Attorneys J. Wilson Ryon and Albert R. Hassall.

D.A.R. Essay Prize Is Given to Girl, 13

Presented to Edna Lutes at School Ceremony in Silver Spring.

Presentation of the second prize in the Daughters of the American Revolution essay contest to Edna Lutes, 13, daughter of Fred L. Lutes, first assistant cashier of the Silver Spring National Bank, was a feature of the first meeting of the season of the Takoma-Silver Spring High School Parent-Teacher Association last night at the school.

The presentation was made by Mrs. Howard Griffith for the D. A. R. Miss Lutes, a student at the school, won second prize in an essay contest on "George Washington as a Boy." The association also adopted a resolution commending the county board of education for its action in restoring teachers' salaries to the 1931 schedule.

10 VETERANS GIVEN AWARDS AT LAUREL

First U. S. Officer Wounded in War Among Recipients of Purple Heart Order.

Ten veterans, one of them the first American officer to be wounded in the war while on duty with American troops, were awarded the Order of the Purple Heart last night by Milton A. Reckord, Maryland commander of the American Legion, at a legion rally in Laurel, Md.

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, chief of Washington police, was unable to be present at the rally, due to illness. Gen. Reckord, who is also commander of the Maryland National Guard, spoke on the program of the legion at the afternoon session of the rally, which was held in the Farmers' Community Hall.

Those who received the Purple Heart Order were George E. Brown, wounded; Stuart Burch, cited for exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous services; James R. Cardwell, cited for services as camp ordnance officer at Camp de Souge; Mansfield Ferrell, gassed; De Vere H. Harden, the first American officer to be wounded, October 28, 1917; Bryan Hobbs, commander of the Laurel Post, cited for services; Hugh T. McClay, wounded; Thomas F. Murphy, wounded, now attached to the Headquarters Company of the Maryland National Guard; Dennis R. Shirley, wounded, and James P. Roney.

MISS JEANETTE KENNEDY.

Rites Held In Tyler, Texas For Sister of Capital Woman.

Word was received yesterday by Mrs. Emily B. Attersall, 1312 L street northwest, of funeral services for her sister, Miss Jeanette Kennedy, at Tyler, Tex. Interment was in Tyler.

Miss Kennedy died as the result of burns received when her dress caught fire from a gas range in the kitchen of her home a few days ago. She succumbed at her home early Tuesday morning.

Born in Tyler, Miss Kennedy was educated in the public schools there and was an active member of the First Baptist Church. She was the youngest child of Mrs. Ida Kennedy and the late George R. Kennedy. In addition to Mrs. Attersall, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. R. E. Reed, Little Rock, Ark., and Mrs. Roy W. Phillips, of Tyler, and two brothers, John M. Kennedy, Houston, Tex. and Charles W. Kennedy, also of Tyler.

LUCIE REID YATES DIES.

Death Occurs at Home of Daughter-in-Law, Mrs. M. R. Yates.

Lucie Reid Yates, widow of James William Yates, of Markham, Va., died yesterday at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mark Reid Yates, of 2448 Massachusetts avenue northwest, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Yates was born November 10, 1854, at Flinthill, Va. Since the death of her husband several years ago she has made her home in Washington.

Two sons, Maj. E. Sear Yates, U. S. M. C., retired, and James W. Yates, of Birmingham, Ala., and two daughters, Mrs. Philip Henry Lee, of Gainesville, Va., and Miss Edith C. Yates, survive her. A third son, Mark Reid Yates, died four years ago. Funeral plans were not complete last night.

MRS. JAMES A. REED DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Former Senator at Bedside as She Succumbs in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Mrs. James A. Reed, quiet helpmate for 45 years of a distinguished husband in whose success she found her greatest joy, died unexpectedly of pneumonia at a hospital here today.

The wife of the former Missouri senator was stricken while he was at Des Moines, Iowa, Monday, where he delivered the reply of the Democratic party to President Hoover's first major address of the presidential campaign.

Mr. Reed, advised that Mrs. Reed could not join him there, but not told of her illness, cancelled plans for a business trip to Chicago and returned home immediately. Alarmed at her condition he had her removed to a hospital and was at the bedside when death came.

The former senator was crushed and went into seclusion in a state of near collapse. The devotion of the couple, who were nearing the golden wedding anniversary, was noted among their friends.

Mrs. Reed was born at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Mansfield.

She is survived by a son and daughter of her first marriage to F. C. Olmsted, Lewis W. Olmsted, of Boone, Iowa, and Mrs. Helen Bailey, of Roggin, Colo.

Funeral services will be held Friday.

GOOD GOVERNMENT DECLARED MENACED

Lutheran Convention Opens in Philadelphia; Merger in Canada Sought.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Good government throughout the world is being threatened by "partial interests," the Rev. F. H. Knubel, of New York, president of the United Lutheran Church in America, declared tonight at the opening of the organization's eighth biennial convention.

After a day of preconvention activities, which saw the proposal to create a United Lutheran Church in Canada move a step nearer realization, more than 560 clergy and lay delegates from this country and Canada heard Dr. Knubel's plea for unity of effort in the convention.

Cites Partial Interests.

"In these days," he said, "partial interests are threatening the very existence of good government throughout the world. The Congress of the United States seems to contain so many men who are controlled in their decision by the popular votes they can gain * * * even within the church each of us has his partial interests.

"But if we are faithful representatives, it is not those interests which must influence us, but the interests of the whole church."

Earlier in the day, the executive board of the church approved, for presentation to the convention, a report of the commission which surveyed the Lutheran Church in Canada looking toward merger of the three Lutheran synods there. The board will urge adoption of the report.

Plan Wins Favor.

The recommendations of the commission urged that the Synod of Canada, including the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, be encouraged to carry out its plan of reorganization and form contacts with the Snyod of Manitoba and the Synod of Nova Scotia "with a view to uniting all." The united body would retain the place of the Synod of Canada on the roll of constituent synods of the United Lutheran Church in America.

More than 47,000 church members, the report stated, would be affected by the proposed merger.

The report was signed by the Rev. Ellis B. Burgess, of Pittsburgh; the Rev. Ernest A. Tappert, of New York City, and the Rev. N. Gould Wickey, of Washington, D. C.

Jobs Held Here By 88,764 Women

32,668 Feminine Workers Are Married, Census Report Shows.

Census statistics show there are 88,764 women gainfully occupied in the District of Columbia. Of this number 41,061 are single; 32,668 are married; 15,035 widowed or divorced. The figures are based on the 1930 census, and include all women more than 15 years old.

There are 204,556 women in the District, the census report shows. Of this total 136,126 are native white, 13,999 foreign-born white, 54,297 colored and 124 classified as "other races." Of the total native white women, 53,646 are gainfully occupied. Of the foreign-born white, 3,816 are occupied, of the colored 31,263, of the "other races" 39.

There are 109,427 married women in Washington and of that total 32,668, or 30 per cent, are gainfully occupied. The report also shows there are 6,642 more married women, widows and divorcees gainfully occupied in Washington than there are of those classified as being "single and unknown."

Parents Urged to Direct Children Into Politics

American business men were urged to direct youths into the field of politics by Dr. Ray O. Wyland, of New York City, who spoke yesterday before the Washington Lions Club.

At a meeting in the Hotel Mayflower, Dr. Wyland said the tendency of most parents was to steer their children away from political activities, but that present conditions demanded a cleansing that only the well-educated young generation could bring.

NEW WINTER TRAINS TO SOUTH ARRANGED

Atlantic Coast Line to Give 27½-Hour New York-to-Palm Beach Service.

Winter trains to the South, headed by the famous "Florida Special" and including the "Tamiami," the "Miamian" and the "Gulf Coast Limited" were announced yesterday by the Atlantic Coast Line.

The "Florida Special" will begin its forty-sixth year on January 3 with a schedule of 27½ hours from New York to Palm Beach and 35¼ hours from Boston to Miami.

The "Tamiami," a new and fast train from New York to Florida, will operate from November 1 until December 14. Service by the "Miamian" will begin on December 15, as will the "Gulf Coast Limited."

With these trains the railway will augment the year-round service provided by the "Havana Special," the Palmetto Limited," the "Coast Line Florida Mail" and the "Tarheel."

Faster schedules will be maintained on the route by many of the trains and a special low 18-day round trip fare to Florida points was announced.

Democrats Lead Voter Registration

1,174 Listed in Montgomery in Day Against 382 Republicans.

Democratic predictions that at least 500 more Democrats would be registered Tuesday in Montgomery County, Md., were more than doubled last night when unofficial returns showed 1,174 Democrats and 382 Republicans registered. Yesterday's registration was the final registration day for new voters. One more day remains on which voters already registered may change their affiliations. The registration yesterday brought the Democratic registration of the county to 17,020 and the Republican registration to 9,454.

Democratic leaders were plainly joyous last night as every voting precinct of the county, even the predominantly Republican Ninth Wheaton Precinct at Takoma Park, reported Democratic majorities. They further were made happy when unofficial returns were received by Maj. E. Brooke Lee, county Democratic leader, which showed that the ordinarily Republican Allegany County's general registration had cut the Republican lead in that county from 12,900 to 4,700, and that Baltimore County's registration showed 29,000 Democrats and 9,000 Republicans.

DEPARTMENT STORE EXHIBITS HAND LOOM

Woodward & Lothrop Showing Process of Weaving Harris Tweed.

An unusual display, showing the process of weaving wool by the use of a hand loom, is attractiag crowds of interested spectators to a window of Woodward & Lothrop Department Store at Eleventh and G streets northwest.

A native of the Island of Harris and Lewis demonstrates how crofters in his native home spin, dye and weave the wool into cloth widely known as Harris tweed.

The loom used for the work was willed to the operator by his father many years ago. A spinning wheel, also shown in the display, is a type used by the islanders. The entire demonstration shows the various steps in preparing the wool for market use.

Families of the island are chiefly dependent for their livelihood on the sale of the cloth after weaving. Letters written by weavers to prospective buyers often contain pathetic appeals for purchase of their work.

A display of this kind never before has appeared in Washington, officials of the store pointed out, and school children are especially invited to witness the demonstration.

Sir Basil's Connection In Insull Case Denied

Paris, Oct. 12 (U.P.).—Samuel Insull, jr., denied today that he has conferred with Sir Basil Zaharoff, Anglo-Greek "mystery man" of finance, in connection with his father's affairs in Athens.

Sir Basil's secretary likewise denied that he has had a hand in the elder Insull's case. The financier is not acquainted with the Insulls, the secretary said.

dinner in the crystal room last evening.

Mrs. Henry Dunnell, of Boston, has arrived here with her son, Mr. Henry Dunnell, jr., and they are established at Wardman Park Hotel for several months.

Mrs. Rachel T. Lee Wed To Wistar W. Braxton.

A wedding of interest locally and throughout Virginia took place yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Caperton Braxton, when the latter's sister, Mrs. Rachel Trimble Lee, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. McChesney Trimble, was married to Mr. Wistar W. Braxton, of Fredericksburg, Va., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Braxton.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dudley Boogher, rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, Fredericksburg, Va. An effective arrangement of palms and ferns formed an attractive background for the wedding party.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Hugh C. Braxton, wore a gown of brown crepe, with hat and accessories blending and her shoulder bouquet was of white gardenias.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Braxton left for Baltimore, Md., sailing the same evening from that port on the S. S. Norfolk for Paris, France. Upon their return they will make their home in Fredericksburg, Va.

On Tuesday evening before the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Braxton entertained in their home at a reception in honor of the bride and bridegroom for relatives and out-of-town guests.

The out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Miss Rebecca Mason Lee, Williamsburg; Misses Sallie and Annie M. Braxton, Fredericksburg; Mr. Elliott Braxton, Newport News; the Rev. and Mrs. Dudley Boogher, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Pratt, Miss Jewel Parkin and Mrs. Hansford Wallace, all of Fredericksburg; Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips, Trinidad, West Indies; Mrs. Henry Holmes, Houston, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams and Miss Nora Lee Antrim, of Richmond; Miss Kate Howard Cardwell, Hanover, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pike, Mrs. Hal Turnage, Miss Pickett Waller and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lee, of Wide Water, Va., and Mrs. Margaret Meley, Washington.

Mr. William Townsend Pheiffer, of Amarillo, Tex., member of the American Bar Association, is in Washington to attend the meetings of the convention. He is the guest of his uncle, Mr. Julius Garfinckel, at the Hay-Adams House.

Mrs. Emory H. English announces the marriage of her daugher, Helen Doris, to Mr. Francis Gordon Bernard on Saturday, October 8, in Washington. Ceremony performed by the Rev. Paul G. Lineweaver at the home of the bride, 5023 Sherrier place northwest.

Judge and Mrs. Orville Smith, of Cleveland, Ohio, are established in Wardman Park Hotel. Mrs. George B. Harris, of Cleveland, accompanied them here.

The Phi Mu Sorority gave a dinner at the Carlton Hotel last evening, the company numbering 30.

The Women's Alliance of All Souls' Unitarian Church will be at home to members and friends tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock in the Hale Parish House at Sixteenth and Harvard streets. Mrs. John L. Hyde, the former president, will be hostess, assisted by Mrs. L. M. Willige, Mrs. Mary G. Hamill, Mrs. G. W. Berge, Mrs. William R. Loney, Mrs. Retta V. Maybee, Mrs. E. T. Fulton, Mrs. J. McDonald Stewart and Miss Ella Reese.

Among those who will attend the benefit card party to be given tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, at 4704 Georgia avenue, for the Woman's Clinic are Mrs. Corbin Thompson, Mrs. Laura A. Bradley, Mrs. I. Winter Dances Set For University Club.

The dates for the University Club dinner dances for the coming winter were selected at a meeting of the dance committee at the University Club yesterday. This committee is again headed by Mr. W. Waverly Taylor, chairman. Other members are Mr. Andrew D. Sharp, Mr. William S. Hoge 3d and Mr. Harold A. Brooks.

The first dance of the season will take the form of a Halloween party and will be held on Tuesday, October 25.

The Thanksgiving dance will be arranged for November 22, the Christmas party will occur on December 27 and the midwinter dance is set for January 24. The celebration of George Washington's birthday is set for February 21 and the final spring dance will be on March 14.

The wardens and vestry of St. Mark's Episcopal Church will give a farewell reception to their rector, the Rev. Hulbert A. Woolfall, at their parish house, Third and A streets southeast, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, to which are expected the members of the parish, the Episcopal clergy of the city and a few personal friends of the rector.

Mr. Woolfall has been rector of St. Mark's for the last four years and leaves to assume charge of St. Peter's in St. Louis, Mo., which church was formerly occupied by the Rev. Dr. Z. Barney Phillips, now rector of Epiphany Church, Washington.

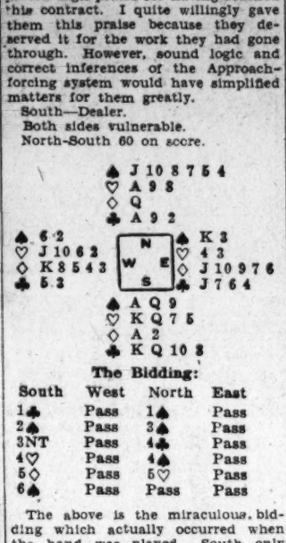
THE LONGEST WAY AROUND.

TODAY'S hand was recently given to me quite eagerly by two fairly good players. They were very proud of the brilliant bidding on the hend, which enabled them to reach a laydown Slam, despite the handicap that a part-score imposed upon them. They had shown Aces and Kings and had made what they considered all sorts of beautiful inferences, and expected high praise for having reached this contract. I quite willingly gave them this praise because they deserved it for the work they had gone through. However, sound logic and correct inferences of the Approach-forcing system would have simplified matters for them greatly.

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
North-South 60 on score.



The Bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	1♠	Pass
2♠	Pass	3♠	Pass
3NT	Pass	4♣	Pass
4♡	Pass	4♠	Pass
5◇	Pass	5♡	Pass
6♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

The above is the miraculous bidding which actually occurred when the hand was played. South only bid two spades on the second round as that was all that was needed to put them out. North showed extra values and his interest in a Slam by bidding three. Now North and South showed, first, a willingness to go further; second, side suits; third, Aces, and fourth, Kings; and after a long and arduous journey finally arrived at six spades, which, of course, is a lay-down. In fact, the spade finesse makes it cold for seven. But why did these young men have to go through all this work?

The Opening club bid was quite sound, particularly with a part-score; and with a very big hand such as South had, it was best not to shade the heart suit, and the club suit was quite easily biddable. North's one spade response was quite correct, and South, although a bit conservative, was justified in bidding only two spades immediately, as that was all that was necessary to put them out. North now bid three spades. He had considerably more than minimum requirements and was not ready to entirely give up the idea of a Slam merely because of that part-score. It was right at this point that South, by just a little cool, logical thinking, could have saved himself and his partner a lot of anguish and, incidentally, loss of voice. What could partner have to deliberately overbid the game and make a Slam try that would possibly justify such a bid? He would have to have a minimum of five spades to the King, or at least six to the J-10; in addition, he must have the other two Aces, because even with these two Aces and the Spade King he would have but 2½ honor-tricks. If he were missing one of the Aces, he would have to have at least the King and probably the King-Queen of diamonds, or, if lacking some of these values, he would have to make up this shortcoming by some playing strength, such as a singleton in one of the suits. In other words, there is practically no holding that North could have with which he would bid three spades, which, combined with South's 4½ honor-tricks, would not give at least a very fine play for a Small Slam. Therefore, South's correct bid would have been to bid immediately six spades over three spades without any further ado and without forcing North, as he actually did, to make four additional b'ds on the same 2 honor-tricks.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Collars frame Miladi's face like a jewelled picture frame this season. (Dah-ray Designs.)

HAVE just had a very interesting letter from a friend in Paris, "D. V. deV.," and I think I will just quote it to you today and tomorrow.

"The center of interest on sleeves tends to be irregularly lower. This sounds something like the stock market—but have no fears—nothing so depressing. The fact is, the news is quite cheery and exciting like most news from the Rue de la Paix. With all the town outside bulging and blossoming about the shoulders, I was quite surprised the other day at Worth's to see sleeves set classically into the armhole with no tricks about it at all. But just let your eye run down the sleeve, and round about the elbow things begin to happen.

"If the sleeve is long—which doesn't happen often this season—it is generally large at the wrist. One black crepe afternoon frock had a wide long sleeve slit up the front of the arm to the lebow. It was lined and faced with green crepe—flowing and graceful and all that. Only one long tight sleeve I saw, and that had a reason for being so; a puff of contrasting color was shirred in at the back of the lebow.

"But the three-quarters sleeve was almost four quarters of the Worth show. Sometimes it hugged the forearm in an unobtrusive sort of manner. On a diagonally cut bodice part black and part yellow, a black three-quarters sleeve seemed to ignore the fact that its partner was yellow. Now these demure little "hugging the forearm" type were charming, but what really gets you all upset about sleeves at Worth's is the new large square-looking cuff set onto a three-quarters sleeve. It is so large that it continues its life alone way beyond the sleeve. On a soft wool for the morning it is of cut-out pique. On a black crepe for the afternoon it is of dull white sequins. On a jacket for the evening it is huge and of fur. You'll see these running about pretty soon"

Ah, lovely collars! The loveliest lady I have set eyes upon for a long time—wore a stunningly cut black dress, an adorable hat tip tilted to the side, and on the dress an immaculate, fluted, perfectly starched and turned out white collar. She was oh, such a wealthy little lady, too!

And collars are the last word in stunning and subtle flattery, too Some of those I sketched for you today are worth a king's ransom, my deah. And to think that all they take is patient and clever fingers to make! And good taste to wear.

* * * *

Speaking of good taste, than which there is no better taste than a real parchment shade made out of the real parchment skin, my deah. You can buy the skin already made—and make this shade soo-o-o-o-o easily, if you only know how. I know how. you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet, and then you simply follow directions. And what nice things to own! Not to mention what lovely gifts they are—gifts you can make to anyone in the world no matter how much or how little money they have. Christmas is not too far off, you see—so send your envelope for the leaflet while you think of it.

To quote M. Worth, head of the famous house of that name in Paris: "For the past two or three seasons the tendency has been toward a return to greater elegance and exclusivity—toward more elegant lines and more feminine clothes."

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

THERE'S no putting hands behind your back, or tucking them under cover of gloves. Not now that the social season is here, that bridge and backgammon are back—dinner and theater parties and what not! All eyes are front and hands up for inspection.

During the summer, hands usually stay whiter and smoother because the oil and perspiration glands are more active than in colder weather. On the other hand, more frequent washing and swimming in the surf or lake water (which is usually hard), extracts most of the additional oil supply. Summer sports are hard on the hands, too. So that it is not at all surprising to find the hands in a rather dry, sun-wrinkled condition when the social season starts.

Olive Oil, the Old Standby.

We always seem to get back to olive oil, the old standby, but it is one of the best beauty aids we have. So simple to use and so inexpensive. Warm a little before retiring. Place two pads of cotton in the oil and rub the cotton over the hands from the tips of the nails down the wrists. It won't hurt to include the entire arm, up to the shoulder. And then massage in a 'round and 'round motion. Leave the oil on as long as possible and overnight if you can. Old gloves and the sleeves of an old flannel nightgown, if you happen to have one, will keep the oil on hands and arms and off bed linens. This treatment, followed every night for a week, should restore a smooth, white texture to hands and arms.

Elbows.

Once during the week, if you have fifteen spare minutes, precede this oil treatment with a pumice-stone rub of elbows only, and then pour a little oil into two small bowls, finger bowls will do, and place elbows in bowls for ten or fifteens minutes. Pat dry with towel.

Read or relax while giving your elbows this treatment, or if you are very thrifty with time, massage your scalp with fingertips while the elbows are being beautified. Bending the head forward slightly and resting on the elbows is a splendid position for such massage treatment, you know.

Bleaching.

If you are bleaching face and neck, be sure to include hands and arms in the treatment so that when you have occasion to don evening clothes there will not be any difference or color line of demarcation. Don't bleach in sections or your arms will look as though they belonged to a much darker individual than face and neck. My bulletin on bleaches you can make at home will be sent you for a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

Vegetables and fruits are depended on for flavor, bulk, mineral substances, particularly iron, and for vitamins, of which at least three kinds, called A, B and C, are now considered necessary. Spinach stands out among the other foods of this group because of its exceptionally large percentage of iron. The geen-leaf vegetables as a class, including lettuce, spinach, kale, dandelion greens, the green tops of turnips, or of beets, or of radishes, and many other vegetables commonly used for salads and greens are especially useful in supplying vitamin A, which is now believed to be necessary for normal growth and for the continued bodily well-being even of adults. Practically all the vegetables and fruits furnish vitamin B, which is, however, so widely distributed among natural food materials that it presents less of a problem to the housekeeper than either of the others.

The two chief sources of it are the vegetables and fruits and the so-called whole-grain cereals. Many fruits have been found to supply vitamin C. Lemons, oranges and tomatoes are considered especially rich in it, and some of the vegetables, notably cabbage and some varieties of turnips, contain comparatively large amounts. White potatoes are also considered an important source of this vitamin in the diet, not because they supply more, pound for pound, than many other foods, but because being mild in flavor and comparatively cheap, they are used in larger amounts in most families than any other one vegetable.

It is now believed that the vitamins are to some extent destroyed by drying and also by cooking, particularly in the presence of soda. Probably no two foods are affected to the same extent, and even if the effect on every food were known, the facts would be difficult to keep in mind. In the absence of definite available knowledge on this subject it is wise for the housekeeper to use regularly some uncooked fruits or tomatoes, fresh or canned, and some green-leaf vegetables. The last mentioned should be used either raw or cooked only enough to make them taste good and without unnecessary loss of their juices.

Canned and dried vegetables and fruits may all be used for the sake of economy or convenience or to give bulk to the diet, but never to the exclusion of green-leaf vegetables and fresh fruits. There is no way at present of measuring the exact amount of fruit juices needed for health. It seems probable, however, that it is not large, and the housekeeper who can not afford to serve whole oranges, grapefruit, or fresh tomatoes is probably on the safe side, if she makes a practice of introducing small amounts of orange or lemon juice or canned tomatoes into her bills of fare.

An orange cut up with other fruits or a little lemon juice added to sliced bananas, stewed prunes, or other fresh or dried fruits is helpful. There are many desserts and beverages, too, in which small amounts of orange or lemon juice can be used, and many gravies, sauces, and soups that are improved by a little tomato juice. Regularity of supply is probably more important than the use of large amounts.

Mrs. Schumacher Wins Burleith Gold Medal

By winning the gold medal awarded by the District Bicentennial Commission for having the best garden in Burleith, recently, Mrs. Laurinda Marchetti Schumacher, of 1930 Thirty-eighth street northwest, is qualified to enter the contest for the city-wide Bicentennial garden prize to be held at an early date.

Judges in the preliminary contest were Mrs. Lillian Wright Smith, Mrs. Benjamin T. Ellmore and Mrs. Errett Wallace. Both the front and back yards were taken into consideration.

"LIBRA."

IF October 13 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:15 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to noon and from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m.

The location of the planets on October 13 tends to indicate a peaceful and harmonious day. It is a day that will place emphasis on the value of friends and friendships of the right sort. Do not be surprised to have some pleasant memory or event of the past brought vividly to mind by the unlooked-for apeparance of a long-lost friend. A day for memories and romance for young and old.

The child born on this October 13 will not in his early years be greatly influenced by his surroundings. He will tend to live a mental existence, and by closing his eyes and appearing to dream will live far beyond his physical surroundings. He will be an avid reader, preferring fantastic tales and highly imaginative stories. Look for him as he grows and develops to seek a career in the arts.

Born on October 13, you are stamped for a success. If you have not already attained your goal, you are probably well along the way, and if you are a younger person you are at least on the right track. You will find much happiness and considerable wealth, though the former will be much more important to you. Do not expect, however, that these things will just tumble into your life. Like others, you have a long, hard row to hoe, but at the end of it in capital letters is spelled the word "Victory." You are an agreeable person and even when you are yourself depressed, which is quite often, you radiate good cheer and beam good naturedly upon the world. This amiability will bring you many good friends from whom you will derive much pleasure and satisfaction.

You are not a practical person and probably your greatest difficulty in life will be to bring about an adjustment between the side of you that wishes to create and live in dreams and that side of you which comes face to face with the stern realities of life and finds it necessary to eke out an existence.

If you are a man and married, you do not necessarily glory in your home, but you are an agreeable person to have about, and probably a charming host. If you are a woman you easily adjust yourself to the demands of home and husband, and seldom fuss.

Successful people born on October 13:

Eben D. Jordan, merchant.
John W. Hoyt, educator.
Charles H. Stockton, naval officer.
Charles S. Pearce, artist.
Augustus C. Bernays, surgeon.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

MALARIA TREATMENT IN INDIA.

IN Sinton's treatment of malaria, use is made of two mixtures, which he calls A and B.

A, also called the alkaline mixture, is composed of 60 grains bicarbonate of soda, 40 grains citrate of soda, 3 grains chloride of soda or salt, water enough to make 1 ounce.

B consists of 10 grains sulphate of quinine, 30 grains citric acid, 60 grains sulphate of magnesium (Epsom salts), water enough to make 1 ounce.

He makes use of these two mixtures of some simple purgative, and of plasmochin, in the treatment of all forms of malaria. However, he varies the method according to the kind of malaria under treatment.

In acute, simple malaria due to a recent infection, he uses what he calls treatment 1. This is begun with a dose of some quickly acting purgative. This is followed by 1 ounce of A, followed by a second dose in one hour, and a third two hours after the first dose. One-half hour after the third dose of A, one ounce of B is given. One ounce of B is given three times daily for one week. One dose of A is given one-half hour before each dose of B. In addition, the patient takes one tablet, consisting of one-quarter of a grain of plasmochin, daily during this week.

In the treatment of an attack of malaria, in which there is a history of previous chills within, say, a year, or, in other words, relasping malaria, treatment II is used. This is as follows: Use treatment I, as given for one week. In the second week the mixtures A and B are given only twice a day and the plasmochin is omitted.

If there are further relapses treatment III is given. This consists in treatment I for one week. However, instead of one-quarter of a grain of plasmochin once a day, a tablet of one-third of a grain is given twice daily after meals. During the succeeding two weeks mixtures A and B are given twice daily as in treatment III, with two daily doses of plasmochin.

Sinton says treatment I will cure 80 per cent of all cases of malaria, as they are encountered in a community-wide run of cases. Of the 20 per cent remaining, one-half will be cured by treatment II. The remaining infected persons should be cured by treatment III.

By the term "cured" he means not only freedom from chills and fever, but inability to infect mosquitoes and freedom from tendency to relapses and chronic malaria.

Sinton's experience has been had in India, where the infections are apt to be heavy, the disease severe, and where the people are poorly nourished and careless about protecting themselves against mosquitoes. He regards plasmochin as safe, provided it is used in small doses. He gives more of it than Deeks advised, but he recommends greater control of his cases than Deeks did.

Cures Mouth Ulcers.

E. W. L. writes: To prevent and cure apthous ulcers, or stomach ulcers in the mouth, scrub well six or more Irish potatoes and peel thick while a quart of water comes to a boil. Add potato peelings. Let them boil ten to twelve minutes; strain into vessel and cool. Drink freely of such potato water for several days. If taken when ulcers first appear it will give quick relief. Drinking this water each week usually prevents ulcers, as they come usually from an acid stomach. Avoid acid-producing combinations in diet. Drink hot or cold.

CANKERS OF THE MOUTH.

Mrs. H. L. writes: 1. My husband has been troubled with cankers in the mouth for 26 years. Is this serious?

What is the cause and cure?

REPLY.

1. It is unpleasant and annoying, but not otherwise serious.

2. His diet and eating habits need to be changed materially. No other treatment is needed.

IT IS NOT TRUE.

A. L. writes: I have heard that eating fried parsnips every day will keep the skin clear of pimples, blackheads, &c. Is this true?

REPLY.

No.

BAD GOLF EXPLAINED.

("It is a labyrinthine reflex that causes you to hook, slice or top the golf ball, Dr. Lewis J. Pollock, professor of Nervous and Mental Diseases at Northwestern University, declared at a clinical conference today."—News item).

* * * *

WHEN the round of golf is awful
And the score's too high to count—
When all form and rhythm's lacking
And the strokes just mount and mount;
When you can't control the club head
Or tell where the ball will go
It's your labyrinthine reflex, sir,
Just in case you wanna know.

When you take your stance correctly,
Splashing bravely at the ball,
And it lands in some one's cornfield
After bounding off a wall—
When you're seldom in the fairway
And you never have a "lie"—
It's your labrynthine reflex, sir,
If you'd know the reason why.

When you can not use your driver
And your brassie's futile, too—
When your driving iron's useless
And your niblick keeps you blue;
When you can not wield your putter
And the whole game seems a task
It's that labrynthine reflex, sir—
Just if any one should ask.

When you spend the summer slicing
Into tall and matted "rough"
And you stalk the open spaces
In a temper and a huff;
When in traps you loll and linger
Till they think you're living there,
It's your labrynthine reflex, sir,
As if any one would care.

When you do a lot of topping
And you dub an easy shot—
When you swing a wicked niblick
And don't even touch the spot;
When you face the little brooklet
With a loss of faith and hope,
It's your labyrynthine reflex, man,
If you want the latest dope.

When you're playing golf for money
And you can not win a hole—
When each visit to the golf club
Tends to dissipate your roll;
When you can not get the distance
And you're off direction, too,
Well, the labyrynthine reflex, sir,
Is what makes a sap of you.

L'Envoi.

So in case you lose your temper
And you roar and tear your hair,
And you massacre the caddy
In a manner most unfair—
And you murder your opponent
With a most blood-curdling yelp—
It's your labyrynthine reflex, man,
If the fact is any help!

CALL FOR A BREAK.

"An official command has denied the shouted Fascist salute to all but Premier Mussolini."—New York Herald.

Victor Emmanuel has a big crown,
With a half-dozen scepters or so;
When Victor Emmanuel rides into town
His charger is whiter than snow;
Victor Emmanuel's palace in Rome
With soldiers in uniforms gay—
But surely the poor fellow can't feel at home
When his Premier won't let him play.
Can't he have a teeny-weeny
Cheer with Mister Mussolini?

—Albert S. Davis, jr.

Mussolini has been fined 26 cents for a technical violation of rules at an army meet. That's all right; maybe the king will rescind it.

WHEN THE SMOKE HAD CLEARED AWAY AFTER THE ATTACK ON THE RANGERS' HOUSE YESTERDAY IT WAS FOUND THAT GOOTCH REDMOND HAD BEEN SHOT THROUGH THE ARM AND THAT THE BULLET HAD LODGED IN HIS SIDE.
LET'S GET THE STRAIGHT OF THIS. PUNK'S BUNCH WERE ATTACKING THE RANGERS' HOUSE WHERS YOU WERE WHEN ONE OF YOU FIRED A REVOLVER INTO THE CROWD.
YOU FIVE WERE ALL THAT WERE IN THE HOUSE.
I DIDN'T!
NEITHER DID I!
I ONLY SAW A HAND WITH A REVOLVER STUCK PAST ME.
I DID IT! BUT I DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED.
DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED! SPUD, DON'T YOU REALIZE THAT A VERY SERIOUS CHARGE CAN BE LODGED AGAINST YOU!
THIS IS THE GUN WE FOUND UNDER THE RANGERS' HOUSE. WHY WOULD YOU HAVE IT WITH YOU IF YOU DIDN'T INTEND TO USE IT?
I JUST BROUGHT IT TO SCARE 'EM WITH. I MUST HAVE PULLED THE TRIGGER AN' IT WENT OFF. I DIDN'T MEAN ANY HARM—HONEST I DIDN'T.

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

MRS. HERBERT HOOVER will deliver a special address to the Girl Scouts of America (WRC, WMAL, 6:15 o'clock) tonight.

EXPRESSING the belief that a public service is rendered to the Nation by the various political candidates in their radio discussions of problems which confront the Government, and desiring to support the dissemination of such information and to contribute its bit toward the service to the people, E. C. Mills announces that the American Society of Composers will not collect the usual royalties insofar as political programs are concerned.

Stations are required to pay the society a percentage of all net receipts for all programs sold as commercial features, but this fee will be waived in connection with campaign addresses.

The ceremonies attendant upon the dedication of the new Supreme Court Building will be broadcast over WRC at 10 a. m. today. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes will speak.

William D. Mitchell, Attorney General of the United States, will be the principal speaker during the American Bar Association program (WRC, 2:15 p. m.).

Madge Kennedy, Otto Kruger, Helen Broderick and Borrah Minnevitch head the list of stage celebrities who will face the microphone as guest artists with Rudy Vallee (WRC, 8 p. m.). Miss Kennedy and Kruger will present a scene from Noel Coward's "Private Lives."

Ogden Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, will deliver a campaign speech tonight (WJZ-WBAL, 9:30 o'clock), as he addresses a mass meeting in the Coliseum, Chicago.

THERE will be a meeting of the Washington Section of the Institute of Radio Engineers at the Kennedy-Warren at 8 o'clock tonight. E. W. Ritter, of the R. C. A. Radiotron Co., will speak on "Recent Developments in Radio Receiving Tubes."

Another performance from Capt. Henry's Show Boat is due on the ether waves at 9 p. m. via WRC. The Hall Johnson Choir, Jules Bledsoe, Charles Winninger, Annette Hanshaw, Lanny Ross and Mabel Jackson will be in the cast.

JOE COOK, radio comedian, recently staged a depression dinner. He had the meal served backwards. First came the dessert, then the salad, the meat course, oysters and soup. The idea was that the guests, if served in this order, would partake liberally of the sweets, have their appetites spoiled and consequently eat less of the rest of the dinner.

RED CROSS TO OPEN INTENSE DRIVE HERE

More Than 40,000 Members Goal of Chapter to Fill Depleted Treasury.

A determined drive again to enroll its 40,000 members and more and thus replenish the greatly depleted treasury will mark the annual roll call of the District of Columbia Red Cross from November 11 to 24 this year.

November 11 to 24 has been designated as the period for the annual roll call of the District of Columbia Chapter of the American Red Cross, it was announced yesterday.

To assist in the enrollment of business men, business women, their executives and employes, there has been set up a business committee whose objective is to obtain the maximum enrollment at a minimum cost. They are D. A. Skinner, chairman; Mabel T. Boardman, Edward S. Brashears, Arthur Carr, Charles T. Clagett, Dr. William Earl Clark, Oscar Coolican, W. W. Everett, Douglas Griessemer, Frank S. Hight, Dr. Herbert C. Hoplins, Frank R. Jelleff, Mrs. John A. Johnston, Brig. Gen. John A. Johnston, Brig. Gen. F. R. Keefer, Harry King, Mark Lansburgh, E. W. Libbey, C. H. Pope, C. M. Sharpe, G. A. Walsh and Ben T. Webster.

The demands upon the Red Cross have been heavy and continuous.

K. of C. Formally Opens Home on Garrison Road

The Edward Douglas White Council, Knights of Columbus, formally opened its new home on Garrison road last night. Grand Knight B. F. Toulotte and the other officers greeted their friends, including large delegations from fraternal organizations of Arlington County and county officials.

The building, formerly owned by the Collison estate, has been remodeled.

RKO-KEITH'S

"THE PHANTOM OF CRESTWOOD," RKO-Radio picturization of a story by Bartlett Cormack and J. Walter Ruben, featuring Karen Morley, Ricardo Cortez, H. B. Warner and Richard "Skeets" Gallagher. Directed by J. Walter Ruben. Reviewed Wednesday evening by W. A. Whitney.

Stealing a march on the rest of the country, Washington's public can now learn the answer to the question of the hour, "Who killed Jenny Wren?"

"The Phantom of Crestwood," slated for simultaneous openings some Friday, in all the RKO theaters, is the complete story of the recently completed radio serial of that name, which recounts the mysterious circumstances surrounding the violent death of Jenny Wrenn, a gay lady of the world with eyes more for the bank rolls than the hearts of her inamorata.

For those unfamiliar with the developments of the story, Jenny is blackmailing four of her boy friends for sums varying from $50,000 to $250,000, depending on their "ability to pay." Jenny's sister, however, has fallen in love with a scion of native aristocracy, much to the horror and disapproval of a maiden aunt. Thus the plot thickens. Jenny is killed, a would-be lover dies from heart failure and the sister is seriously wounded. In short, the usual array of characters and events, but withal diverting.

'Twas a dark and stormy night (some day a producer is going to do a murder on a starlight night) on which these things transpired, with the wind howling and the thunder rolling, and, to make matters worse, the family "ghost" appears to add to an already sufficiently eerie situation. Enter the crook, who, to save his own neck, sets out to do a little crook-catching before the county constabulary arrive (eventually by airplane!). That he is quite successful goes without saying—as well as the successful consummation of the love interest.

By utilizing the device of the cut-back, Karen Morley has the opportunity to continue her good work long after she is supposed to have died, Miss Morley making the while, a swell blackmailer. Ricardo Cortez is the amateur detective who finally ferrets out the guilty party from a crowd including H. B. Warner, Robert McWade, "Skeets" Gallagher, Gavin Jones, Ivan Simpson and Pauline Fredericks. The young lovers are played by Anita Louise and Matty Kemp, and Hilda Vaughn is Jenny's maid. The entire cast is well selected and the players all comport themselves creditably.

The major criticisms that might be leveled at "The Phantom of Crestwood" are that the relation of the characters is too long kept dark and the camera device used to bring in the cut-back, more akin to that used to follow a character from room to room than an irising out and in, is confusing.

Easily topping the several short subjects is "Easy Street," an old Chaplin with a recorded musical score added. Here, it will probably be recalled, Charles Spencer Chaplin does a policeman who finally refines Easy street and wins his gal. Other divertissements include the Funnyboners, with a cinemic organlogue; an Aesop Fable, "Down in Dixie," and the Pathe News.

Cash and Theater Tickets Offered in "Crusoe" Quiz

Prizes of $10 in cash and 50 tickets to Loew's Fox Theater will be given by The Post to readers who answer correctly the largest number of 30 questions on DeFoe's immortal classic, "Robinson Crusoe." The questions will be printed in three installments of ten questions each.

The contest will close at noon Tuesday. Answers should be sent to the "Robinson Crusoe" Editor, The Washington Post. No answers should be sent until all 30 questions have been printed.

The reader who answers correctly the largest number of questions will receive the first prize of $10 in cash. For the next 25 best lists of answers will be given two tickets each to the Fox Theater for the picture "Mr. Robinson Crusoe," or any future picture at that theater.

The contest is open to all, young and old. How well do you know your Robinson Crusoe?

The first ten questions follow:

1. What was the full name of the author of "Robinson Crusoe?"
2. What was his nationality?
3. Was Crusoe an imaginary character?
4. Approximately when was the book written?
5. Was the author a seafaring man?
6. Was the book a "best-seller" when first published?
7. Was the book founded on fact, or was it purely fiction?

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS
In "Mr. Robinson Crusoe."

8. Did the author live to enjoy any profits from this book?
9. About how old did the author make Crusoe when the book opened?
10. What language did Robinson Crusoe speak?

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

WHEN Ed Wynn comes to the National Theater for a week's engagement in "The Laugh Parade," beginning Sunday night, Washington fun-lovers who have been impatiently awaiting the arrival of the first musical show of the new season will not only have their wishes gratified in that regard but will be privileged to revel in the inspired drolleries of a comedian who occupies a unique place in the American theater.

Ed Wynn is, I believe, the only star of musical comedy who never sings or dances. He does, however, occasionally demonstrate a complete mastery of a smart and highly cultivated piano.

While most of what he does appears to be the spontaneous outgrowth of an impromptu sort of idiocy, his methods, as a matter of fact, are craftily calculated and his technique wholly sound. It is all based on a simple grasp of the public's sympathy for the habitual loser and the sore beset. By the very device of appearing to be a simpleton, Wynn begins with the percentage in his favor.

He has little apparent talent and some of his jokes fall pathetically flat, but he chortles with glee when the audience fails to laugh—and then it does laugh!

He tells silly, unconnected stories and forgetting the point, goes back to the beginning, and it all seems terribly amusing.

His panic gives birth to a desperate foolhardiness and he rushes into the arms of the beautiful lady—and then the courage vanishes and he is terror stricken and wants to quit.

Always the persecuted and oppressed, when he does top the smooth, wisecracking straight man, the audience howls with joy at the spectacle of the triumph of the downtrodden.

The whole business is based on what might be termed underdog psychology and is no more accidental than Raymond Hitchcock's uproarious curtain speeches used to be!

So what? So I'll be there doing a little high-pressure and hilarious underdogging right along with you opening night!

Jack Powell, by the way, whose blackface antics with drums—but more particularly drumsticks—have, from time to time, enlivened both the Palace and Earle stages and now constitute one of the highlights of Wynn's "Laugh Parade," is a brother of Maud Powell, the concert violinist. He is equally proficient on a number of other instruments and for several years played a bass saxophone with the Six Brown Brothers in vaudeville—Tom Brown having renewed his "brothers" now and again as time progressed!

And if you are interested in that sort of thing, Edmund Ziman, Cornell graduate, who wrote the incidental music for the John Howard Lawson play, "The Pure in Heart," which opens at the National on October 24 as the second offering of the American Theater Society's subscription season, also plays a small role—or so I am informed by Miss Anne Ford, who ought to know—the first part he has ever had on the stage. Mr. Ziman did the music for Mr. Lawson's "The International," as well as for a production of Eugene O'Neill's "S. O. Glencairn."

The boys in the Diplomatic Corps, it seems, are in for a big afternoon! "Bob" Heinl it is who comes out of the ether long enough to relay me an item I must have skipped in the last issue of Variety, to the effect that Ed Ballard, formerly of the American Circus Corporation, and Tom Mix are attempting to interest John Ringling in the sale of the Sells-Floto tent show to them for purposes of a circus innovation.

The idea is a combined five-ring circus and rodeo, to be known as the Mix-Sells-Floto Show, or something, rebuilt along European lines with chairs and boxes and the center poles out, all tent support coming from the sides to give an auditorium effect. The traditional white top would be abandoned, under the new arrangement, in favor of a multicolored outfit that will be visible for miles on a clear day and require a 40-car train to transport.

And here is where the Diplomatic Corps comes in—if it comes in. When, as and if the deal goes through, it is planned to open the season in Washington with a try for the foreign diplomats as boxholders at the gala inaugural to furnish the basis of an international ballyhoo.

Of course, the good Mr. Mix has a little matter of thirteen pictures still to do for Universal, but what's a trifle like thirteen fillums this far in advance of next April?

Fulfilling every earlier promise of a bumper week's business, "The Good Earth" completely sold out yesterday's matinee at the National. Although a few seats remain, every present indication is that Saturday's matinee will also witness a clean sweep of the ticket racks. And the night performances are not far behind.

Tonight, Claude Rains will take over the role of Wang Lung, the farmer, which heretofore has been played by Earle Larimore. Other changes in both personnel and script are contemplated prior to next Monday night's New York opening—notwithstanding all of which, the play constantly grows in impressiveness as an unequivocal personal triumph for Mme. Alla Nazimova in the role of O-Lan, epitomizing the patient and weary struggle of the wives and mothers of the world since time began.

Encouraged by the success of last week's "college night"—I am told it attracted something in the neighborhood of 750 bona fide collegiates—City Manager Carter Barron is planning another one for this Friday night at Loew's Fox. The goings-on this week will be in compliment to the football teams of Catholic University and their Saturday foemen, the gridiron warriors of the University of Chattanooga from Chattanooga, Tenn. Phil Lampkin, the dynamo of the orchestra pit, again will present the Fox instruments in a special arrangement of songs of the competing institutions and other seats of learning.

Before you and I forget it entirely—heaven forbid!—next week's box-office bait in the downtown, first-run sector will sound something like this: Earle, Marlene Dietrich in "Blinde Venus," with Hal LeRoy and Mitzi Mayfair headlining the vaudeville; Loew's Fox, Douglas Fairbanks in "Mr. Robinson Crusoe," and Ted Healy headlining the stage bill; Rialto, Lew Ayres and Maureen O'Sullivan in "The Kidnaping of Ruth Drake;" RKO-Keith's, Karen Morley and Ricardo Cortez in "The Phantom of Crestwood;" Columbia, John Wayne in "Ride Him Cowboy;" Metropolitan, George M. Cohan, Claudette Colbert and Jimmy Durante in "The Phantom President," second week; Palace, Norma Shearer, Fredric March, Leslie Howard and O. P. Heggie in "Smilin' Through," second week.

So they put the flag back on the Avenue parapet of the Willard, with its wounds all nicely sutured up and everything.

The Hight of patriotic solicitude, as you might say.

Hull Criticizes Coolidge Talk

Accuses Former President of Being Apologist for Hoover.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Cordell Hull, Tennessee Democrat, issued a statement yesterday saying it was "specially appropriate" that former President Coolidge should "become a zealous apologist for President Hoover," because "Hoover is reaping where Coolidge sowed."

In the statement, given out through the Democratic national committee as an answer to the Coolidge speech in New York Tuesday night, Hull said "the inevitable effects of violating all fundamentals of finance, credit and trade since 1922 would be just such a panic-ridden, surplus-glutted country with the innumerable losses and attendant distress that we now see on every hand."

"Neither Mr. Coolidge nor President Hoover pretend to suggest any basic remedies for the basic panic causes," the statement said. "The Reconstruction Finance Corporation and a few other temporary stimulants alone are offered and then great credit is asked of the voter for thus correcting the Hoover mistakes."

POLICEMAN KILLS WOMAN AND SELF

his pocket, which proved to be his service revolver. When the first shot was fired, Williams said, he made an effort to grab Hale, but when his car crashed into the pole he left it and fled.

Williams likewise told police that Hale stated when he first drove to Tenth and D streets, that when he made a call he wanted Williams "to be ready to go as soon as he got back."

Hale lived at 731 Gallatin street northwest. He was married and is survived by his widow and a child. He is about 28 years old. He had been with the Police Department since 1925 and was formerly a patrolman attached to the First Precinct. He had been with the Traffic Bureau for about two years. He was stationed at Seventh and Pennsylvania avenue, but had been on sick leave since September 29.

The woman was identified as Mildred Lee. She is believed to have been the wife of George Lee, who owns the Chinese-American restaurant at Fourteenth and Columbia road, and also another restaurant on Connecticut avenue.

HOME OWNERS PLAN NEW ORGANIZATION

Orie of Objects Is to Give Assistance on Question of Mortgages.

The approximately 14,000,000 homeowning families of the United States will be banded together in an organization for mutual welfare and protection of their interests, according to a plan sponsored by the Homeowners' Protective Enterprise, a nonprofit-making, mutual benefit body incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia, and which has established headquarters in the Barr Building.

The association is the result of a carefully planned move on the part of home owners to form a basis for collective bargaining with reputable agencies for a more satisfactory basis of mortgages on owner-occupied homes, and for the development of a uniform standard of costs for home financing. The association will also cooperate with these agencies in obtaining such amendments to realty tax and assessment and foreclosure laws as will assure the reasonable protection due to the owner-occupied family dwelling without destroying its value as a loan security.

Among other objects of the organization is the establishment of an unbiased, dependable source of information to members in regard to real estate values, sound home loan practice, honest financing costs, illegal practices, types of available lien best suited to individual conditions.

Officers of the corporation will be selected from the membership roll and will serve without pay.

Among the sponsors of this new national association are many prominent Washingtonians, including Dr. Charles P. Neil, Judge Charles Caldwell McChord, Mrs. John D. Sherman, Lewis Merriam, Mrs. Virginia White Spéel, Mrs. Harvey Wiley, William F. Goddard, Marie L. Obenauer, M. A. Rattigan, Miss Anita Phipps, Fred C. Tryon, Dr. A. J. Connolly, Miss Caroline Reilly and Jeremiah Connolly.

The association is said to be the logical outgrowth of a pressing demand on the part of home owners for a medium of group expression that would be entirely unbiased or prejudiced by commercial affiliations.

R.F.C. Requests Court To Drop California Suit

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to dismiss the suit brought by three California taxpayers to prevent the corporation from lending $40,000,000 to the southern California water district. The money is to be used in adding to the present water facilities of lower California.

Through United State Attorney Leo A. Rover and John W. Fihelly, his first assistant, the Government stated as grounds for dismissal the lack of sufficient interest on the part of the three men to sustain the suit. Other grounds were that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is a governmental agency and no citizen has a right to interfere with its operations. Arguments on the motion will be heard next week.

AGREEMENT HALTS FARMER PICKETING

Minnesota Accord Reached After Holiday Leader Decries Force.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Farm strike picketers and live stock shippers, who clashed at Howard Lake today when four persons were injured, late today reached an agreement which brought an end to the picketing in that section.

Under the agreement, the picketers allowed one carload of live stock that had been assembled to be shipped to the South St. Paul market on the promise that local stockyards operators would not attempt to load any more cattle until the strike was ended.

John Bosch, of Atwater, president of the Minnesota Farmers' Holiday Association, told more than 300 picketers at the stock yards late today that attempts forcibly to keep cattle raisers from marketing their stock were bound to be unsuccessful and that the only way for the picketers to accomplish their purpose was to reach an agreement with the shippers.

After the compromise was reached the picketers returned to their homes.

A farm strike battle, in which four persons were injured slightly, was quelled earlier by deputy sheriffs after an emissary had been sent to ask the governor for troops.

Official's Dismissal Is Urged by Walsh

Joseph McCuen, Power Group Aid, Accused of Political Activity.

(United Press.)

Senator Thomas J. Walsh (Democrat), of Montana, suggested yesterday that Joseph R. McCuen, secretary of the Federal Power Commission, be discharged for political activity.

Mr. Walsh said Mr. McCuen "is reported absent on leave and working on the force of the Republican national committee in its New York headquarters."

"The position he holds in the public service is radically different from that filled by the ordinary clerk in one of the departments or other branches of the Government," Mr. Walsh continued. "It is a place that gives its occupant a more or less commanding influence in connection with important duties involving the commission."

Gen. Simonds Discusses Geneva Arms Meeting

The Geneva arms conference was discussed by Maj. Gen. George S. Simonds, commandant at the Army War College, at a luncheon of the Princeton Alumni Association at the Army-Navy Club yesterday.

Maj. Simonds, who attended the conference as a representative of the United States, was introduced by Col. Courtland Nixon, president of the club.

G. U. FACES LOSS OF CAPT. HUDSON FOR N. Y. U. GAME

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

SWARTHMORE and Pennsylvania, with the "utmost friendliness," have decided to terminate their football rivalry of 54 years. Somebody has begun to see the light.

The Hobarts, the Alfreds and the Swarthmores have annually been offered as sacrifices to the conditioning of the big varsity squads of the East in the early season games, accepting slaughtering defeats without whimper, and the football public, among others, gleaned no satisfaction from these contests in name only.

Had such uneven battles taken place in the boxing arena, the referee's whistle would have stopped the match in the first minute. Yet these smaller college teams were content to go back year after year for more trampling at the hands and feet of the larger universities.

Had Their Day Of Glory.

Perhaps it was for the day of glory that the smaller schools sent their football men out to be manhandled by the bigger colleges. The school's name in the headlines looked sweet, perhaps, and there was also the thrill of playing in the vast stadia, but Swarthmore has begun to think that it wasn't worth the price.

The bigger colleges, with squads often numbering more than a hundred players, would send fresh teams in to try their hand against the selected victim, battered about first by the onslaughts of Team A, Team B and Team C. It was a grand opportunity for the coach to test his talent under fire and it was devil take the freshwater squad if it couldn't defend itself, and it usually couldn't.

The public has had enough of these slaughters. They lost all semblances of contests from the day they were scheduled. There were upsets, of course, Bates tying Yale two weeks ago, but Bates took a gristful of cruel beatings before it found a Bulldog team that had lost its bite.

Notre Dame Influence Is Being Felt.

Swarthmore has taken the lead in the matter of divorcing the smaller colleges from these early-season inquisitions, but the major colleges themselves were gradually getting away from the practice of these "breather" games, and in that matter the Notre Dame influence must be given the credit.

It was Rockne who set the style for the larger colleges in scheduling major opponents for every game but one, and that one no setup. After Rockne's teams had completed unbeaten seasons, there was none to deny Notre Dame the national championship. A glance at its schedule was convincing and conclusive.

No major college team, even if unbeaten, may hold a legitimate claim to national honors if its schedule does not show at least six or seven major victories. Notre Dame was the first to embark on these "suicide" schedules, and other major colleges with title aspirations were forced to fall in line.

Big Ten Coaches Hit "Dead Ball" Rule.

By a vote of 9 to 1, with Alonzo Stagg, of Chicago, casting the only dissenting ballot, the Big Ten coaches have asked for a revision of the new "dead ball" rule in football, according to our faithful ally, the Associated Press.

The new rule which decrees that the ball is dead when any part of the ball-carrier's body, except his hands or feet, touches the ball, should be amended to read "except when the runner is in the clear," the Western coaches suggest.

The reaction to this request was at once emphatic and adverse. An official of the rules committee declared that such an amendment would saddle the referee and umpire with an impossible duty. When is a man in the clear? Who can say? He may be 15 yards, 10 yards or 5 yards away from a possible tackler and yet not be "in the clear." If the officials are able to rule with any degree of infallibility on that question, then perhaps they could tell who killed Cock Robin.

They'll all be talking About this before long

D. C. Women Survivors in Golf Play

Mrs. Haynes Is Easy Victor in Middle Atlantic Play.

Medalist Is Beaten; Mrs. Meyer, Mrs. Meckley Score.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 12.—Of the eight survivors still remaining in the championship flight in the Middle Atlantic women's golf play over the Rodgers Forge course, half that number are Washingtonians.

Only one District player in the selected group was elliminated today and she was put out of the running by another Washington golfer. Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, Columbia Country Club, the defending title holder, shot an approximate 87 to overwhelm Mrs. E. C. Schroedel, of Manor, by 8 and 7. The champion assumed the lead early and never left the result in doubt.

Three Other D. C. Players Still in Event.

The other Washingtonians, who will play in the quarter finals tomorrow, are Mrs. Jerome Meyer, Woodmont Country Club; Mrs. C. K. Osborne, Army and Navy Club, and Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Indian Spring Golf Club.

Mrs. Meyer scored a 2-up victory over Miss Edith McHenry, Elkridge Hunt Club, one-time runner-up in Maryland State tournament and captain of the Baltimore golf team.

Mrs. Osborne triumphed over Mrs. E M. Hess, of the Host organization, 3 and 2, and Mrs. Meckley downed Mrs. James W. Schoonmaker, Green Spring Valley, 4 and 3.

Mrs. Claude W. Wilhide, Baltimore Country Club, burst into fame by taking the medalist, Mrs. Harry C. Kersten, Hermitage Country Club, Richmond, out of the way by the score of 3 and 1. The former never has acquired a championship or turned in a medal card in a tournament.

Results:

First flight—10:05 a. m., Mrs. Kersten vs. Mrs. Sloman; 10:15, Mrs. Hurst vs. Mrs. Schroedel; 10:25, Mrs. Bell vs. Mrs. Hess; 10:35, Mrs. Schoonmaker vs. Miss McHenry.

Second flight—10:45 a. m., Mrs. Boyce vs. Mrs. Bloomquist; 10:55 a. m., Mrs. Barr vs. Mrs. Hartig; 11:05, Mrs. Jones vs. Mrs. Cramer; 11:15, Mrs. Stowe vs. Mrs. Schluderberg.

Third flight—9:25 a. m., Mrs. Warner vs. Mrs. Leimbach; Mrs. Jackson, bye; 9:45, Mrs. Engel vs. Mrs. Suter; Mrs. H. L. Jones, bye.

Tulane Gets Decision In Felts' Case Today

Atlanta, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Tulane University will know tomorrow whether it may use its captain and full back, Nollie Felts, this season.

He was ruled ineligible some time ago by President C. F. Miles, of the Southern Conference, on charges of professionalism in connection with his baseball activities in the Cotton States League in 1927.

Tulane authorities have appealed the case and will be heard here tomorrow by the Southern Conference executive committee. If Felts is cleared he will be used by Tulane in its big game Saturday in New Orleans with Vanderbilt.

Kid Chocolate 13-to-5 Choice Over Feldman

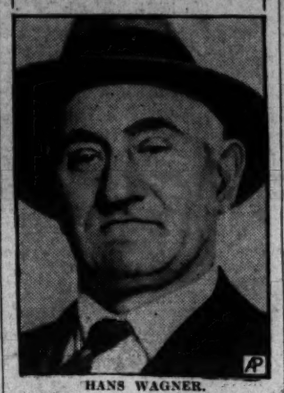
New York, Oct. 12 (U.P.).—Kid Chocolate, of Havana, will be a 13-to-5 favorite over Lew Feldman, of Brooklyn, when they meet tomorrow night in a fifteen-round bout at Madison Square Garden for New York State's portion of the world's featherweight championship.

The State Athletic Commission has recognized this as a title bout to determine a successor to Bat Battalino, who was deprived of his title when he failed to make the weight limit for a championship scrap.

Chocolate is the favorite because he has beaten Feldman twice before. However, many close followers of the sport would not be surprised at an upset.

Both previous fights were over the ten-round distance, and tomorrow night's longer route is expected to work out to the Brooklyn boy's advantage. Feldman is one of the most rugged and untiring of modern featherweights. He is a busy puncher, and his fast pace may wear down the flashy Cuban.

Plans Comeback



HANS WAGNER.

REDS' BERTH SOUGHT BY WAGNER

Famed Shortstop of Pirates Makes Bid to Manage Club.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Hans Wagner, baseball hero of years ago, wants to get back into the game.

The great Pirate shortstop, who retired in 1917 after 21 years in the major leagues, today applied for the job of managing the Cincinnati Reds. He motored here from Pittsburgh with a friend to confer with Sidney Weil, president of the club, who took his application under advisement.

Wagner previously had written to Weil asking him to consider his qualifications.

Dan Howley, who piloted the Reds the last three seasons, is seeking an interest in the Toronto Maple Leafs, of the International League.

Famed as Hitter, Fielder And Base Runner.

Wagner, who is nearing his fifty-ninth year, has been called by some the greatest player in the game's history and one of the most popular. Bow-legged and with huge hands, he was brilliant in batting, fielding and base running.

He played for the love of the sport and considered the financial returns rather as a necessary evil.

Centre Beaten, 6-0, By Boston College

Freitas Runs Back Punt to Touchdown; Colonels Make Game Stand.

Newton, Mass., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—A bungling Boston College football team, fought to a standstill by the light Praying Colonels from Centre College, today managed to eke out a 6-to-0 victory after Quarter Back Johnny Freitas ran back a late punt 65 yards for a touchdown.

The Eagles appeared headed for a score at least six times during the game, which was rained on in the third period. Freitas put on his sensational broken-field run after the hard-fighting Colonels had checked the last Boston drive inside their 10-yard line.

Late in the third period George Taylor, substitute guard, intercepted one of Lecile Hamilton's passes and ran it back to Centre's 20-yard mark. Time expired after Pete Chesnulevich, the Eagles' star half back, made his first entrance and ran four times for a first down on the Colonels' 10-yard stripe.

After the sides were changed the tired Centre forwards threw back four Boston line plunges and recovered the ball on their 8-yard mark. Vivian Nemecek, who kicked Centre out of several tight holes, booted from behind his own goal line to pave the way for Freitas' scoring dash.

Hot Springs Golfers Reach Semifinals

Hot Springs, Va., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—George H. Flinn, of Pittsburgh; Stanley Stone, of Milwaukee, and Thomas R. Hulme and William H. Platt, of Philadelphia, won their way to the semifinals in the Hot Springs fall golf tournament.

Flinn defeated Edwin H. Vare, jr., of Philadelphia, 2 and 1; Stone defeated Kenneth M. Seggerman, of Rumson, N. J., 2 and 1; Hulme defeated Irving T. Smith, of Greenwich, Conn., 2 up, and Platt defeated Richard Tyner, of Greenwich, on the last green after Tyner carded the unusual score of nine consecutive fives.

Vanderbilt Craves Defeat of Tulane

Players Are Confident of Knocking Off Champions Saturday.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Long after the sun had dropped behind the horizon this afternoon, a peppery band of athletes sprinted from their practice ground into Vanderbilt's field house, a picture of brawn, speed and enthusiasm.

Singing, humming and conversing beneath the showers, these Commodore warriors centered their thoughts upon one subject—beat the Tulane Greenies Saturday.

Over in a corner stood Dan McGugin, Russ Cohen and Josh Cody, the Vanderbilt triumvirate of coaches. Although in a little more serious frame of mind, this trio bore facial expressions of confidence that their charges would give the Southern Conference champs a real battle.

To defeat the Green Wave in this all-important contest will mean a lot to the Gold, and Black gridders of Vanderbilt, for Tulane has not been conquered since a loss to Georgia four years ago. Last fall the New Orleans Green Shirts whipped the Commodores, 19 to 0.

Pitt's Center Out of Army Contest

Panthers Lose Tormey Due to Injuries, But Gain Reider.

News and Notes From Other Camps Along Football Front.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Followers of the University of Pittsburgh Football Team were given a jolt today with announcement that Joe Tormey, center, will not play against Army at West Point, N. Y., Saturday.

Coach Jock Sutherland announced injuries will keep Tormey on the sidelines. The Panthers' ailing captain, Paul Reider, speedy half back, was pronounced fit for the game.

The Pitt squad departs for West Point tomorrow night, and will practice Friday in Michie Stadium, scene of the battle.

West Point, N. Y.—The Army squad had its hardest workout of the season in the drive to prepare for the Pitt game. The drill was divided between a stiff defensive drill and an offensive session which featured smashing line plays. The kickers had a long session, designed to correct the weakness of missing the points after touchdowns.

Princeton, N. J.—The Princeton Varsity put on a point-a-minute attack against the scrubs, scoring six touchdowns on brilliant running by James and Draudt and passing by Kadlic. The scrimmage was preceded by a defensive dummy drill against Cornell plays.

New York—Columbia had another three-hour session, half of it devoted to defense against Virginia plays. The assistant coaches joined with the scrub line to make the assault stronger, but their only gains were on passes.

New York—Fordham reported three injuries that will keep men out of the Lebanon Valley game. Joe Bonetski has an injured knee, George Fenton a damaged arm and Red Keenan a lame ankle.

New Haven, Conn. — Yesterday's changes in the Yale line-up were altered again as two linemen returned to their old positions and the back field shift was reversed. The change worked well in a long defensive scrimmage.

Providence, R. I.—Brown's work in its final hard scrimmage before the Yale game was disappointing. The "A" team showed so little concerted attack that the drill was cut short with the comment that some good football surely would follow that work.

Cambridge, Mass.— Harvard had a morning work-out in order to see Boston College and Centre play in the afternoon. Only the third varsity had any heavy work, the first two teams getting only a tuning-up session.

Philadelphia—Stan Sokolis, Penn's captain and left tackle, turned up with a badly sprained ankle which may keep him out of the Dartmouth game. The damage was considered slight when it was done Tuesday. X-ray pictures showed there was no fracture.

Easton, Pa.—Lafayette's regulars did a good job of diagnosing Colgate plays in a hard drill. The backs concentrated on kicking and receiving kicks.

Hanover, N. H.—Dartmouth had only a signal drill on a wet field, with passing getting plenty of attention. Coach Jack read the riot act to his regulars, threatening several with demotion if tomorrow's drill does not bring improvement.

Canzoneri Stops Petrolle in Third

Rosenbloom Winner Over Redman Before 8,500 Shivering Fans.

Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 12 (U.P.).—Two world champions, fighting on the same card here tonight, disposed of their opponents in nontitle tuneup matches before 8,500 shivering spectators as the outdoor boxing season was brought to a close.

Tony Canzoneri, lightweight king, started his feud against the Petrolle family successfully by knocking out Frankie, younger brother of Billy, the "Fargo Express," in the third round of their scheduled ten-rounder.

Canzoneri used this bout to get in shape for Billy Petrolle, whom he meets in a fifteen-round title bout at Madison Square Garden on November 4.

The other champion, Maxie Rosenbloom, head man of the light heavyweights, slapped and cuffed his way to a ten-round decision over Jack Redman, hard-hitting Negro heavyweight from South Bend, Ind. This bout helped condition the "clown prince" of the ring for a title scrap with Mickey Walker next month.

Scoring Punch of Catholic University Eleven

G. W. FACING TRICKS OF MORAN

Catawba Coached by Tutor of Centre's Great Team.

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY'S football coaching staff will not be surprised at anything Catawba College does Saturday night when the Colonials and Indians meet under the lamps at Griffith Stadium.

At the helm of the Indians is Charlie Moran whose grid genius produced the great Centre College Praying Colonels of a decade ago. The Colonels' 6-0 victory over Harvard ranks with the most astounding upsets ever scored in football, and it was Moran's unorthodox brand of tactics that is generally given credit. Centre showed pass plays never before attempted and trick lineups and formations that today have become standardized through usage.

Moran is up to his old tricks again, at Catawba, scouts report. The Indians have only played one game this year, beating the little-known High Point eleven, 28-0. Three of the touchdowns were scored off long passes.

Catawba Has Star Backs.

Catawba has three back-field men who can pass elegantly—Witmer, a 180-pound quarter back; Appanaitis, 185-pound full back, and Cesarea, 156-pound half back. Cesareo is the best in the broken field. The team has five outstanding pass receivers—the three backs and two better than average ends, Robinson, captain of the team, and a 6-foot-2, 185-pound wingman, and Pearson, another veteran. Robinson has played four years for Catawba, where there are no freshman rules.

The Catawba line is dominated by Garland, 210-pound guard, and Vanlewsky, 190-pound center. The team will weigh as much, if not more, than George Washington.

Yesterday's workout just about decided the starting Colonial line-up. It will read Mulvey and Chambers, ends; Pearce and Slaird, tackles; Stewart and Dike, guards; Blackistone, center; McCarver or Carter, quarter back; the Parrish brothers, half backs, and Chris Doose, full back.

Nitsichin Winner In English Stakes

King and Queen See Favorite Win in Last of Fall Turf Classics.

New Market, England, Oct. 12 (A.P.). Cutclassing 25 of the English turf's finest distance runners, Nitsichin, a 4-year-old filly, owned by D. S. Kennedy, London stockholder, today won the historic Cesarewitch stakes, the last of England's fall classics.

With the king and queen looking on from the royal box, the 4-year-old daughter of Achtoi and Latium finished the 2½ miles with 3 lengths to spare, over A. J. Buston's 5-year-old Chelmarsh. Another two lengths back in third place was Lord Rosebery's Sandwich, carrying the top weight of 139 pounds and the choice at 100 to 12.

Mrs. Vare, Miss Hicks In Golf Final at Spa

Hot Springs, Va., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Two former national champions, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, of Philadelphia, and Miss Helen Hicks, of Hewlett, Long Island, advanced today to the finals of the fall golf tournament at Hot Springs.

Both favorites won their semifinal clashes with comparative ease, Mrs. Vare defeating Mrs. Kenneth Seggerman, of Rumson, N. J., 4 and 3, while Miss Hicks was eliminating Mrs. Dorothy Vare Hulme, of Philadelphia, 4 and 2.

Miss Hicks rounded the turn 1 down, but rallied on the home stretch to pass her game but loss experienced rival.

Mrs. Vare was never in danger in her match with Mrs. Seggerman.

C. U. STARTS MONTAGUE SATURDAY

132-Pounder Gains Quarter Back Job for Cardinals.

THE lightest quarter back ever to appear in a Catholic University back field will bark the signals Saturday when the Cardinals meet the University of Chattanooga in Brookland Stadium. He is Pat Montague, 132-pound New Jersey youth, who can kick with the best of them. He won his job yesterday over a raft of other applicants when Charley McVean, first-string quarter back, was forbidden to play Saturday because of injuries.

Montague is 5 feet 5 inches tall and a sophomore. He has long since impressed Coach Dutch Bergman with his brainy football playing, and was yesterday appointed to lead the Cards into their first local appearance when Gene Augusterfer—who was running a neck-and-neck race for the job—went out with a bad leg.

Tom Whelan, the shiftiest back in this section of the country, will be seen in a slightly different role against Chattanooga, for he will do much of the passing and blocking, where in former years he has been allowed to roam the broken fields at will.

Ticket sales continued brisk yesterday, until there seems to be little doubt that the game will attract a record crowd for the lonesome Brookland bowl.

Chattanoogs, Tenn., Oct. 12.—Dixie's little Southern Conference champions, the University of Chattanooga, swing up out of the South today en route to Washington and Catholic University. It is one of the few intersectional games to be played by Chattanooga in recent years.

Confident that their narrow 13-to-0 loss to a great Tennessee team augurs well their Saturday cause, the Moccasins promise to give C. U. its first setback in eleven games when the two meet. Leading the locals' attack is Tubby Haswell, tosser, kicker and capable ball carrier; Charlie White, left end, who was mentioned for all-American last year, and Bill Leydorf, half back, who is Coach Scrappy Moore's ace up the sleeve.

Andy Nardo and Joe Cerasole, guards, and Howard Smith and Vic Halbach, backs, were cited for little conference laurels last season, and all are bigger and better than ever this year.

The Moccasins are not a heavy team, their one heavyweight being Windy Willingham, 250-pound tackle, who is a Goliath among a bunch of football Davids. The team utilizes the Notre Dame system of play, where weight is not excessively important.

MRS. BOBBY JONES BEATEN.

Atlanta, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Mrs. Bobby Jones was beaten in the Georgia women's golf tournament today, but not until she had staged a comeback her famous husband would have been proud of.

Four down through the tenth hole in her second flight match with Mrs. W. H. Patterson, Mrs. Jones rallied to win back three holes and carry the battle to the eighteenth green before she finally lost, two down.

SENIOR GOLF TITLE TO POPE

Tops Ridsdale Four Strokes in Play at Woodmont.

By DAVE HERMAN.

HOMER S. POPE, who lacked one week of being eligible for the 1931 District senior golf championship, yesterday staged a strong finish at the Woodmont Country Club to carry off the title with rounds of 88-80 for 168.

The 55-year-old entry from Indian Spring turned in a stellar performance on the last 18 to snatch the crown from the defending champion, Percival S. Ridsdale, of Chevy Chase, by a four-stroke margin. Pope toured the first nine in 40, five above par, and shot the last three holes in par fashion—4-3-4.

Ridsdale Runner-Up Four Strokes Back.

Ridsdale, who beat out Clark C. Griffith, of Columbia, for the 1931 title, took an 88 after pacing the field on Tuesday with 84. His 172 won him a medal for being runner-up. He was five strokes ahead of Dr. Bruce L. Taylor, of Congressional, who finished with 89-89 to nose out Griffith by a stroke for third prize.

Shooting the second best eighteen-hole round of the tournament, Clark Griffith rallied for a 40-43-83 after blowing up the first day with 95. He topped James Haines by a shot.

When the firing along the wind-swept course stopped shortly before dusk descended, the senior contestants came out with only words of praise for the fine showing made by 78-year-old Dr. George E. Truett, of the Washington Golf and Country Club, one of the District's pioneer golfers. While eight other entries failed to report cards, Dr. Truett plodded along against a stiff wind for a 96. He had a 195 for the 36 holes.

Pope's card with par follows:

OUTGOING NINE.

Par..	4	4	4	4	3	5	4	3	—35
Pope.	4	5	5	4	3	5	4	4	—40

INCOMING NINE.

Par..	4	4	4	4	3	4	4	3	—34

Homer S. Pope (Indian Spring), 88—80—168.

P. S. Ridsdale (Chevy Chase), 84—88—172.

Dr. Bruce L. Taylor (Congressional), 89—88—177.

Clark C. Griffith (Columbia), 95—83—178.

Dr. James T. McClenahan (Washington), 97—91—188.

Dr. George Truett (Chevy Chase), 99—96—195.

Paul Swope (Indian Spring), 98—97—195.

No cards—W. A. Smith (Indian Spring), John Wineman (Indian Spring), Lee Stabler (Indian Spring), John Seward (Army-Navy), Dr. W. C. Barr (Columbia), John A. Grunwell (Chevy Chase), A. Dunlop (Indian Spring), Dr. Thomas Utz (Indian Spring).

Reed Battles Bowen In Portner's Feature

Jimmy Reed, the bouncing Erie, Pa., scrapper, and Ray Bowen, outstanding Washington welterweight, will headline the boxing program at Portner's Arena in Alexandria next Monday night.

Reed, conqueror of Phil Raymond and Jack Portney, is fresh from a victory over Toots Bashara, of Norfolk. Jimmy's last fight around this section was with Ray Collins, who bowed in an eight-rounder at Twin City in Laurel. Fighting on the same card in another eight-round bout was Ray Bowen, who lost to Collins' stablemate, Tug Phillips.

Considerable interest has been aroused in the ten-round match between Reed and Bowen.

Matchmaker Frankie Mann has booked Tony Ross, hard-belting Baltimore featherweight, and Roddy Davis, District slugger, to clash in the six-round semifinal. Three other fours will be arranged.

Twisted Knee Suffered by Star End

Injury Blow to Team; Capable Reserve Is Lacking.

Chance for Victory Lies in Spirit of Team, Says Mills.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY'S already shaky hopes of a victory Saturday over New York University in New York were further shaken yesterday when it became increasingly evident that Capt. Ray Hudson, outstanding end and bulwark of the Hilltop line, will not be able to compete in the game. Hudson's knee, severely wrenched in the Canisius game last Sunday, has failed to respond to treatment and few were the beliefs yesterday that it would show a sudden turn for the better.

Hudson's former achievements and his skill of evading injuries has long since lulled Georgetown into a state of contentment over its end assignment and there are fewer than few substitutes for his berth. Stan Alenty, a 155-pounder, was placed in Hudson's place yesterday, but the contrast boded no good for Georgetown's chances of winning Saturday's all-important game.

Parcells and Stanley Also Ailing.

Hudson's injury stands out as a sharp recurrence of the ill luck that hit Georgetown last year when Wilmer Bradley, back field ramrod, broke his collarbone on the eve of the N. Y. U. battle. Hudson was joined on the sick bench yesterday by Charlie Parcells, speedy half back, who pulled up with a twisted shoulder, and Mack Stanley, one of Georgetown's most consistent ground gainers, whose knee, never very good, has been ailing of late. Dick Danner, responsible tackle, is also a benchmate, but these three should see service Saturday for certain, while Hudson's appearance is veiled in doubt.

Georgetown University's only hope of beating N. Y. U. lies in the field of psychological horsewhipping. The Hilltoppers, with a somewhat mismatched team of sterling backs and mediocre linemen, must be cajoled or shouted into a fine frenzy of endeavor if they are to hold off the battering thrusts of one of the country's greatest teams.

Such is the opinion of experts who yesterday watched the Hoyas go through their final scrimmage of the week on the rockbound Hilltop training field. It was a long and grueling workout, resulting in several minor injuries, one of which befell the agile olfactory organ of Alan Cohen, reliable lineman.

Victories of '28 and '29 Fondly Remembered.

With these things in mind, plus the knowledge that N. Y. U. has a team almost without an equal in the East, it seems patent that Georgetown literally must rise out of itself and play better than inspired football if it is even to hold the score down close. Other Georgetown teams, rated as healthy underdogs, have done it. Two Georgetown victories, molded by scores of 13 to 7 and 7 to 2 in 1928 and 1929, still rankle in the minds of N. Y. U., since they were produced against the great Violet teams that included Ken Strong and Al Lassman.

This year Coach Tommy Mills, justly rated by Knute Rockne as one of the brainiest football coaches in the business, hopes to confound the New Yorkers by never letting them know what Georgetown is to do next. He plans to spread out his team all over the lot—in the G. W. fashion—to pass, shift, kick, throw laterals and anything that will open up the massed humanity of that impregnable Violet line and keep the huge N. Y. U. secondaries well back behind the line of scrimmage.

Otherwise there is little or no plan in sight, besides the job of arousing

Swarthmore, Penn Terminate Football Rivalry of 54 Years

SWARTHMORE, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Dr. Frank Aydelotte, president of Swarthmore College, announced today that Swarthmore and the University of Pennsylvania have decided "with the utmost friendliness" to terminate their 54-year rivalry on the gridiron and one of the oldest in the country.

Pennsylvania won Saturday's game, 54 to 0, and in 35 meetings Swarthmore won only four times and tied once.

Dr. Aydelotte said "both institutions realize that modern football has developed into a game which no longer can be played on anything approaching equal terms between institutions large and small." He added:

"In accordance with this policy, Swarthmore will no longer play football against such teams as Pennsylvania, Princeton, Columbia, the Army and other large universities in our neighborhood, but will restrict our schedule to institutions of something like our own size and class.

"Games with large universities will be replaced by such colleges as Amherst, Hamilton and Union, which, I am happy to say, will appear on our schedule within the next three years."

REHOBOTH, PAYING $23.30, WINS FEATURE RACE AT LAUREL

Adams' Colt Scores by Length

Chu Chu Also Upsets Dope by Finishing in Second Hole.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

REHOBOTH, J. Fred Adams' son of Sun Briar, has been trying for a long time to win a race in Maryland. Always a long-shot in good fields and always close up, this 3-year-old has had an assortment of riders. Yesterday "Long-shot" Danny Meade put on his goggles and piloted Rehoboth home at a $23.30 mutuel. It was not in a distance race, which was supposed to be Rehoboth's forte, but in a 6-furlong sprint—the feature of Laurel's Columbus Day program—that the colt won.

It was Meade's fifth victory of the Maryland fall season. He has ridden All Rowes and Hot Cake, at better than $100 mutuels; Bright Bird, at 19 to 1, and Modern Times, at 11 to 1.

Second in the feature was Chu Chu, from the West, with Curacao third. The last-named was the favorite and failed, as had every choice in a flat race since Hygro won last Monday. In fact, it was not until Ming Sun stepped down in the sixth race that the beaten-favorite spell was broken.

Rehoboth Comes Up Fast On Outside.

Pancho Lopez and Curacao broke in front as the field left the barrier, with Rehoboth close up. They ran in this order until the turn into the stretch, where Meade brought his mount up on the outside to win by a length going away. In the meanwhile, Pancho Lopez stopped to a walk and Chu Chu moved up to make what little battle there was in the last sixteenth.

Wise Anne, game daughter of Wise Counsellor, accounted for the Isabella—a 6-furlong sprint for 2-year-old fillies and the secondary feature. The favored Whitney entry of Disdainful and Volette took the place and show. It was a battle all the way between Wise Anne and Disdainful, with the first named drawing away in the stretch run.

Buddy Hanford continued his sensational riding in the first race, scoring with Lone Hand, a son of Singlefoot. Beaten a neck was Von Sion, which paid $108.80 for the place. Sky Haven took the third money, four lengths behind the leaders. Lone Hand broke well back in the field, but Hanford found racing room on the outside and came around the field to nip Von Sion in the final strides. Von Sion was 137-1 to win.

Barometer, Choice, Proves Class in Chase.

Barometer, even-money favorite, won The Meadows Steeplechase handicap, in one of the prettiest jumping races ever staged in Maryand. Second money went to John R. Macomber's Redbridge with Daniel Soot third. Silverskin led the field until the last two jumps, when Barometer and Redbridge, which had been running head and head, moved up. Daniel Soot also came with a rush and the four went over the last jump as a team. Rigan McKimmey, who rode Redbridge, made a game effort after being forced to shift to the inside, but Barometer pulled away on the flat to win by a length and a half. Redbridge saved the place by a nose.

General Court came from far back to take the third race in a driving finish with General Lejeune and Meeting Place. Johnny Gilbert rode the winner, which was far back in the field on the trip up the back stretch. Meeting Place and General Lejeune were in front. Gilbert brought his mount to the outside and cut down the leaders in the stretch run.

Ming Sun, the favorite, won the sixth from Lucky Racket and Southstour. Fervid came to life to take the final at 6½ to 1.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: LAUREL RACE TRACK.

Held to two winners yesterday, friend, but I certainly deserve being credited with an assist on Rehoboth. Put this one second and warned you that he might surprise. That's what I call going pretty far for a slap on the back, eh? They're waking them up here regularly, Al, so I'm going to try to wake up a couple today myself. Get out and get yourself some coal money. BILL.

FIRST RACE—Providing that turn at jumping in New York did not take a lot out of him, CREE should have no trouble winning in this field. Showed smart speed at Arlington. ZONE has been knocking at the door. KLIP DRIFT for the show.

SECOND RACE—FAYLIN appears outclassed and all of that, but I'm giving this filly a chance. Did some fine work around Maryland in the past and seems to be improving. Take her across the board. HOME WORK is the cold dope. BROWN PET for the show.

THIRD RACE—NOSE IN, under Bejshak's handling, has a good chance here. Might favor the improved track. WAR STRIPES turned in a fine effort the last time. POMPOLEON for the show.

FOURTH RACE—FILTER bowed to TINEMA up at the Graw, but the son of Sweep was forced to take the rail route, in the slowest going, the entire trip. Look for a reversal of the order tomorrow. FINGAL may improve off that last.

FIFTH RACE—PROTRACTOR apparently disliked the going the last time, and it may be a different story today. ROYAL RUFFIAN has been rested and his class makes him dangerous. SUN DOT for the show.

SIXTH RACE—BOSCOBEL shared honors with Jockey Buddy Hanford in that battle with MONEL. If he rides again the result may be the same. A shift in riders would change it. GRAND ACRE showed some foot last time. Starred on the half-milers and may be coming up to a dangerous effort.

SEVENTH RACE—It has been a long time since SUNVIR has won a race and a long time since he has had as good a spot. Drops down to what looks like the place for a purse. TUFFY G. and SKIRT to take care of the place and show.

Jimmy De Forest Expires; Notable as Boxing Figure

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Jimmy de Forest, in his day one of the best of boxing managers and trainers, died yesterday at his home here after a long illness, broken in spirit, purse and health.

Too proud to ask his old friends for help, De Forest was almost forgotten in the last months of his life, and even the fact that he was ill was not known to many of the men he managed and trained, and knew in his salad days.

From 1880 to 1926, when he practically retired from the boxing game, he was connected with practically every great champion of the ring—Jeffries, Johnson, Walcott, Dempsey—and to all of them he rendered valuable service.

Just how old De Forest was no one knew, not even himself. His first memory was of the circus, where, at the age of 5, he was performing with the De Forest aerial troupe. His parents had him billed as Mlle. Petite de Forest, and dressed him as a girl with his hair in long curls.

At 12 he rebelled and ran away when the troupe was playing in London. He got his first boyish haircut and stowed away on a ship for the United States. After tending for a while to a cageful of monkeys in a circus, he drifted into the Bowery fight clubs.

He soon found out he was not destined to become a fighter—his biggest purse, he remembered, being only $15. He became a trainer and manager.

Pete McCoy was the first fighter he ever seconded, and it was through him he met John L. Sullivan, then starting out on the trail which led him to capture the heavyweight championship of the world.

Hearing of the fine exercises used by European armies, De Forest went back to the continent in the early eighties and toured various army camps, learning training and massage methods.

Returning to the United States, he soon gained a reputation as a second and trainer. He handled Tommy Ryan for years, Kid McCoy and other greats of the ring, and was in Dempsey's corner at Toledo, when the man mauler whipped Jess Willard for the heavyweight title. He later managed Luis Firpo, the giant South American, but was let out by the South American before the Dempsey fight.

He acted as matchmaker for the Polo Grounds A. C. in 1925 and 1926, and promoted the bout in which Gene Tunney defeated Tommy Gibbons and won the right to challenge Dempsey for the title. He never made much money out of his promoting, however, and soon returned to his correspondence school of boxing and to running a health camp.

Funeral services will be held Thursday from his home in Long Branch and burial will be Friday in Woodbine Cemetery. He is survived by one son, James Roy De Forest, jr., and a daughter, Virginia.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LONE HAND, 13.20, $7.30, $8.10; VON SION, $108.80, $39.50; SKY HAVEN, $9.40.

LONE HAND, outrun early, worked his way up stoutly on the outside, came determindly when reaching contention and wore VON SION down in the final sixteenth mile. VON SION withstood early contention from SKY HAVEN, saved ground all the way, but was unable to stall off the winner after moving clear. SKY HAVEN, strongly ridden the entire trip, weakened during the closing stages. PURE FACT, slow to get into stride, circled his field and made up ground rapidly in the final three furlongs. AXENTEA tired when the real issue came. MARVAN could not threaten the leaders. WISE KID had a lot taken out of him after the start to reach a forward position, and he quit.

SECOND RACE—About 2 miles. Purse, $1,500; the Meadows Steeplechase Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:17. Off at 2:19. Winner, E. R. Bradley's b. s. (4), by Traumer—Hither. Trained by R. H. Crawford. Value to winner, $1,050; second, $300; third, $150. Time, 3:56 4-5 (14 jumps).

MARYLAND U. LINE-UP IS DOUBTFUL

Byrd Undecided as to Starters Saturday at Duke.

WHILE Maryland's opening line-up for its game with Duke Saturday in Durham is still a matter of conjecture, there seems to be little doubt that the combination Coach Curley Byrd will choose will possess more power and rhythm than the Old Line unit that met V. P. I. last week was able to command.

All of Maryland's casualties, including Rufus Vincent, end; Tom Webb, center, and Earl Widmyer, Al Woods and Paul Kiernan, backs, were among those present yesterday in a long practice session at College Park.

Even if Tommy Webb, Maryland's best center in a decade, is not able to play the full game against the Blue Devils, the middle position of the line will be well taken care of if Bucky Buscher continues to improve. Buscher, former Western High athlete, started out at Maryland as a full back, never quite made the first team, and this year has been shifted to center, where he is developing rapidly.

Old Liners Leave Tomorrow.

Maryland squad leaves tomorrow evening on a special train with sleepers and diner attached. They will stop overnight halfway en route and continue on Saturday morning, arriving several hours before the game.

Maryland possesses plenty of heft in its probable starting line-up. Willis Benner, left end, weighs 170; Al Farrell, left tackle, 204; John Simpson, left guard, 180; Tommy Webb, center, 185; John McDonald, right guard, 198; Ted Keenan, right tackle, 190; Bill Wood, right end, 160; Ray Poppelman, quarter back, 172; Dick Nelson, left half, 170; Earl Widmyer, right half, 158, and Al Woods, full back, 162.

Walter Shomo Heads Departmental Loop

Walter Shomo, manager of the Government Printing Office team, was elected president of the Departmental Baseball League at its annual meeting last night at the Government Printing Office. Heinie Webb was named vice president and treasurer, and J. Earl Moser, secretary.

Officials amended the league constitution so that members of the board of managers could be elected as officers. A vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring officers—Vic Gauzza, president, and Edward J. Conover, secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Baker Receives Trophy From Hoover

Mrs. Delphine Dodge Cromwell Baker was presented with the President's Cup yesterday at the White House by President Hoover, whose predecessor, Calvin Coolidge, placed the huge gold cup in competition in 1924 for motorboat racing.

Mrs. Baker, who won the cup in 1927 by driving her own entry, did not compete in this year's races, but Delphine IV, the winning boat, was entered in her name by her brother, Horace Dodge. Bill Horn, of Newport News, Va., drove Delphine IV to an unchallenged victory last September when the remaining two entries, El Lagarto and Delphine V broke down.

Mercury-Gunners In League Feature

Warm games are promised Sunday as the Independent Football League resumes activity. Heading the parade will be the battle in the unlimited division between the Mercury A. C. and Seaman Gunners at 3 o'clock at Gonzaga Field.

The list of games in the three classes, with officials, follow:

UNLIMITED—Mercury A. C. vs. Seaman Gunners, Gonzaga Field, 3 o'clock; officials, O. Mitchell and Wilson.

150 POUNDS—Brookland vs. Meridians, Brookland Field, 2 p. m.; officials, Sweeney and Stevens. Blue Coats vs. Stantons, Gonzaga Field, 1 p. m.; officials, O. Mitchell and Wilson.

135 POUNDS—St. Stephen's vs. Northeast Trojans, Mount Pleasant Field, 1 p. m.; officials, McDonald and Worksman. Apache Prep vs. Mercury Prep, Brookland Field, 1 p. m.; officials, Sweeney and Stevens.

GEORGETOWN PLANS "OPEN" OFFENSIVE

the slightly indifferent Hoyas into the fighting fury which, while it is no great boon to civilization, is still looked upon with favor by our best institutions of learning.

N. Y. U. has three bruisers in the back field who have served three years. They are Jim Tanguay, 210-pound full back; Bob McNamara, 200-pound left half back, and Joe LaMark, 180-pound quarter back with one of the most accurate forward passing arms in the business. The Violet this year are termed a huge and unimaginative crop, with unlimited reserves. There is no spark of outstanding genius on the team, it is said, but they possess so much bulk and so many years of football experience that they loom mighty on the horizon.

ST. ALOYSIUS PREPS WIN.

St. Aloysius Preps defeated Gonzago Freshmen, 12 to 6, in the last minute of play yesterday, an aerial attack being effective in the victory. Dennihan and Ellwood starred for the winners, Ahern and Brew for the losers.

ARLINGTON VS. BRENTWOOD.

The Arlington Athletic Club meets Brentwood Sunday in one of these sandlot football games at the Arlington Diamond. The Arlingtons have a capable squad this year in Sullivan, Moxley, Nelson, the Jennings brothers, Joseph, Goldsmith, Goldblatt, Dixon and Augustine.

TERRY'S WANTS GAME.

Terry's Athletic Club, formerly Palace Athletic Club, champions of the 1931 Capital City League, sponsored by The Washington Post, is anxious to play some strong unlimited football team Sunday. Manager Dwight Terry may be reached at 700 Seventh street southwest or National 2736.

GRIFFITHS PRACTICE.

Griffith Blue Coats are asked to attend a practice tonight at 7 o'clock at Eleventh and Virginia avenue southeast.

CENTENNIALS DRILL.

Centennials, preparing for the game with Alexandria Fraters Sunday at Alexandria, will practice tonight at North Capitol street and New York avenue at 7:15 o'clock.

Hitting the Headpin

LORRAINE GULLI, ranking No. 1 woman's bowler, rolling under the banner of King Pin, last night broke the individual high set record for the season in the Ladies District League at Lucky Strike Alleys with a smashing three-game total of 396. She bittered Rena Levy's former mark by five pins. King Pin swept all three games with M-S Team.

Columbia suffered a two-game setback at the hands of Petworth in one of the major surprises of the league. Sarah Updike, with 327, led Bill Woods' Team to victory over Recreation in two out of three. Mercedes Eisemann, of the losers, won high set honors with 388. Meyer Davis lost two to Lucky Strike on the same alleys.

Arcade bagged two out of three from Georgetown in the Ladies District League at Arcadia Alleys. Pauline Ford, Arcade, with 127, won high individual game; Mrs. Malcolmn, of Georgetown, high set with 340, while the Arcade quintet took high team game with 539 and high set with 1,521.

Convention Hall, meanwhile, went down before Rendezvous in two games after winning the first by 25 pins. Mrs. Minson, Convention Hall, took high set honors with 338, with Catherine Fortney shooting a 132 for high game.

Paced by Capt. Joe Pricci, who reeled off a high game of 153 and high set of 338, Occidental Restaurant walloped Georgetown Recreation in three straight at Lucky Strike. Petworth licked Columbia in a trio, with Tony Defino shooting a 373 high set.

In the National Capital League at Lucky Strike, King's Palace grabbed two from Farnam's, Billy Mayo being high with 355.

Henz, of Hibbs & Co., shot 146 and 376, to take honors in the Bankers League at Arcadia. American Security No. 1 posted 634 for high team game and 1,692 for high team set.

Robb, of Optimist, toppled the maples in the Civics Club League for 123, and a three-game total of 335 to set the pace at Arcadia last night.

The Veterans Bureau Ladies' League saw Miss Book Miller as pace setter, with 115 and 288. Claims led with high team game, 443, and high team set, 1,248.

Kennedy, of the Tornadoes, registered a 131 and 366, to lead her team to victory. Labkatz had high team game with 552 and high team set with 1,540.

Buzzuro Engineering Co. of the North Washington Bowling League had a high game of 612 and high set of 1,709 last night to beat Swanns Service. Hart shot a 143 for individual high game and D. Hall 367 for high set.

Central and Western Open Series Tomorrow

The high school football series, which annually attracts nearly 40,000 fans to Central High's spacious stadium, opens with an outstanding attraction tomorrow afternoon when Western and Central clash at 3:30 o'clock.

Rated absolutely even, it is likely that the winner will be the team which can seize the breaks of the game and capitalize upon them; Western has a splendid passing attack and reliable backfield runners, but Central is believed to have the abler line and two outstanding football players in Kocisa and Gibbins.

The appearance of Jackie Lynham, shiftiest ball carrier in the high schools, in the Western backfield remains in doubt. Lynham is ailing of a bad leg.

The game should be a fitting prelude to the following Tuesday's struggle between Tech and Eastern—a game which should peremptorily decide the winner of the series.

S. Methodist Eleven Ordered Back to Air

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The celebrated Southern Methodist University "aerial circus" of former football seasons is coming back to the gridiron.

Previous to entraining today for Syracuse, N. Y., where his Mustangs play Syracuse University Saturday, Coach Ray Morrison announced that hereafter he would leave power plays and all ground football formations to his rivals.

The Mustangs rode on a crest of fame for several years by virtue of their "aerial circus." Last season and so far this season, Morrison switched his tactics and labored to install power plays with a slight mixture of forward passes. The switch was not successful. The last touchdown scored by Southern Methodist University was November 21, 1931, against the Naval Academy. They haven't scored a touchdown in their last five games.

Morrison blames it all on land tactics and the lack of a brilliant passing offense.

TEXAS BETTING BANNED.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 12 (A.P.).—The court of criminal appeals held today that the optional system of wagering on horse races violated the Texas law against betting.

The court affirmed the conviction of P. L. Coulter, fined in Tarrant County for betting at Arlington Downs race track, between Dallas and Fort Worth.

TOWER VIEW BIRDS WIN.

Tower View Loft took first and second diplomas in the seventh National Concourse Association pigeon race for young birds, from Pulaski, Va. Following is the speed flown in yards per minute, of the first ten finishers: Tower View Loft, 1,309.17; Tower View Loft, 1,306.67; Buddington Loft, 1,303.47; Woodside Loft, 1,303.40; Stunts, 1,302.60; Eagle Loft, 1,301.32; Eagle Loft, 1,300.47; Buddington Loft, 1,298.07; Buddington Loft, 1,297.30; Voith, 1,296.35.

SWAN ELEVEN WINS.

Swan A. C. turned back the Eagles yesterday, 20 to 12, at the Terminal Field. Nesline and Trainor featured.

MERCURY TO PRACTICE.

The Mercury eleven will scrimmage tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Seventh and B streets southwest.

WANTS GRID ACTION.

Anacostia Eagles Prep, 125-pound eleven wants a football game this Sunday. Call Manager Severn at Atlantic 0823.

SUNDAY GAME OFF.

The Triple Tau Fraternity team will be unable to play its scheduled Sunday game with Virginia A. C., it is announced. The Virginians are asked to call Emerson 6496.

McKEEVER HEADS DODGERS.

New York, Oct. 12 (A.P.).—Frank B. York has resigned as president of the Brooklyn National League Baseball Club and has been succeeded by Stephen W. McKeever, for many years the club treasurer, it was announced today.

8 Assistant Pros From D.C. Compete

Enter 36-Hole Tourney to Be Played Tomorrow at Baltimore.

Eight District golfers are included in the field of sixteen assistant professionals who have definitely decided to enter the annual Middle Atlantic assistant pros and caddy masters tournament scheduled at the Suburban Club, Baltimore, Friday. Thirty-six holes will be played, with post entries expected to swell the list considerably.

Frank Cunningham, of Burning Tree, is the defending champion. In a practice round yesterday Frank shot the course in 75. His sensational young brother, Gilbert, who has played in the sixties during the summer over his home pasture, carded a 72. One of the best practice scores reported was the even par 70, shot by Gene Larkin, assistant from Chevy Chase. Johnny Bass and Lawrence Wisner, assistants at Woodholme, registered 73's, while Ross Beimschla, of Suburban, went around in 74.

Other Washington golfers entered are George Loose, of Indian Spring; Eddie Stevens, of Manor; Bill Hardy, of Chevy Chase, and Archie Clark and Claggett Stevens, of Congressional.

Pairings and starting times follow: 9:15, Harry Mesimer (unattached), Gene Larkin (Chevy Chase) and John Bass (Woodholme); 9:20, George Loose (Indian Spring), John O'Donnell (Green Spring Valley); Eddie Stevens (Manor); 9:25, Frank Cunningham (Burning Tree), Joe Erskine (Hillendale), Ross Beimschla (Suburban); 9:30, Bill Hardy (Chevy Chase), Lawrence Wisner (Suburban), Irvin Schloss (Rodgers Forge); 9:35, Edward Knapp (Hillendale), Gilbert Cunningham (Burning Tree), Claggett Stevens (Congressional).

MERCHANT BOXER BOWS.

John Daley, captain of the Southwest Merchants boxing team, last night lost a close decision to Guy Shub, of Suitland, Md., in an exhibition between the two clubs at the latter's ring. Glenn Bell and Mike Garner, of Southwest Merchants, fought to a draw in an exhibition.

The Merchants are open for matches. Call Manager Albert McConley at District 4437.

SOCCER REFEREES MEET.

An important meeting of the District of Columbia Southeast Soccer Referees Association will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in room 313 of the District Building. Among those asked to be present are H. Cruse, president; Jack Caldwell, vice president; Gemaliel Carleton, secretary; George Youngblood and Harold Bennett.

POLICE COURT JURY FINDS TWO GUILTY IN BREVITIES SALE

Requires Only 10 Minutes to Return Verdict; Trial Takes Full Day.

After a lengthy and acrimonious trial that took up an entire court day in Police Court, Joseph Ottenstein and George Winter, distributors of Washington Brevities, were found guilty yesterday by a Police Court jury of a charge of offering for sale a publication that was indecent.

On motion of Assistant United States Attorney Michael F. Keogh, who prosecuted the case, the men will be sentenced next week. Both are at liberty on bond.

The publication pronounced indecent by the jury was dated August 27 last. Two stories in the tabloid attracted the ire of Mr. Keogh, who told the jurors that the paper "was breaking down the moral fiber of the youths of the District of Columbia. It is filling the pockets of its backers and it is breaking up the homes of Washingtonians."

Termed Ignorant of Contents.

On behalf of the two men, John H. Burnett and Charles Walker, attorneys, contended that neither knew of the contents of the paper when they sent them out in their regular magazine distributions.

Judge Hitt ruled that knowledge of the contents of the magazines was not vital and that mere possession was sufficient under section 872 of the code, which was the basis of the prosecution.

Is Called Scandalous.

In his argument to the jury, Mr. Keogh charged that the publication was "scandalous." There were twelve men on the jury, which required only 10 minutes to return a verdict of guilty.

Attorneys for the pair indicated they would file motions for new trials.

G. U. Law School to Give Fete for Visiting Alumni

The Georgetown Law School will give a luncheon tomorrow in the Cosmos Club to enable local alumni of the school to meet prominent out-of-town alumni who are here attending sessions of the American Bar Association. The guests will be welcomed on behalf of the school by Dean George E. Hamilton and the Rev. Francis E. Lacey, the regent.

Among some of the prominent visiting alumni are Associate Justice James B. Keatch, of the Supreme Court of Oklahoma, a graduate of 1890, who is a member of the executive committee of the American Bar Association, and W. T. Doar, class of 1906, president of the Wisconsin State Bar Association. Frank J. Hogan, president of the District of Columbia Bar Association, a graduate of 1902, also will be a speaker.

FIREBOAT SAVES CRUISER FROM CHANNEL

A blaze is not the only reason for calling out the Firefighter. Yesterday when the Kathaleen II, large cabin cruiser of Stokes W. Sammons, down town merchant, sank in 8 feet of water at her moorings in Washington Channel, the Fire Department's boat was mustered into service. The two boats are shown after the Kathaleen had been pumped out and was afloat again.

U. S. WORKERS OPEN FIGHT ON NEW CUTS

Plan Is Launched to Educate Nation to Work Done by Federal Units.

Anticipating further attacks on the Federal wage scale at the short session of Congress, the National Federation of Federal Employes last night launched a plan to educate the country at large to the duties performed by Government workers.

Projected to collect and disseminate "accurate and unprejudiced facts relative to the service rendered by the Federal Government and the relative costs of Federal, municipal and county governments," the move seeks to counteract the "clamor of certain interests seeking an $800,000,000 slash in the Federal budget."

Preliminary plans were advanced at a meeting of the committee of fifty of the organization. This committee is composed of professional and scientific workers in the Federal service.

Presided over by Dr. A. F. Woods, of the Department of Agriculture, the committee began a "thorough-going educational campaign to correct the countless inaccuracies, misstatements and deliberate falsehoods which have been given currency by individuals and groups whose motives are wholly selfish.

"The air is ringing with such familiar phrases as 'overlapping functions' and 'widespread consolidation of commissions and bureaus.'" Luther C. Steward, president of the federation, told the committee.

"The public should know," he said, "that ruthless and unscientific tampering with the Federal machine does not help but hinders the twin causes of efficiency and economy."

Personnel of the various standing and special committees of the District of Columbia Federation of Federal Employes Unions of the National Federation was the subject of discussion last night at executive council of the District of Columbia meeting.

Selection for the committee posts of workers who have already had experience in the various activities comprising the functions of these committees was recommended.

Medical Society Holds Bicentennial Meeting

The medical knowledge of George Washington and his final illness was discussed at a Bicentennial meeting of the Washington Medical Society at its club rooms, 1718 M street northwest, yesterday afternoon.

Dr. W. F. Blanton, of Richmond, spoke on "The Medical Knowledge of Washington;" Dr. John B. Nichols, on "The Medical Appraisal of George Washington," and Dr. Walter A. Wells, on "The Final Illness of Washington." The meeting was also addressed by Dr. L. H. Reichelderfer, District Commissioner.

Sewerage Conditions Hit by Citizens' Group

The Commissioners and the Engineering Department of the District were censured by the Columbia Park Citizens' Association last night for failure to remedy sewerage conditions existing in the vicinity of Fifth and Ingraham streets northwest.

It was pointed out at the meeting which was held at the George Truesdell Hall, Ninth and Ingraham streets, that the Columbia Park Association, the Federation of Citizens' Association and the newspapers have repeatedly complained concerning the conditions.

Final Harvest Pageant At Monument Tonight

The final presentation of the harvest pageant spectacle, "The Vision of George Washington," will be given at 8 o'clock tonight at Sylvan Theater, on the Monument Grounds.

Outstanding among the many features of the performance is the religious ceremonial dance of the North American Indians, as contributed by the Salvation Army Scouts, under direction of Capt. Wilbur Young. The pageant is presented under auspices of the Detrict of Columbia Bicentennial Commission.

Professor at G. U. Collapses in Class

Boyd, Law School Teacher, Is in Serious Condition; Overwork Blamed.

Prof. Howard Boyd, 63, a teacher in the Georgetown University School of Law, was stricken while lecturing before his class at 7 p. m. yesterday. He was taken to the Georgetown University Hospital, where it was reported his condition was serious. Dr. W. J. Stanton, of the hospital, stated that overwork caused the professor's collapse.

Prof. Boyd was graduated from Georgetown University where he has been a professor in the law school for 22 years. A native of Washington County, Md., he came to Washington about 50 years ago.

His wife, two sons and three daughters were at the hospital last night. One of the professor's sons is a student in the law school in which he teaches. Their home is at 3707 Eighteenth street northwest.

Citizens Unit Backs Change In School Site

The Foxhall Village Citizens Association last night authorized its president to inform the District Commissioners that the association favored changing the location of the proposed Foxhall Village School from the selected site on Foxhall road to a site on the Reservoir road, provided such a change would not delay appreciably the construction of the building or impair the appropriation to the extent that it would lapse.

William W. Wheeler, 4457 Q street northwest, was elected president of the association; Col. Irvin L. Hunt, 4402 Q street northwest, first vice president; John Monteith, 1563 Twenty-fourth street northwest, second vice president; Henry J. Smith, 4457 Q street northwest, secretary, and Lieut. Louis A. Puckett, 1535 Foxhall road, treasurer.

DROPPED WORKERS TO GET PRECEDENCE

Those Released Under Saving Law to Have Prior Status on U. S. Jobs.

Regulations giving prior status to Federal employes furloughed or dropped for reduction of force, were drawn up yesterday by the Civil Service Commission and broadcast through the departments.

Carrying out an executive order issued by the President a month ago, the regulations announce that "persons whose names are on the reemployment list will be given priority in filling vacancies in positions for which they are qualified."

There will be no priority, however, among eligibles on the reemployment list, it was made clear.

The list will be made up of persons with a permanent classified status, and unskilled laborers with a permanent status under labor regulations, who are unqualifiedly recommended for further Federal employment. Names must be of those who are to be or have been furloughed for three months or more, or within three months are to be dropped for reduction of force, or within one year have been dropped for reducton of force.

"The reemployment list," read the announcement made by Secretary E. Claude Babcock, "shall take precedence over registers established from open competitive examinations and over individual reinstatements except as hereinafter provided, and shall be used to fill classified and unclassified positions, both permanent and temporary, except substitute positions in the Postal Service."

TRADE BOARD HEARS HOME BANK SYSTEM DESCRIBED BY FORT

Chairman Says Foreclosure Fear Should Be Ended in Nation Soon.

The specter of foreclosure will no longer haunt the fireside of the American home owner after November 1 if the loan institutions of the country do their duty and cooperate with the Federal Home Loan Bank System, Franklin W. Fort, chairman of this new link in the reconstruction program, told the Washington Board of Trade at the Willard last night.

Mr. Fort revealed that the twelve regional banks of the system will all have been established by next Saturday. These banks, he explained, will be ready to furnish money to loan institutions at a low rate of interest and with guaranteed protection from the Government with the result, it is hoped, that mortgages will be liberalized and funds made available for new construction.

Workings Described.

Mr. Fort pointed out that the relief phase of the system is directed mainly at the young married man, unable to establish a home out of his own savings, who is in need of a liberal mortgage. In making possible the establishment of homes, and the protection of homes already established the system will act as a safeguard against socialism "because either the people must own the land or the Government will," Mr. Fort said.

In vigorous and comprehensive style, Mr. Fort described the intricate workings of the system which was established last August.

Other Speakers.

The more than 1,500 Board of Trade members also heard talks from William A Van Duzer, director of traffic, on the need for more care in driving to lessen accidents; Newbold Noyes, general chairman of the Community Chest, on the approaching campaign of the Chest; Earl F. Gates, publicity director of the American Red Cross, on the coming drive of the organization, and from L. C. Walker, president of the Shaw-Walker Corporation, on the share-the-work program.

Entertainment was given by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. Glee Club. Ben T. Webster, president of the Board of Trade, presided.

Caution Against Fire Urged by Col. Grant

Open spaces and wide streets in Washington were the principal means of beautification in L'Enfant's plan of the city, Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of Public Buildings and Public Parks, said yesterday, but in present-day surroundings the same must apply toward reduction of fire hazards.

Speaking as a feature of fire prevention week, Col. Grant said:

"If we plan to make the National Capital a place of beauty, it is absolutely essential that our plans insure homes and public buildings which are comfortable and safe, and this necessarily presupposes that the maximum public safety from fire will be assured."

Church to Honor Departing Pastor

Reception to Dr. Woolfall Set by Congregation at St. Mark's.

A farewell reception to the Rev. Hulbert Woolfall, pastor of St. Mark's Church at Third and A streets southeast, will be tendered by members of the congregation tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Parish House. Dr. Woolfall has been transferred to an important parish in St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. David Meade Lea is chairman of the committee on arrangements for the reception, and her husband, Mr. Lea, will deliver an address. He is senior warden of the church.

At the 11 o'clock service on Sunday, Dr. Woolfall will preach his farewell sermon. Later in the week he will leave for his new post. Dr. Woolfall has been pastor at St. Mark's since October, 1928.

Inspector O. T. Davis' Grandson Hit by Auto

Donald Williams, of 3800 Fourteenth street northwest, 6-year-old grandson of Inspector O. T. Davis, Metropolitan Police Department, was struck by an automobile and slightly injured at Fourteenth street and Spring road yesterday.

The automobile was driven by Chares L. Calhoun, of 2844 Middle avenue northeast, who took the boy to Garfield Hospital where he was treated for abrasions and bruises.

Henry Marcus, of 811 Decatur street northwest, was reported missing last night by his wife, who stated he left his home at 7 a. m. yesterday to look for work and had not been seen since. She said he had been out of work for some time.

She told police her husband is 45 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighs about 185 pounds, has brown eyes, brown hair streaked with gray, and two gold teeth.

Free Trip to New York To Be Y.M.C.A. Prize

Winners of the recently launched campaign for new members of the Y. M. C. A. will be awarded a free round-trip airplane excursion to New York City, it was announced yesterday.

More than 200 members of the association, formed into teams, are competing for the prize. Aerial sightseeing trips over the city will be given for second and third prizes.

2 Absolved In Beauty's 3-Story Fall

Mrs. Madeline Keller, of 1734 Eighteenth street northwest, and Warren L. Hogan, of the Arlington Hotel, who were being held in connection with the plunge of Mrs. Bobby Burns, 20-year-old beauty contest winner, from a fourth-story window of the Arlington Hotel early yesterday, were released last night when Mrs. Burns absolved them from any responsibility for her jump.

She said she leaped from the window, but gave no reason for her act.

The two held in connection with the case were with her Tuesday night at what police described as a "drinking party." Her jump was made from a bathroom window in a suite occupied by Hogan.

Discovered on the roof of the hotel's one-story ballroom, the woman was taken to Emergency Hospital, where she was at first thought to be suffering from a severe spine injury. Later diagnosis disclosed, however, that her injuries were not so serious as first believed. She was treated for a double fracture of the right leg. Her statement, in which she assumed full responsibility for her act, was made at the hospital.

Chief of Botanic Gardens Gets Many Ideas in Europe

Harris & Ewing.

George W. Hess, director of the United States Botanic Garden, and Mrs. Hess and their two sons, Gordon and Joseph, who have just returned from a trip to Europe.

G. W. Hess Is Impressed With Horticulture Abroad.

A man who knows a good garden when he sees one—George W. Hess, director of the United States Botanic Gardens—believes that Americans can learn a great deal from the horticulturists of Europe.

Mr. Hess, who has just returned from a month's visit to Germany and France with his wife and two sons, is convinced that the botanic gardens of these countries are far ahead of those in the United States. He attributes this superiority to the fact that the foreign gardens have been under development for many more years.

There is no reason, however, in Mr. Hess' opinion, why the gardens of America can not be made the finest in the world. An encouraging sign in this direction, he observes, is the increasing interest being taken by Americans in gardens. He points out that we are beginning to appreciate gardens and park developments for their educational benefits as well as recreational.

While abroad Mr. Hess was constantly on the lookout for new ideas, with the result that he has gleaned many schemes which he hopes to introduce in the future development of the botanic gardens here.

The director returned to find his new residence about completed and the new $600,000 conservatory well under way. Mr. Hess has been director of the United States Botanic Gardens for twenty years.

DEPRESSION HEALTH MENACE STRESSED

Dr. White Cites Strain of Poverty at Meeting of Chest Group.

"The terrific strain of poverty takes a heavy toll of mental and physical strength," Dr. William A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeths Hospital, said yesterday at the meeting of the Community Chest Speaker's Institute at the Willard Hotel. He was describing how the present situation confronting Washington is affecting the health of a large portion of its population.

"We must maintain and support our health agencies," he said, "or we mortgage the health of the next generation." In discussing the mental hygiene problem, Dr. White cited the case of mental hospitals whose burdens are doubled because of the impossibility of releasing convalescent patients upon families who are unable to care for them. He pointed out that the gradual disintegration of the family through ill health and unemployment was a serious menace faced by the country.

Hospital Work Stressed.

The Rev. Calvert E. Buck, superintendent of the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, told of the hospital's place in the community program. "During these turbulent times," he said, "demands for free work are constantly increasing. People are being forced to come to clinics who yesterday were able to patronize the pay sections of our hospitals."

Statistics showing that 10 per cent of the people are always sick and that of this number a tenth is treated at a hospital were presented by Miss Gertrude H. Bowling, director of the Instructive Visiting Nurses Society. Informal discussion under the leadership of Mrs. John Jay O'Connor, chairman of the speaker's unit, followed.

Work Fund Depleted.

Proving predictions made early in September, the $350,000 District employment fund threatens to be exhausted by the time Congress convenes in December, if not before, municipal welfare officials said yesterday in revealing plans to submit a detailed report to the Commissioners late today or tomorrow.

Only about $142,000 remains of the $350,000 fund, and expenditures, even when cut to the bone, have run over $15,000 a week for the past several weeks.

While the board of welfare is not expected to make any recommendation as to how much should be asked for immediate relief when Congress meets, other welfare agencies are understood to be planning to urge an appropriation of $1,000,000. Last year $600,000 was asked by the Commissioners and recommended by President Hoover.

Discrimination Charged By Furloughed Worker

Richmond B. Redington, an employe of the Municipal Architect's office, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to compel the District Commissioners to restore him to active duty in the stead of persons who, he claimed, had lower efficiency ratings than he did but, nevertheless, are on duty.

Redington, who lives at 1704 Q street northwest, said that he was regularly employed until May 25, when he was furloughed. Despite certification for his services, he claimed, the Commissioners have failed to recall him to duty. He alleged, through Attorney Jesse Duke, that he was the object of discrimination.

Alderman to Address Meeting of Kiwanians

The annual vocational guidance luncheon of the Washington Kiwanis Club will be held at 12:30 p. m. today at the Raleigh Hotel.

C. A. Alderman, of the Interior Department, will be the principal speaker. Dr. Abram Simon, president of the Board of Education; Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, and Assistant Superintendent Stephen E. Kramer will attend.

AIR PROGRAM LINKS SPAIN AND AMERICA ON COLUMBUS DAY

Two-Way Broadcast Feature; Gala Gatherings Held in Washington.

Celebration of Columbus Day yesterday, 440 years after Columbus sailed his tiny fleet across the Western ocean, saw the nations of the discoverer's start and landing, Spain and America, linked for the first time in a two-way radio broadcast.

The international broadcast began with a half hour's program from Spain, the Ambassador of the United States, Irwin M. Laughlin, and the minister of public education, Fernando de los Rios, speaking. A Spanish musical program followed.

In the second portion of the program, Don Juan de Cardenas, Spanish Ambassador, and Radio Commissioner Harold A. Lafount, were heard by the Spanish radio audience. There also were songs in Spanish by Tito Guizar and orchestra music.

Two Gala Gatherings.

Celebration of the day was concluded with two gala gatherings. At the Knights of Columbus Hall the five Washington councils of that body gathered for their annual Columbus Day ball. Previously, Fred J. Rice, State deputy supreme knight, had delivered a Columbus Day radio address.

Spaniards in Washington, including members of the Spanish Embassy staff, banqueted in honor of Columbus at the Madrillon restaurant.

Statue Is Decorated.

Earlier in the day the statue of Columbus at the Union Station was decorated with flowers by Ambassador Cardenas and Mr. Rice.

In Senor Cardenas' address he reminded Americans that Virginia was explored by the Spaniards long before the English. "The Spaniards explored Virginia 30 years before Sir Walter Raleigh's attempt to establish a colony there," he said. "As early as 1556 Chesapeake Bay was known as the Bay of St. Mary's to the Spanish."

Dr. Scullen Receives Emblem.

Dr. Anthony J. Scullen, of Catholic University, was given a diamond-studded emblem by the Washington General Assembly of the Fourth Degree of the Knights of Columbus at a meeting at the Mayflower Hotel last night.

The following officers were installed: Dr. George R. Ellis, faithful captain; Francis J. Hemelt, f. pilot; the Rev. T. Coleman Nevils, president of Georgetown University, f. frier; John F. Hilligard, f. comptroller; Frederick J. Diegelman, f. scribe; Thomas K. Gallagher, f. purser; Dr. Charles H. McEnerney, f. inner sentinel, and Richard B. Field, f. outer sentinel.

Free Lip Reading Classes Continued This Winter

The free lip-reading classes sponsored by the Washington League for the Hard of Hearing for the benefit of patients of the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Clinic, are being continued this winter. Three classes are held at the clinic every Thursday evening; two for white patients and one for colored.

The League for the Hard of Hearing finances the work and furnishes the teachers. Lip reading practice classes are also held at the clubrooms, 826 Connecticut avenue, Mondays at 8 p. m. The club keeps open house Thursdays from 2:30 to 10 p. m. and Friday afternoons, when tea is served.
